

DEDICATION OF ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT NORTON, SUNDAY

Rev. Principal MacKinnon, of Pine Hill College, Halifax, the Special Preacher—Addresses by Rev. James Ross and Rev. Frank Baird—Large Congregations at Three Services—History of the Church.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT NORTON

Norton, May 1—St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, here, was dedicated yesterday with appropriate services. Rev. Principal MacKinnon, M. A., D. D., of the Presbyterian College, Halifax, was the special preacher at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Over 600 congregations attended each of the services and the offerings for the day, which were in aid of the building fund, amounted to $200, which leaves a balance of $600 still to be paid. Horace Cole, of St. John, was present, and assisted the choir in special music. He also sang a solo during the afternoon service. Other clergymen who were present and assisted in the services were Rev. James Ross, home mission superintendent, and Rev. Frank Baird, of Sussex, Stanley Prince, a former student in charge of the service, assisted at the evening service.

Rev. Principal MacKinnon.

James Ross, home mission superintendent, and Rev. Frank Baird, of Sussex, Stanley Prince, a former student in charge of the service, assisted at the evening service. Rev. Principal MacKinnon preached the dedicatory sermon in the morning. It was a very eloquent effort and was followed closely by the services of the church. He dwelt on the significance of the church in any community and the aims and spirit which should characterize the organization. It should be made up of men and women imbued with the spirit of Jesus Christ. There should be no difficulty in anyone in the community distinguishing between the members of the church and those who were outside of the communion. He made a forcible appeal to all to stand fast in their profession of the faith and remember the great commission, which was as binding on the church today as it was in Apostolic times. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel."

Rev. James Ross performed the formal dedication at this service in the impressive manner. The church was filled in the afternoon when Rev. Principal MacKinnon again delivered an eloquent and appropriate sermon. Following this service a platform meeting was held at which Rev. Samuel Farley, pastor of the church, presided. Principal MacKinnon, Rev. Mr. Ross and Rev. Mr. Baird were the speakers.

Rev. Mr. Baird congratulated the members of the congregation on the erection of the handsome building they were meeting in. The erection of the church was not, he said, a challenge to any existing organization in the community. It was simply one more gate through which men might pass into the kingdom of God. Principal MacKinnon also congratulated the members on the work done and the spirit which they had shown. Rev. Mr. Ross dwelt on the opportunity which the erection of the church offered to the community. The members of the church, he pointed out, had assumed new responsibilities in relation to the whole church and it was for them to discharge these faithfully and well. He felt assured they would do this.

The congregation which listened to a powerful sermon by Principal MacKinnon in the evening was the largest of the day. Next Sunday Rev. Robert Johnson, of Halifax will preach "On Morning and Evening."

The Building.

This Presbyterian congregation was one of many founded by the late Rev. Andrew Donald, pioneer of Presbyterianism in Kings county. Mr. Donald's pulpit was not in a church but in the homes of his scattered flock. His immediate successor, the Rev. Jas. Gray, M. A., who was ordained and inducted in 1857 into charge of a congregation of which Norton was a part, was his arrival in the district found the time opportune for building a church in which this scattered congregation might meet. What is still known by the old residents of the district as the "Auld Kirk" was erected about one mile outside the village. In it the congregation worshipped until some twelve years ago, when, owing to the death of many of the old members, together with the fact that many had moved to other parts, it was deemed advisable to take the building down. The lumber, which was in an excellent state of preservation, was used in erecting a smaller building in the village, where the congregation have been worshipping up to the present. Owing to diminished strength the erection of this smaller building caused a debt which was a burden for years upon the few faithful members who through good report struggled bravely to wipe it out, confident that for them a brighter day was coming. That day has already begun to dawn. The debt has long since been paid. With the expansion of Norton, new families have thrown in their lot on their arrival with the congregation, which a large addition has been made to the membership. All the activities of the church are now in a healthy condition and the congregation are full of hope for the future.

Finding the present building too small last year an effort was made to enlarge and improve it, but as the cost was far in excess of the value of the building it was ultimately decided that it would be more advisable to invest the money in a new building and on a more desirable site. This has now become an accomplished fact and the congregation now possess a building of which they are justly proud. Situated on a central and commanding site it is a model of neatness. A well finished spire, in the base of which is the main entrance, stands to the left side, while on the right a porch has been erected, containing a large stained glass window. The windows, which are Gothic in design, are fitted with cathedral leaded lights while the entire interior has been sheathed with metallic sheathing of a chaste design. The work of painting was entrusted to Chas. Howe, St. Martins (N. B.), who has certainly maintained his reputation as a church decorator. For heating purposes a McClary wood furnace has been installed, while the lighting is provided by an acetylene plant, also installed in the building.

