THE NEW GOLF CLUB.

The Riverside Golf and Country Club's plans for the summer season are advancing steadily. Workmen are already engaged on the rougher work around the course, and so soon as the frost is out of the ground the work will be hastened. A large house near the railway station has been rented for the season. A caterer has been secured and meals will be served there during the playing season. In addition to this the farm-house on the property will be used as a men's locker room. On most of the course the new grass had growth enough last year to be cut several times, and it appears to have wintered very well. The outlook for a successful golf season is good.

REPORTS THAT SHOW WORK WORTH WHILE

Activities of Girls' and Boys' Clubs Detailed at Playgrounds Executive Meeting

The report submitted by Miss Pitt at the meeting of the executive of the Playgrounds Association on Friday evening showed that there had been during the month of March twenty-three meetings of the Girls' Club, with an average attendance of twenty-six. Clothing was distributed to three persons who were in need. Forty-four visits were paid to the physical culture class held by meetings, with an average attendance of thirty-five, and, besides their regular classes, the girls attended one extra class a week preparing to assist the reading circle in specialities for a play to be put on in the gymnasium in May. The girls are very much interested in the work of the club. Miss Emma L. Heffer is the physical director.

Miss Pitt also reported in connection with the Traveler's Aid that she had attended 116 trains, conducted twenty-seven persons to lodgings and helped forty in other ways. The report contained several instances showing the very valuable work done in helping girls and women and children who arrive in the city strangers and short of funds.

For example: The woman and two children from Belgium by way of New York, arrived here at 11.30 p. m. They could not speak English, and were given them until morning, then looked up an interpreter and found that they wanted to go to a small village near Newcastle. The woman expected to meet her husband here. As he did not come I placed them on the train for Newcastle and they were given $8 towards expenses. A kind-hearted gentleman who did not wish his name published, donated $8 towards expenses.

There was another interesting case of help given to a woman with four small children, and to a country girl traveling from Ontario to take a position in a Nova Scotia town, who arrived here without money. A telegram was sent to a Salvation Army officer in Digby, and she was met and looked after and the money for lodging and telegram refunded.

At the employment bureau of the Girls' Club there were thirty-four applications from emigrants for help and thirty-six from persons seeking employment, which was found for eighteen. The receipts of the employment bureau for the month were $8.50, and the expenditure $2.01, so that this department more than looks after itself.

These facts are gleaned from Miss Pitt's report, but there was also a Traveler's Aid report from Miss Hogg who attended ninety-six trains, took sixteen persons to boarding houses, three to friends and two to the Digby boat. Miss Hogg also gave assistance to a young girl and brother who came in on a late train out of means and stranded, and a young girl turned back from Vancouver, who was helped back to her home in Kings county. There were during the month several cases of young girls being detained and help given to them to return home, while one was sent through to New York.

Superintendent Howard, in his report, said that there had been an average attendance of thirty-six boys every night at the Boys' Club. With the weather the attendance was falling off, but baseball was now being organized. There had been the usual variety of classes and athletic meets, as well as a social evening, an address by Mr. Ingleton on Boy Scouts and various other interesting activities. Donations of magazines, books and games had been received. The boys one night brought to the club a homeless boy, raised enough money to look after him for a night and day and then got him a job. Mr. Howard attended court sessions when boys were up, and also paid two visits to the jail.

Harry Klein had assisted all winter in the physical culture work and Kenneth Robb had furnished the music for gymnastic drills for the last month. Superintendent Howard's report showed that an increasing number of citizens are taking an interest in the work of the association. Among recent contributions was one of $5 from the Y. L. B. C. of the German Street Baptist Church. The Free to Serve Club of Centenary Church has contributed $25 to the funds of the association.

IMPORTANT EVENTS IN WORK OF WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB HERE

Sill Hope to Have Dr. Sarolea Lecture in St. John—Patriotic Programmes For Empire Day

A meeting of the executive committee of the Women's Canadian Club was held at the residence of Mrs. A. R. Melrose, the corresponding secretary, on Saturday morning for consideration of business and to complete arrangements for the physical culture class held by meetings, with an average attendance of thirty-five, and, besides their regular classes, the girls attended one extra class a week preparing to assist the reading circle in specialities for a play to be put on in the gymnasium in May. The girls are very much interested in the work of the club. Miss Emma L. Heffer is the physical director.
