WEDDED FORTY YEARS

Interesting Celebration at Home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Westman.

A very pleasant event took place on Wednesday at the home of Mr. A. Westman, 58 Craig street, when about 50 guests gathered to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Westman. The evening was a most enjoyable one: After a dainty supper had been served in the dining-room, which was beautifully decorated with Marechal Neal roses, Rev. A. Brown, of Askin Street Church, read a large number of congratulatory letters and telegrams from friends who could not be present. Among those present was Mrs. J. Scofield, of Chippewa Hill, who had acted as bridesmaid at Mr. and Mrs. Westman's wedding. She was also the recipient of many congratulations. Another interesting feature of the celebration was the christening of Mr. Westman's grandson, Douglas Eldon Westman, son of Mr. Eldon Westman. Forty years ago Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Westman were married in Toronto by Rev. Dr. J. A. Williams. They resided there two years, removing then to London, where Mr. Westman started in the hardware business. He was very successful and built up a large trade. Mr. Westman also made many warm friends by his good qualities. Among others who were present on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hewitt, Toronto; Miss Sadie Amy, Toronto; Alfred Westman, Chatham; Miss F. Spence, Hamilton; Mr. Harris, Ithaca, N. Y.

for the sick and injured, no matter what their creed. He went on to point out that wherever the Catholic Church is found, there it always has a hospital, where persons, regardless of their religion, can find a helping hand in a time of sickness. In the selection of the nurses, too, there is no creed restriction. In fact, as Father Aylward mentioned, the example which Christ set when he never refused to cure anyone is what the church is trying to follow. He then went on to speak of St. Joseph's Hospital, which he said was conducted by religious sisters, who have to take a vow of obedience. This vow includes strict conformity to the doctors' orders, and, therefore, the doctors can place all possible confidence in them. The nurses, who are trained to strict obedience under the sisters, can also be relied upon to carry out the doctor's orders.