The first thunder storm of the season passed over here Saturday afternoon and for a number of years the like of the storm has not been remembered. STEAMER WILL PROBABLY RUN TO BROWN'S FLATS

Beulah Camp Ground Committee Active in New Arrangements—Increased Interest This Year in Suburban Life.

The Beulah Camp ground committee is making arrangements for the placing of a steambot on the route between Indian-town and Brown's Flats on or before May 20. It is probable that a passenger boat now running on a Bay of Fundy route will be chosen. So popular has Brown's Flats become as a summer resort and so extensive are the improvements which have been made in the Beulah property, that a daily steamer has become a complete necessity. Negotiations, it is said, were on some time ago for the purchase of a steamer, but it is understood that the present plan is to lease a boat. The boat in view is a sister boat to the Elaine, and will make a splendid river craft. Not all the stops will be made between here and Brown's Flats in order that the trip may get the passengers to Brown's in comfortable time in the evening and get them back in good morning business time.

A fine new hotel has been built on the grounds during the winter, and will be opened this summer for the first time. Immense improvements have been made in the appearance of the place, including the building of an artificial lake. The distance of Brown's from the city and lack of the best communication has rather operated against the place of late so that some of the old time summer residents had decided to move further down the river, but the establishment of the service proposed will check this movement.

F. S. Thomas has sold his place at Beulah to an American lady, and has moved to Marton, while R. A. Sinclair has purchased land at Brandy Point and is offering his property at Brown's for sale.

The activity of the move toward sub-urban life has never been so pronounced as it is this year. A fine property at Brandy Point has been split up and sold, which has always been withheld from the market. Clinton Brown, C. Winter Brown, Geo. H. V. Belyea and R. A. Sinclair have secured lots near the fine residence of Geo. W. Cooke.

Between South Bay and Westfield twenty-two new summer places, more or less pretentious, have gone up since last season, and there is marked activity in this line along the river. On the Baywater shore several wealthy Americans have purchased land and are putting up fine camps.

Six of Westfield's summer houses have already been opened, including that of ex-Mr. Bullock, and several more will be opened this week.

MORE FARMERS FOR P. E. ISLAND

Prince Edward Island is determined not to be left out in the cold now that eastern Canada is coming into its share of suitable emigrants. A party of British farmers will leave for that province this week per the Carthaginian, under the charge of Rev. J. A. Winfield, who has been conducting, on behalf of the provincial government, an energetic campaign in England for some months back. These farmers have, Mr. Winfield stated to the Scotch settlers, "There is no finer farm-land a few having as high as £700 with which to commence operations in 'Canada's Emerald Isle'."

Mr. Winfield is enthusiastic over the openings in Prince Edward Island for British settlers. "There is no finer farm-land in the world," he said, "and the farmers on the island are as prosperous as any in Canada. Well cultivated farms can be purchased at prices ranging from £300 to £1,500, chiefly from farmers who are desirous of retiring after a life of remunerative work, and making way for younger men. The climate is moderate, and not subject to the extremes of heat and cold as in many other parts of Canada; the temperature averages 74 degrees in the summer, and in the winter just a little below freezing. Social conditions are very similar to those in the old country, the population being composed almost exclusively of people of British descent. One Scotch settler who arrived in the island with £2 is now worth, according to his own statement, £18,000. Many people have an idea that the island is practically isolated from the mainland in the winter. This is entirely wrong. Daily communication is kept during the whole year."

There are openings in Prince Edward Island for a number of experienced farm laborers, and Mr. Winfield has secured several of these to accompany the party, which numbers altogether about sixty. These laborers are guaranteed engagements for a year, and the class of those now going out may be judged from the fact that some are taking with them as much as £200 each.

SEWARD'S PROPHECY ABOUT CANADA IS COMING TRUE, AS FACTS SHOW

American Statesman Realized in 1867 That a Mighty Nation Would Be Built Up Here in the North—"Stupendous Folly" of the Republic.

