

to like it. I was also glad to learn that there is plenty of work to be procured and good wages to be obtained for it from millers, lumber men and others; and that the lakes abound in fish, which can be caught all through the winter; and that there is plenty of deer and other game. Considering these facts, the Indians ought to be able to live well and get much fatter than they were at Oka.

Believe me, dear Chief
 Yours very truly,

W. A. R. H. H. H.
