Times Staff
Are Some Pin
Fall Artists

Vanquish Telegraph Reporter Staff By a Wide Margin—More Contests in Sight

Well, it is all over! The members of the Times staff are going around with inflated chests and chuckling when they think of the terrible trimming they gave to their poor friends on the reporter staff of the Telegraph. The much discussed bowling contest was waged on the Victoria Bowling alleys yesterday afternoon and the outcome was never in doubt. The winners entered the fray with one object in view, namely to knock their opponents down as never before, and that they succeeded is shown in the score.

The Times' star aggregation of pin fall artists was composed of F. McCafferty, B. S. Robb, F. McGuire, A. Tait and H. Hansen; and the Telegraph team was composed of F. Sully, Wm. Gould, P. McCafferty, S. Smith and J. Conlon.

A little before five o'clock the pin pushers doffed their coats and realising that the eyes of the gods were upon them they proceeded to start something. With a look of defiance in his eye Captain McCafferty proceeded to batter the opponents down as never before. His score yesterday was a revelation, considering the nervous strain of having a throng of spectators whispering behind him, while his opponents acted like raving maniacs when he had a chance for a spare.

McGuire was not only forced to put up with the jeers of an antagonistic group of opponents, but was frequently reminded by some spectator that he was not a dodo bird, and as a result some spares were missed by a mile. His aim was deadly when the noise would subside and good scoring resulted. Mack was some bowler when he gets started.

Tait was the lone star of the evening Journal. He had a determined look in his eyes, indicating the passions surging beneath his vest. At times his pulse was so high that his captain feared he would throw a fit instead of a ball at the pins. His throwing brow must have been noticed by the pin boys for they sure did spot him for him, and if his mighty heave threatened to carry the circular guttapercha into the gutter the wind of the moving sphere created havoc in the pins—and the result was evident.

Hansen was placed as anchor man because he was thus relieved of all responsibility until the close of every string. Captain McCafferty realized that his vocal organs could be brought into play with disastrous effect upon the play of the morning edition, and if four men shot through holes the game would be clinched. That his judgment was not misplaced can be seen by glancing over the box score. Any team that trims another nearly two hundred pins, sure has no heart.

Sully was lead off man for the vanquished. He punched numerous holes, swore softly at his hard luck and threatened to punch holes in some of the pin boys if they persisted in making a space for the ball to float through without even hitting a pin. He has natural ability as was evident from his pose, and all that remains for him to do is to get Robb to show him how to keep the ball on the alley.

Gould "The Mighty"! There is always a man to whom the others look up to when the day of victory is at hand or when defeat stares them in the face. That man was Gould. He was the "dark horse." With a smile of confidence he stalked forward, picked up one of those big round balls and, swinging his arm around a couple of times, let it fly in the direction of the other end of the building.

A poor innocent archer, who was perched up on top of a roost some distance away, was rudely awakened to the realization of imminent danger when he saw a ball headed within an inch of his head. He glared at the man rolling on his alley and thought that he was getting fresh, while the gully perpetrator bowed back to his seat with an innocent look upon his countenance. Later he assayed to try again, and for three boxes failed to even scare a pin down. His comrades flocked around him and quickly instructed him in the rudiments of the game explaining that the ball was supposed to knock the pins down not clean the dust in the gutters. He promised to do better and succeeded. He is after the alley records and expects in a week to succeed.

Par. McCafferty loomed up strong in the eyes of the day men. He drove the ball down like a young cannon and several times nearly hit a pin. He had been applying mystic salve to his strained ligaments all day.

Stan Smith arrived on the scene soon after the game was in progress. His comrades were by that time realising that the day was practically lost, but his smile of assurance was not lost on them. He strode forward, heaved a ball down the alley and was about to pick up another when someone told him he made a strike and then pandemonium broke loose. He looked his opponents over with a scornful air and then proceeded to pick up a spare. That settled it; Sully tore his hair, while Conlon was marking all over the sheet giving everyone of his team-mates an extra count to help out, and Gould was doing a Highland fling to the delight of the onlookers. Poor Stan was unable to stand prosperity and when he returned to repeat he fell down, and as the pin boys neglected to leave any pins in the gutter he did not score again for some time.

Conlon is reputed to have a little bowling alley all of his own in his cellar where he bowls over empty bottles to the dismay of his relatives. His arm was accurate and his scores were high, but he has to keep on practising and have to invite the entire staff to knock bottles over before they will be on a par with the Times staff.

The individual scores follow:

Times—	Total
McCafferty	100 74 68 242
Robb	60 82 84 226
McGuire	87 92 71 250
Tait	82 100 98 276

SUNDAY MOVIES HELD TO BE ILLEGAL BY NEW YORK BENCH

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22—Sunday moving picture performances are illegal, the appellate division of the supreme court ruled today.

The decision was handed down in the case of Leroy H. Bender, proprietor of a motion picture house in this city, who was arrested for keeping his play house open on Sunday, in violation of the law.

In its opinion the appellate division held that motion picture exhibitions were to be classed with theatrical performances, and were, therefore, illegal on Sunday.

News of The Boxers.

Joe Lynch, a New York bantam, who looked like a coming champion, got a thack in New York from Abe Friedman, former amateur champion. The A. A. U. at its annual meeting in New York yesterday acknowledged that a fans of Boston last year furnished a greatest profit, which was $3,523.11, made on the national amateur boxing championships.

Jack Curley and Jack Kannan, a Denver promoter, plan to stage a bout between Willard and Fulton in that city and give a $50,000 purse.

Dillon Bout Postponed.

