STEEL THRESHING MACHINES

Proof Against

FIRE-WIND-WATER

Case Steel Threshing Machines can go through raging fires, as often happens between stacks, can be overturned in a hurricane or cyclone, can stand for years exposed to the rain and snow, without serious damage. Your insurance against loss is in a Case Steel Threshing Machine. Stop and consider what such common things as these, to which all threshing machines are exposed, would do to wooden machines. What would you have left? But they cannot touch the Case Indestructible Steel Machine.

This absolute security against physical loss, taken in connection with their ability to thresh any grain or seed in a most rapid, clean and economical way, is the combination that explains why three Case steel machines are sold to one of other makes. Better pay a little more for a machine like this one, that will last a "lifetime," always doing good work, than to save a few dollars and be liable to total loss at any time. It is never sound business policy to gamble. Case machines are sure things for the threshermen. May we send you our catalog and Facts From the Field, giving evidence from your vicinity of the substantiation of our claims? A post card will bring it.
