

"Man is the only animal endowed with the faculties of laughter, and why should he not, then, on all fitting occasions, carry out the happy designs of his creation? He should! he should! and not merely with the cynical grin of a dyspeptic hyena neither, but in good, round hilarious window-rattling burst; such, almost every page of Lover's Irish stories will throw him into."

NOTICES.

"This boy Handy will be the death of us. What is the police force about to allow the uttering of a publication that has already brought us to the brink of apoplexy fifty times? Grave people, undertakers, sextons, and the like, may, perhaps, read with impunity. Such may laugh over it, but let a fellow with a squeeze of natural fun in him, venture to peruse it, and we'll lay ten to one it throws him into convulsions."—Sporting Review.

"The richest, raciest, and the most frolicsome Irish story we have ever perused."—London Journal of Commerce.