(Acadian Recorder). The final figures of our foreign trade for the year ending March 31, 1910, are published and tell a striking tale of progress. Hitherto our record was made during the fiscal year 1907-8 when our commerce with the outside world amounted to over $650,000,000, a large sum for a country of our population. The following year showed a falling off of about ninety million dollars as a result of the financial stringency of that period. The recovery has been swift and complete, and our trade once more marks a record, over $677,000,000. The gain is an accelerated one, which, if continued at anything like the present pace, will give Canada within twelve months a foreign commerce of $800,000,000 or over. This is a marvellous advance from the paltry $229,000,000 in 1866 when the present administration came into power. A gain of twenty per cent in one year is almost a world's record of itself. Apropos of the sudden and tremendous development of the Dominion during the past fourteen years, it may be noted that as far back as a half century or more ago, there were keen eyes among foreigners that saw the possibilities and foresaw the future and gain that must come in the growth of our growing Canada, while seeing in Lincoln's famous secretary of the treasury, Hon. W. H. Seward, written by him in a diary kept while cruising in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and along the Labrador coast in 1867. The most interesting portion of this prophetic utterance thus reads: "Hitherto, in common with most of my countrymen, I suppose, I have thought Canada, or to speak more accurately, north of the United States, easily detachable from the parent state, but incapable of sustaining itself, and therefore ultimately, may right soon, to be taken in by the Federal Union, without materially changing or affecting its own condition or development. I have dropped the opinion as a national conceit. I see in the British North America, stretching as it does across the continent from the shores of Labrador and Newfoundland to the Pacific, and occupying a considerable belt of the Temperate Zone, traversed equally with the United States by the lakes, and enjoying the magnificent shores of the St. Lawrence, with its thousands of islands in the river and gulf—a region grand enough for the seat of a great empire. In its wheat fields in the west, its broad ranges of the chase at the north, its inexhaustible lumber lands—the most extensive now remaining on the globe—its valuable fisheries and its yet undisturbed mineral deposits. I see the elements of wealth, I find its inhabitants vigorous, hardy, energetic, protected by the Christian religion and British constitutional liberty. I find them jealous of the United States and of Great Britain, as they ought to be; and therefore when I look at their extent and resources I know they can neither be conquered by the former nor permanently held by the latter. They will be independent as they are already sustaining. Having happily escaped the curse of slavery, they will never submit themselves to the domination of any holders, which prevails in and determines the character of the United States. They will be a Russia behind the United States, which to them will be France and England. But they will be a very different Russia from that which fills all southern Europe with terror, and by reason of that superiority they will be the more terrible to the dwellers in the southern latitudes. "The policy of the United States is to perpetrate and secure the alliance of Canada while it is yet young and immature in its future. But on the other hand the policy which the United States actually pursues is the infatuated one of rejecting and spurning vigorous, perennial and ever growing Canada, while seeking to establish feeble states out of decayed Spanish provinces, on the coast and in the islands of the Gulf of Mexico. "I shall not live to see it, but the day is already born who will see the United States mourn over its stupendous folly, which is only preparing the way for ultimate danger and downfall. All southern political stars must set, though many times they shine again with diminished splendor. But those which illumine the pole remain forever shining, forever increasing in splendor."

We are not being "held" by Britain, but are attached to the empire by those cords of love and loyalty to the traditions of our common race and origin, which are stronger than all statutes. Mr. Seward's vision of Canada's glories is fast being realized under the present regime.

OPENING UP NEW BRUNSWICK

(St. Andrew's Beacon.) The continental railway will open up for settlement a fine stretch of land in New Brunswick. From the New Brunswick boundary to Grand Falls in this province the road runs largely through the body of Moncton, N. B., where the land is cultivated by well-to-do farmers. From Grand Falls to Tobique there is an excellent farming country, over half of which is settled. From Tobique River to Chipman the map shows unsettled country covered with spruce, birch and hardwood. The soil, with the exception of a few miles of sandy plain, is fit for cultivation, well watered and at present probably the most magnificent game district in the Dominion. From Chipman to near Moncton, with the exception of a few miles, the line is run through lands either cultivated or which will be adapted for farming purposes when the spruce, cedar and hardwood timber now growing thereon is removed. The soil varies from clay loam to light gravel, no rocks of any account appearing on the surface.
