

GREAT BRITAIN WOULD SUPPORT UNITED STATES

This in Event of Clash at Arms on the Pacific or Elsewhere.

London, Oct. 24.—In the event of a clash at arms on the Pacific or elsewhere involving the United States Great Britain without question would support the United States, according to the personal opinion voiced by Lord Northcliffe in an interview Saturday with Japanese newspaper man who came to Manila from Japan for the purpose of talking with him, says a despatch to the London Times from Manila.

Replying to direct questions, Lord Northcliffe declared it was his belief that should such a clash occur the whole family of British nations would stand beside the United States just as the United States people had stood beside the British in the still smoldering conflagration of Europe. Lord Northcliffe added that it seemed inconceivable that any contingency might arise so seriously to menace the inviolable but impracticable bonds that make the English-speaking peoples one in the ultimate and supreme issues of humanity.

With reference to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, Lord Northcliffe said he believed he knew the general sentiment of the British people, but that he was not ready to make any definite statement at present. He suggested that the Japanese newspapermen should advise their representatives to take up this question with the Japanese delegates to the Washington conference.

Belfast, Oct. 24.—Ernest Blythe, Sinn Fein minister of Commerce, declared in a speech here tonight that there was any crisis in the Irish settlement it was not due to Mr. De Valera's telegram to the Pope, which was very necessary. If it were possible in the current negotiations to get a satisfactory and honorable settlement, such settlement would be obtained and accepted. But if it were impossible to obtain such a settlement the Sinn Fein would go on until they could get it.

The Dal Eireann, the minister said, would be willing to give a wide measure of local autonomy to Ulster; but there was doubt whether Ulster was fit for it. Ulster would have to be given, and before the Sinn Fein men suffered the bottom would be out of Ulster. Only a beginning had been made through the Belfast boycott in putting the screws on that there was plenty of activity in this direction yet unopened.

MOVE MADE TO INVOLVE MORE OF STILLMANS

New York, Oct. 22.—While the lawyers for James A. Stillman moved yesterday to discuss the latest move of John E. Mack, guardian for baby Guy Stillman, it was learned that they look upon it as an effort on the part of Mrs. Stillman's counsel to force a settlement through a threat to bring into court three generations of the Stillman family and to prolong indefinitely the legal proceedings which now are in their second year.

What attitude Mr. Stillman's attorneys will take Friday when they answer the order at White Plains could not be ascertained, but it was said they probably will contend there is no need of multiplying the number of defendants, as the entire family will be bound by the ruling for Guy.

Coupled with the order to show cause is a stay of all proceedings in the suit until the motion is disposed of. Hearings were to be resumed Tuesday at Pomfret, but it is considered probable that there will not be one for many weeks, if not months. If Justice McLaughlin upholds Mr. Mack's motion, complainant will have to serve on every descendant of the late James A. Stillman, and as several of them are minors legal guardians will have to be appointed to accept service. All this will consume time.

It is not considered beyond a possibility that the latest court move may actually be the beginning of the end of the litigation. Friends of the Stillman family point out that the sisters and brothers of the banker do not wish to see their names drawn into the suit any further than they already have been and that to prevent such an eventuality it is understood they would go to all extremes to effect a settlement.

Then also the financial side is to be considered. The suit already has cost Mr. Stillman well into seven figures. If it goes on then new figures are anticipated, all at his expense, the cost probably would be doubled. Continued litigation, it was pointed out, means a continuance of the publicity which all along has been known to the Stillman family.

The previous negotiations for a settlement were conducted by Mr. Stillman through John A. Garver, his own attorney, Cornelius E. Sullivan, Ontario bridge horses and William Hand, bridge ignored. Cyrus H. McCormick of Chicago, president of the International Harvester Company, was credited with being the person who actually opened the negotiations. Persons following the suit slowly express the belief that so much pressure may be brought to bear on Mr. Stillman during the next few days by his own family, the McCormicks and the Rockefellers that an early settlement may be expected.

Umbrella Causes Lot of Argument

At Rotary Club Luncheon—Interesting Address on Boys Work by A. M. Gregg.

At yesterday's luncheon of the Rotary Club, at Bond's, S. McC. Simton, J. W. Barnes, LeB. Wilson and A. Fred doForest were elected members. Dr. G. B. Post was yesterday's chairman and Arthur M. Gregg gave an address on Boys Work. Fred A. Dykeman presented a silk umbrella to Secretary Don Hunt for making a perfect attendance record for the last year, and promised the same to any member who do so for the current year. "Doc" Simton maintained that he was entitled to an umbrella also, as he had not missed in his attendance once in 18 months. "Fred" said his offer was for a perfect attendance for a year commencing last meeting. Several exchanges passed, the "Doc" insisting on his point, winding up with, "Do I get that umbrella or not?" "Doc" answered the order at White Plains could not be ascertained, but it was said they probably will contend there is no need of multiplying the number of defendants, as the entire family will be bound by the ruling for Guy.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS CAUSING MANY HUSBANDS TO DESERT

Domestic Relations Court Facing Problem of Forcing Men Without Earnings to Support Their Families—Few Have Savings.

New York, Oct. 23.—Unemployment is bringing an unusually large number of husbands to the Domestic Relations Court, where the law attempts to patch up marital disagreements and to see that the wife and children get fair play. Cases of desertion have increased as the army of the jobless has grown larger day by day. These facts were stated yesterday by City Magistrate Rapsel Tobias, at the Yorkville Court, who spoke with authority on the cases which have to do with the financial agreement between husbands and wives who are separated, and by Nathan Goodman, assistant counsel of the National Deserter Bureau, Inc., of 356 Second Avenue.

From thirty-six to forty-two cases are on the daily calendar at the Yorkville Court and of these about 29 per cent. are cases where the husband is out of work, according to Judge Tobias. This is a larger number than ordinarily figures on the calendar, he said. "Here is a case illustrative of the conditions we find today," he remarked as the clerk escorted into the Magistrate's chamber a young man and young woman, husband and wife who live under the same roof with their three children, but who do not speak to each other. The man who is in the dock and suit trade, is out of work just now and his wife wanted a weekly allowance. She was attractively dressed. The husband was rather sheepish looking. Both refused to address each other and conducted their affairs entirely through the magistrate and their counsel.

"I'm out of work, Judge," the husband explained, "and I can't pay all the money just now, but I'll see that my three children get taken care of. After election work will start up again and I'll make good."

When the husband does work he earns about $25 a week. He entered into a court agreement whereby he is to give his wife $30 a week. The Magistrate will decrease the amount when the man is not earning anything and when he makes good "wages again and I'll make good."

RUPTURE BETWEEN "BIG FIVE" AND SHOP CRAFTS DENIED BY STONE

Brotherhood Officials Believe, However, Should Service Men Walk Out Other Unions Will Follow Despite Their Leaders' Instructions to the Contrary.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 24.—Warren S. Stone, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers tonight declared "there is no open break" between the "Big Five" railroad transportation organizations and the organizations of shop crafts which have voted not to join in the strike set to begin October 30.

"There is no open break. The situation is very much overdrawn. Each organization is free to use its own judgment. Each organization preserves its own autonomy." This was President Stone's reply when asked if the action of the shop crafts in voting not to follow the lead of the "Big Five" indicated an open rupture of relations. City's Rights On East Side Floats

Council Decides to Stop Work Until Agreement Reached With W. H. Thorne.

The matter of the city's rights on the east side of the city's ferry floats was again before the council yesterday and all work there will be stopped until an agreement between the city and Senator Thorne has been arrived at.

Commissioner Jones presented a report on the city lands at Loch Leis and a map made by G. G. Leis, dock steward's part of them. He recommended that Mr. Murdoch be engaged to survey and make a map of the balance land on the table for further action.

A request from the Bank of Montreal that an indemnity bond be accepted for a lost bond of the city, property of P. F. L. Tronquette, was referred to the chamberlain for a report.

Commissioner Frink recommended that all tenders for Germain street paving were higher than the estimate they were rejected and the deposits of the tenders returned. He worked not to do so until next year. Commissioner Frink reported on a claim of Mrs. Margaret Gaudet for damages on account of her daughter, Rosale, who was injured when she fell in a hole in Chapel street. He said that the amount claimed was $51.50, being three weeks work at $7.50 a week and $30 doctors bills. He said that he thought that the matter could be adjusted amicably, but it was decided to let the matter stand until the opinion of the recorder was received.

Commissioner Jones presented a report of the chamberlain to the effect that W. B. Scully, M. P. P. had appeared at city hall and presented a receipt for $50 for the sale of a cottage on the shore of Spruce Lake, and said he was not allowed to enter upon the land to remove the building to his own property. Mr. Jones said that the property was sold to the city by Sadie E. McLeod, but the building was not removed. He said that he could find no authority for the sale of the house to Mr. Scully. It was decided to refer the matter to Mr. Jones for further investigation.

Replying to the mayor, Commissioner Thornton said that he had received no report regarding the condition of a street car and motor bus on Saturday afternoon.

Regarding traffic on the Marsh road the mayor asked if it could not be diverted via Kane's corner while road repairs were being made.

Commissioner Frink replied that the road to Kane's corner, both in bad condition and would require some expenditure. He said that in Russell street somebody had set a garage which was partly in the street.

Commissioner Thornton said that he would look into the matter. Commissioner Frink reported that asphalt work was commenced on the Marsh road yesterday. He expected that the surface of Prince Edward street would be completed on Saturday.

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself without consulting a physician.
