

& this is only as God made it, when he created the world, vncultured, planted & manured by men of industry, judgmēt & experience.

The commodities which we shal reape from thence shall be great, for the Sea shall sweeten our labours with her benefites, as the Land, and the Land aswell as the Sea. The Sea shall reach vs vp her Whale, her turbot, her sturgion, cod, haddocke, small ling, makkerell, herring, mullet, pearch, Eele, crab, lobster, muskle, wilk, oyster, and infinite others. Fish is the maine Staple, from whence is to be extracted, a present commodity to produce the rest : which howsoever it may seeme meane and base, yet it is the Myne, and the Sea is the source of these silvered streames of all these vertues, which hath made the Hollanders, the miracle of industrie, & patterne of perfection for these affaires : and the benefite of fishing, is that Primum mobile, that turneth all their Spheare to this hight of plentie, strength, honour, and admiration.

The ground it will yeeld vs an admired variety ; some wee shall haue that are merchantable, which, by the serving for ordinarie necessaries of the planters & inhabitants, may yeeld a superplus sufficient, by way of traffick and ex-
