

1975 to 1986	135
Summary	137
Chronology	139
Norma Walmsley: A Decade for Women—At Last	147
Jane Faily: Slowly Through African Villages	153
Margaret Catley-Carlson: Four Ways to Reach Women, Four to Save Children	157
Michele Landsberg: Working Stubbornly for Women's Rights	161
Hilary and Katharine Pearson: Two Generations On from San Francisco	164
Yvon Beaulne: A Lifelong Passion for Human Rights	167
Gordon Fairweather: A World Movement—And Colour-Coded	172
Napoléon LeBlanc: A Lesson from UNESCO: Talk but Don't Push	175
Betty Zimmerman: MacBride: Many Voices but No Music	180
William Barton: Getting Tough, Briefly, on Namibia	185
Darrin Langen • Carl Day • Donald Stenger: 22 Years On—And Still in Cyprus	190
Douglas Roche: Verifying Arms Control—The Modern Peacekeeping	195
Brian Mulroney: "We Must Celebrate UN's Existence Every Day"	199
Murray Thomson: Mobilizing the World—For Peace	202
Maury Miloff: Pulling Together in Uganda	207
Maurice Strong: African Operation on the Scale of the Invasion of Normandy	211
Stephen Lewis: Lower Our Sights—And Aim at Africa	214
Charles Lankester: When "Rowdy Rebels" Move to Save the Forests	219
Yvonne Kupsch: Planting a Partnership in Africa	225
Mairuth Sarsfield: For Every Child a Tree	228
Dominick Sarsfield: Housing for the Poorest	232
Thomas M. Franck: Turning UNITAR Around	235
Nancy Yates: Livestock, High Tech and TOKTEN	240
Richard Foran: Too Many Eggs in One Basket?	244
Ginette Ast: The View from the Gallery	248
Angus Archer: A Third Window with a Fresh View	252
John Holmes: The United Nations at 40: An Upbeat Assessment	256
Bibliography	261