

Business of the House

as counsel before the provincial courts. Often this power is delegated to the law society of a province. Of course Ontario has dealt with it in the fashion in which it should be dealt with, and the same opportunity is open to all the other provinces. The only field remaining for the dominion is in its own federal courts.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: The hour for the consideration of private members business has expired.

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. McIlraith: Mr. Speaker, the first item we propose to submit for the consideration of the house on Monday will be item No. 82 on today's order paper, the second reading of the medicare bill; second, item No. 101, the resolution preceding the bill providing for the amendment to the National Housing Act; third, item No. 100, the resolution preceding the bill to provide for the encouragement of scientific research and development and, fourth, item No. 79, second reading of the C.N.R. financing bill. The last three items need not necessarily be in the order indicated, but we wish to start with the medicare bill.

At six o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to standing order.

[The following items were passed in Committee of Supply this day:]