The bout between Al McCoy and Jack Dillon, which was to have taken place on Tuesday night at the Broadway Sporting Club, New York, was postponed by the officials of the club, at the request of McCoy. The latter reported with his father and said that he was not in shape to do himself justice against a man of Dillon's reputation, and asked for a few more days in which to train. It was decided to change the date of the contest to Friday, after the club found it was unable to get other boxers to fill the bill.

Welling Defeats Hammer

Racine, Wis., Nov. 22—Joe Welling, a Chicago lightweight, won all the way over Ever Hammer, also of Chicago, in ten-round bout here last night. In the eighth round Welling twice sent Hammer to the floor.

Frankie Brown Beats White.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 21—Frankie Brown decisively defeated Jabez White, the National A. C. here last night, in ten-round bout with his opponent from the art and the result was never in doubt.

Johnny Glover Gets a Draw.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 22—Three good bouts were provided last night at the Bangor Arena before a large crowd. Johnny Glover, of Boston, and Terry Morris, of Bangor, went two hard six-round bouts to a draw. Kid Sullivan, of Bangor, knocked out Kid Larrabee, of Biddeford, in the fifth round. Battling Downey, of Boston, and Bud Anderson, of Bangor, went six good rounds even.

McDonald Won Out.

On Saturday Pte. Alex. McDonald, C. A. M. G., met Trooper O'Hara, of the Fort Garry Horse in London in a ten-round glove contest. The latter was knocked out in the ninth round. It was subsequently found that O'Hara broke his hand in the second round.

Cowler the Winner.

Having a distinct advantage in height, reach and weight, Tom Cowler, the English heavyweight, defeated Bill Brennan, of Chicago, at Rochester Tuesday in ten hotly contested rounds. In the third round Brennan had Cowler in a bad way, with some snappy lefts and rights to head and body, but the big Englishman managed to keep on his feet until the bell sounded.

FOOTBALL

Celestial Plays

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 20—Thanks to his days at Mercersburg Academy, Pos. Shun Kwan, formerly of Shanghai, now holds forth at quarterback on the freshman eleven of Rensselaer Poly. He is fast on his feet, uses his head, and his "celestial smile" always looms up somewhere in the thick of the scrum. Whether he is possible for varsity material remains to be seen, but it is safe to say he will be given a chance to show himself next fall.

Captain Black of Yale Sick.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22—With the Harvard game only a few days away, Yale football supporters are somewhat concerned over the physical condition of Capt. Black and Quarterback Smith, two of the most valuable players on the eleven. Black has been in the infirmary, suffering from a touch of tonsillitis and a fever and Mr. Smith is suffering from the same ailment.

Black expected to practice Wednesday but there was doubt whether the physicians would allow him to play until Thursday. Smith was expected to work out Tuesday, but he appeared on the field in civilian dress.

Coch Jones planned to send the regulars against the scrubs for the only scrimmage of the week Wednesday afternoon. In order to thoroughly accustom the men to new plays, night signal drill will be held in the basement cage until Friday. Motion pictures of the Princeton game will also be exhibited to show faults displayed in that contest.

BILLIARDS.

Boy Wonder Pockets 131 Balls.

New York, Nov. 21—Louis Kreuter, the seventeen-year old boy wonder of the pocket billiards game, and who will ere long be a contestant for the professional championship, showed the formidable quality of his game in a practice match in this city last night, when he made the highest run ever attained here, and probably the highest ever made in the country, by pocketing 131 balls. For nine consecutive frames this youngster, who is practicing for a return match with Ralph Greenleaf, swept the table and he was well started on the tenth ball when he missed. This feat was accomplished on the same table at which Kreuter will play his return match with Greenleaf tomorrow, Thursday and Friday night. Greenleaf was victorious over Kreuter in the first of their contests.

BASEBALL.

Yankees to Have New Park.

Chicago, Nov. 22—Pres. R. B. Johnson, of the American League, is on his way to French Lick, Ind., to confer with Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, as to the location of a new park for the club. The new park, which has a lease of the Polo grounds, for the season of 1917, and according to Mr. Johnson, no attempt will be made to assemble a new plant until 1918.

No Change in Meeting Place.

Chicago, Nov. 21—Reports that the annual meeting of the American League would be held in New York, instead of Chicago, on Dec. 12, because of the meeting of the National League in the same city on the same day, were set at rest today by an announcement by President Johnson. There has been no change in our plans, he said. "The meeting will be held in Chicago."

FIGS, PEANUTS, HONEY.

Three Good Things That Texas Produces in Abundance.

Texas, when they are longing for something good to eat, should have no trouble in remembering three of the best things that man ever tasted. They are all produced in great quantity in Texas. Still greater crops of them will come with every subsequent year.

Fig, peanuts, honey—that's a combination of words that just naturally makes you smack your lips. Some day a chief will dream a dream, and from that dream will mature a confection that will make the ambrosia of the gods seem but a poor dish.

Honey, figs, and peanuts—what a fruit cake that would make. And it would be a Texas fruit cake, too.

There will come a time when men will make fortunes from just such products of this state. We have them in plenty. There's no lack of the raw material. It's the finishing process that is lacking.

Like so many other things, Texas figs and peanuts and honey have not been appreciated in the past as they will be in the future. We did not like Texas canned goods, but with the improved processes used in the canning club here we find them the best in the world today. We did not like Texas preserves, but they have improved 100 per cent in the last two years, and we like them now. Texas is looking up. Texas figs and Texas honey and Texas peanuts are going to make Texas people smack their lips in spite of themselves—and in spite of the Texas watermelons, too.—Houston Post.
