Dear Mr. Principal,

I have read carefully the twenty examination papers from the Matriculation of last June which you handed to me, and in my opinion the marking has been careful and accurate. There must always be a margin of error in such work and it is impossible that two examiners should assign identically the same marks: but in no case would I make a difference of more than three marks on a single paper. I append my figures for comparison with those of Dr. Thompson:
