OWEN SOUND

Through a regrettable error no mention has hitherto been made of the death of Mrs. Rebecca Booie, which sad event occurred on December 8th. The late Mrs. Booie was one of Owen Sound's most respected citizens. She was the wife of the late Abraham Booie who predeceased her a few weeks ago. She was in her 83rd year. The funeral service was held in the B. M. E. church, Rev. E. A. Richardson officiating. The deceased was for many year a member of that church. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and two daughters: Moses Booie of Cleveland, Henry of Detroit, Mrs. Jeremiah Smith and Miss Mary Booie at home; one sister, Mrs. E. McIntyre of Washington, D.C., and a host of friends. The pallbearers were Wm. Harrison, Samuel Harrison, Wm. Johnston, George Nolo, James Green and Thos. Green. The remains were laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery. The floral tributes were beautiful and showed the very high esteem in which the late Mrs. Booie was held.

Our Sunday School concert, given on December 22nd, with Christmas tree laden with presents for the children, was a decided success in every way, under the direction of Rev. E. A. Richardson, Carrol Woodbeck and Mary Talbert. The children sang their carols well and did splendidly in their recitations. The thanks of the school are due to Carrol Woodbeck for the way he sold the tickets to make the affair a financial success. The proceeds amounted to $25 which will be used in buying literature for the school.

The annual sailors' supper, given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid and Stewardesses of the B. M. E. church was a grand success. There was a good turnout to enjoy the bountiful supper, prepared by the ladies. Mrs. A. Harrison, Mrs. Francis Taylor, Mrs. Wm. Harrison Jr., Rev. E. A. Richardson, J. Smith and A. Patterson were the conveners of the affair. After supper a programme was arranged, consisting of jubilee songs, recitations and trios, instrumental selections, and a reading by Mrs. Rev. Kennerly of Central United church, which was very pleasing. Rev. Thos. Laidlaw of West Side United church was the chairman for the occasion and Rev. Richardson had charge of the programme. The proceeds amounted to $65, which is very good considering the numerous other forms of entertainment in the city at this season of the year. The officials wish to thank all who contributed to the success of the evening.

We are glad to see our friends return home in the persons of Mr. H. Woodbeck and son George who have been sailing on the great lakes. They are looking fine. May God bless them both.

The stork called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Talbert and left them a fine boy on Christmas morning. They named him Joseph William. May he be a Jehu to save his people from sin.

TORONTO

Special services were held in the B. M. E. during the Yuletide, with special messages by the pastor. Our chorister, Mr. C. Andie Johnson and choir rendered several beautiful anthems that were very appropriate for the Christmas season. The annual covenant service was conducted on January 2nd when a number of the membership assembled and renewed their covenant. One candidate for membership was received on probation.

During the first week of the present month a week of prayer is being observed in the B. M. E. church. Our second quarterly communion service will be held on January 30.

Rev. F. O. Stewart was called to Niagara Falls, Ont., to conduct the funeral service of Mr. B. Z. Sutton who passed away on January 1st. Mr. Sutton was an old resident of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Clarke, of 964 Gerrard street have returned to their home in Toronto after an extended visit in their former home in West Virginia and Virginia where they met many relatives and former associates. They report a pleasant trip.

Mrs. Florence Dawson, of Windsor is visiting with her mother, Mrs. J. Enix of Dovercourt Road.

Color Lines Threaten Divided World

New York.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has received a clipping from The African World, quoting from an address delivered in Cape Town, South Africa, by the well-known British publicist, Philip Kerr who warned his hearers of a world divided on color lines in the next century. The African World paraphrases this part of Mr. Kerr's address as follows:

"There was no doubt that color was entering more and more into the international relations of the world. The Asiatic was becoming race conscious and color conscious. The African was tending to do the same thing.

"As they knew color was an ingredient, if they introduced it into politics or society, which acted as an irritant.

"Undoubtedly it would require all the statesmanship that the world possessed to prevent the world from lining up on color lines in the next century. He said that in every other country in which we had people who had got to deal with color problems or to consider that aspect of the question if once they allowed international politics to become organized on color lines they were introducing an element which would be far more difficult to deal with than any of the sort of racial feelings and passions which divided countries on a minor scale. There was no doubt that color was going to be one of the most acute problems."
