

U. C. C. MOURNS HER TRIUMPHANT DEAD

Large Honor Roll Testifies to College's Sacrifice.

Upper Canada College held a memorial service last night in honor of her 161 fallen heroes who gave up their lives for their country. Principal Grant gave the principal address, extolling the example set by the college in self-sacrifice during the war, and bidding those present never to forget the lesson taught by her glorious dead. All the masters and many old boys were present.

N. F. Parlee, a master, himself a veteran, gave a stirring address befitting the solemn occasion and G. M. O'Brien, another recently returned soldier, called the roll of those departed.

The names of those killed or who died on active service were:

Lieut. C. G. G. Mackenzie, 2nd Batt. Royal Scots Fusiliers.

YOUNG AUTO THIEF GOES TO BURWASH

Ross Rogers is a native of Newmarket, who is barely 16 years old, but who has been sentenced twice to two-year terms, the last occasion getting him into Burwash. He was recently sentenced to two years at Mimico Reformatory for stealing an automobile from a resident of Newmarket. Escaping from Mimico ten days ago and leaving no clue as to his whereabouts, Ross stole an auto in Toronto and left it at Mulock's Corners. He then travelled on to Newmarket, and once there repeated the experiment, stealing the automobile from M. Hamilton. He then made his way toward the American border, and was captured at Tweed. This was last Wednesday. The Tweed police had no idea as to his identity, which was definitely established upon the arrival of the Newmarket police on Friday. On Saturday he was sentenced to Burwash.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR GLORIOUS DEAD

The names of 68 Earls Court soldiers, members or adherents of the Earls Court Central Methodist Church, were read out at an impressive memorial service held in this church on Sunday night before a crowded congregation that filled every available space. The platform was draped with national flags, and a massed choir of forty voices and the Men's Own Brotherhood orchestra furnished the musical part of the service, led by Mr. Robb, bandmaster, and Norman Murch, leader of the choir. Rev. Peter Bryce, who preached the memorial sermon, took for his subject the gospel of the open door, and referred to the encouraging and excellent work of the blinded baronet, Sir Arthur Pearson, the preacher sought to show that the open door was the way to Jesus Christ. Death is not a final closing of the door, but rather the open door to a fuller power and greater service. "The men yonder in France," said Mr. Bryce, "have not perished, for death to them is a note of triumph; they are carrying on in another world."

LEE CHUNG JUMPED WITH MUCH WHISKEY

Lee Chung, 83 West Queen street, was arrested Sunday morning charged with bringing liquor in from Montreal. Chung came in on the early morning train, and in place of remaining on the train until it arrived at Port Union station, he jumped off when the train slowed down at the foot of Scott street, with a suitcase and a club bag. Constable Pilling stopped Chung, and on examining his traveling bags found they contained 11 bottles of sealine whiskey and one five-gallon can of alcohol. The tin of alcohol was wrapped inside of a suit of clothing.

PROBABLE SUICIDE HOAX.

"This is the easiest way to end my life and I have had trouble." The above note was found in a 16-foot white painted skiff up shore from the Long Branch Park Hotel by the hotel proprietor, Charles Hacker, on Saturday evening. The skiff was all set and it was drifting. The note was unopened, and Constables Myers and Simpson, who notified the life-saving station, expressed the opinion that the note was pretty much of a hoax. No new developments have been reported.
