

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER XXX.

TOPIC I.—CHARACTER, MENTAL DEFECTS, BIAS, ETC., USED AS GENERAL QUALITIES TO DISCREDIT.

A. Moral Character.

- § 920. Actual Disposition, as distinguished from Reputation and other modes of evidencing Disposition.
- § 921. Relevancy and Auxiliary Policy; their different bearings.
- § 922. Kind of Character; Veracity as the fundamental Quality.
- § 923. Same: The Rule in the Various Jurisdictions.
- § 924. Same: Character as to Specific Traits (Chastity, etc.) other than Veracity.
- § 925. Same: Accused's Character as Witness and as Party, distinguished.
- § 926. Same: Use of Prior Convictions and other Instances of Misconduct.
- § 927. Time of Character: General Principle.
- § 928. Same: the Competing Rules as to Prior Character in the various Jurisdictions.

- § 929. Same: Character pro et litem motam; Effects of Hearsay Rule.
- § 930. Place of Character.

B. Insanity, Intoxication, and other Organic Incapacity.

- § 931. In general.
- § 932. Insanity.
- § 933. Intoxication.
- § 934. Disease, Age, Morphine Habit, and sundry Derangements.
- § 935. Religious Belief.
- § 936. Race.

C. Experiential Incapacity.

- § 938. General Principle.

D. Emotional Incapacity (Bias, Interest, and Corruption).

- § 940. General Principle.

CHAPTER XXXI.

TOPIC II.—EVIDENCING BIAS, INTEREST, AND CORRUPTION (BY CONDUCT AND CIRCUMSTANCES).

Introductory.

- § 943. General Principle; No Prohibition against Extrinsic Testimony.
- § 944. Cross-examination; Broadness of Scope.
- § 945. Kinds of Evidence.
- § 946. Same: Demeanor of the Witness, as evidence.

A. Bias.

- § 949. General Principle; Particular Circumstances always admissible.
- § 949. Relationship and other External Facts as Evidence.
- § 950. Expressions and Conduct as Evidence.
- § 951. Details of a Quarrel on Cross-examination.
- § 952. Explaining away the Expressions or Circumstances; Details on Re-examination.
- § 953. Preliminary Inquiry to Witness.

B. Corruption.

- § 956. General Principle.

- § 957. Willingness to Swear Falsely.
- § 958. Offer to Testify Corruptly.
- § 959. Confession that Testimony was False.
- § 960. Attempt to Suborn another Witness.
- § 961. Receipt of Money for Testimony; Payment of Witness' Expenses.
- § 962. Mere Receipt of Offer of a Bribe.
- § 963. Habitual Falsities, and Sundry Corrupt Conduct.
- § 964. Preliminary Inquiry to the Witness.

C. Interest.

- § 966. General Principle; Parties and Witnesses in a Civil Case.
- § 967. Accessories and Co-indictees in a Criminal Case.
- § 968. Accused in a Criminal Case.
- § 969. Bonds, Rewards, Detective-Employment, Insurance, etc., as affecting Interest.

CHAPTER XXXII.

TOPIC III.—EVIDENCING MORAL CHARACTER, SKILL, MEMORY, KNOWLEDGE, ETC. (BY PARTICULAR INSTANCES OF CONDUCT).

A. Moral Character, as evidenced by Particular Acts.

- § 977. General Principle.
- § 978. Same: Relevancy and Auxiliary Policy, distinguished.
- § 979. Particular Acts of Misconduct, not provable by Extrinsic Testimony from Other Witnesses.
- § 980. Record of Judgment of Conviction for Crime.
- § 981. Cross-examination not forbidden; General Principle.

- § 982. Same: Relevancy of Acts asked for on Cross-examination; Kinds of Misconduct; Arrest and Indictment.
- § 983. Same: Relevant Questions excluded on grounds of Policy; Three Types of Rule; Cross-examination of an Accused.
- § 984. Privilege against Answers Involving Disgrace or Crime.
- § 985. Summary of the Preceding Topics.
- § 986. Same: History and State of the Law in England and Canada.