Ready to Fight. Ald. Wigmore's headquarters presented a busy scene last evening, his friends being busy mailing circulars setting forth the alderman's civic programme. One of Ald. Wigmore's active supporters, who was a prominent worker in the commission movement last year, declared that there was no doubt of the alderman's election next Tuesday. "At the primaries," he added, "the citizens ticket got about 4,125 of the total vote, and their four opponents polled a little over 8,125. The other 5,125 represents an independent vote, and the most of it will go to the independent candidates. A group of rich men cannot control this independent vote even with thousands of dollars to carry on their campaign."

Howard Carter of Waterside, Albert County, was drowned in Dunn's Slip, near the west side ferry dock, about eleven o'clock last night. He was the captain of the schooner Jessie May, single, and 35 years of age. Alongside of his schooner were two scow loads of timber which were to be loaded on board his schooner and which were being secured so they would be nearer to the vessel, Captain Carter attempted to perform this work himself about eleven o'clock. The other members of the crew were below in the cabin at the time and hearing a splash they rushed to the deck and found that Captain Carter had slipped and fallen between the side of the vessel and the scow. The officer secured grappling irons and with others went to work about one o'clock this morning to recover the body. Captain Carter is well known about the harbor front and was a very popular mariner.

MUCH INTEREST IN DOLLAR GAS COOKING

The rapidly increasing interest in the claims advanced in favor of One Dollar Gas as a culinary fuel was strikingly evidenced by the goodly number of ladies who attended the free cooking demonstration given yesterday afternoon in the showrooms of the St. John Railway Company. The heart to heart talk on the many advantages of this cheap cleanly fuel, by Miss Daisy K. Gayton, was both instructive and entertaining, having been practically illustrated by Vincent the Caterer.

Miss Gayton, who possesses an intimate knowledge of domestic fuels, enumerated the various difficulties encountered in cooking with coal, wood and other fuels, showing how easily they were overcome by the use of One Dollar Gas which does away with coal and ashes, giving, at all times, the most gratifying results and reducing labor and expense to a minimum. The breakfasting and broiling of meat by Vincent the Caterer, were watched with much interest the results eliciting the most favorable comment from all sides. The next demonstration will be given on Friday afternoon, beginning at 8 o'clock.
