

CHURCH PAPERS MAY AMALGAMATE

Proposal Before Conference This Morning. Approved by Book Committee—Session Devoted to the Reception of Reports

A proposal for the amalgamation of the Wesleyan with the Christian Guardian was laid before the Methodist conference this morning. The offer was made in a communication from the Toronto Book and Publishing Committee, publishers of the Christian Guardian, and was also referred to in the report of the conference book committee, the latter body approving the terms offered and recommending their acceptance. Action on the matter was deferred.

Other matters dealt with during the morning were the reports of the committees of Children's Fund, Sustentation Fund, Contingent Fund, Class Leaders and Sabbath Observance. The morning session opened at nine o'clock with a devotional service at which Rev. M. E. Conroy was heard in an able discussion of "The Teaching of Jesus concerning Man."

The conference was called to order at 9:45 by the president, Rev. R. O'Piel, for the resumption of business. A communication received regarding a proposed amalgamation of the church papers, the Wesleyan, published in Halifax, and the Christian Guardian, of Toronto, was presented, but action was deferred.

Miss Hattie Jost reported for the Deaconesses, regretting her inability to be present to represent that branch of the work. On motion, Rev. J. J. Weddall was appointed to the passage committee, replacing Rev. Mr. Rowland.

F. W. Mosher was then heard with regard to the work of the Methodist book room in Halifax. The report of the book committee was presented in printed form by Rev. George Steel, secretary. The committee reported total sales for the year of $18,356.04 with a gross profit of $6,092.77, a slight decrease from last year. The outstanding accounts were reduced by about $4,000 and the financial situation thus improved. The Wesleyan, published by the committee, maintained its circulation and showed increased receipts for both circulation and advertising, the cash receipts being $4,132. The committee reported on the proposal received from the Toronto Book and Publishing Committee for the amalgamation of the Wesleyan with the Christian Guardian and reported passing a resolution, by majority vote, approving of the terms offered and recommending their acceptance.

The financial statement shows total assets of $2,938.51, a surplus of $10,454.61 over liabilities.

England of Today Contrasted With a Year Ago WAR HAS GRIPPED ALL Effect on Fashion and Idle Life Most Noticeable—Nearly All Young Men Enlisted; Now Married Ones of 30 to 40

New York, June 12—A cable from London to The Tribune says: "No sign is lacking at the present time to show that the war has gripped the very heart of the nation. Only persons think and talk nothing else. As compared with June, 1914, Britain is a new country."

A year ago the season was at its very height; restaurants, theatres, and dressmakers were doing an enormous business, while the prospect for the season ahead seemed bright. Today several fashionable hotels are empty, and the new fashions and alter old gowns instead of buying new. Expensive private automobiles are fewer daily.

One sees thousands of khaki figures marching along the private thoroughfares. The men have awakened to the gravity of the situation, a state of mind due largely to the Zeppelin raids, and the rapidly changing conditions. The number of men under thirty who have not professed their services is almost infinitesimal.

Regiment Recruiting Week. Many London regiments are holding "recruiting week." This is aided by bands and recruiting officers, but all state they are getting comparatively few young men, because those ready to serve have already enlisted. Present day recruits are most of them married men between thirty and forty.

The "fucker" has almost disappeared. He is apparently being young men by whom recruiters appeal no more than in a twenty is deliberately refraining from joining.

This recruiting stimulus is characteristic of the change which has come over the nation. Practically all the engineering works throughout Britain are now devoting themselves in one way or another to military munitions. Retired engineers and men with engineering knowledge, many of them amateurs, are giving their services to warlike industries, without pay, to increase the output.

Many men are acting as drivers of motor lorries, others drive milk cars, and some are doing post office work. Some are taking the place of commissioned soldiers who rejoined the army. In hotels and clubs they have almost entirely filled the vacancies caused by men called up.

All this goes to show that every class of society is now giving itself up to the war and nothing else.

There is scarcely a family which is not personally affected by the struggle, and the country is rapidly reaching the point where every person, in some fashion, will be assisting in fighting the Germans.

If He Died-- The Business Would Die How often have you heard some statement made about a particular business? It means—that one man, either through technical knowledge, or through his ability as an executive, controls for the time being, the destiny of the firm. If he died creditors might become anxious, inquisitive, or even troublesome, or any one of many contingencies might arise to threaten the stability of the business. Unless—his life was insured in favor of the firm. It is possible to so insure "his" life that the storm can be easily weathered and the business successfully carried on without him. Our book, "Business Conservation," explains how. Write for a copy. It's most interesting and it's free. THE IMPERIAL LIFE Assurance Company of Canada Head Office Toronto A. P.
