The School Riots at St. Gregroire and St.

the School rioters came on before the Court of Quarter Sessions on the 22nd ultimo. The Magistrates on the Bench were Mesars, Dickson, Budeaux, La Barre, Maurice, Pothier and Gar-Bedeaux, La Barre, Maurice, Pothier and Garceau. Mr. Turcotte appeared as Crown Prosecutor, and made a silly and violent address to the Gaarb Jury, a thing which he had no right to do actually telling them that they must bring in do, actually telling them that they must bring in True Bills against the rioters! The people are very much incensed sgainst Mr. Turcotts and the Magistrates. The town was crowded with people from all parts. The Jury was evidently packed, but, owing to some cause not explained, on the afternoon of the 23rd, Deveau, the younger, the Foreman of the Grand Jury, ignored the Bill for a riot and assault against Philip Burns and all the Constables at St. Gregoire, and it is believed they will ignore all the other Bills. It was a foolish move to send down Mr. Drummond and the Fortins, for the people about those parts are neither to be humbugged on the 28th, and the rioters bound over to appear at the next Sesting about the true and just result—the sindication of the string about the true and just result—the sindication of the string about the true and just result—the sindication of the sing about the true and just result—the sindication of the bring about the true and just result—the sindication of the the rioters bound over to appear at the next Sessions. No more Bills had been filed. After the Grand Jury were discharged, Messrs. Johnson, Delisle, and Futvoye, with the Fortins, went over to St. Gregoire, to hold a Court of Inquiry, and the accounts in Three Rivers are to the effect, that they could not succeed in intimidating the habitants; on the contrary, that Johnson and the his capacity of Church Warden, has terminated in this: Fortins were themselves so frightened, that they had to send to Three Rivers for the company of the 19th quartered there. The 19th left Three Rivers on the 30th, at two o'clock. The spirit of resistance has extended to St. Monique, the inhabitants of which Parish are half French and half Acadian French. This affair begins to look squally.

The Jury, notwithstanding the able defence of Mr. Carter, returned a verdict of guilty. Canadian Exports-The League-Recasting Political Parties - Lord Elgin on the Loss of Canada-Lincoln Election, &c. TORONTO, April 30, 1850.

TORONTO, April 30, 1850.

The Globe of this morning contains a statement of the Provincial Exports for 1849, by which they are made to appear as greater in value than the Exports of the previous year by £146 645 is 11d. The statement, however, is made up in a very curious way—twenty per cent. being added to the actual Exports "on inland trade." This matter will require looking into.

It appears that the Steamboat Convention at Kingston has resulted in an agreement amongst the various Lines not to run in opposition at reduced prices, as in previous years. On the whole, the Steamers on Lake Ontario made nothing last season. One of two of them did a little more than pay expenses, but the others carried on a losing business.

The Protective scheme advocated by the League, if carried into effect, would lead to a political explosion that would sever the feeble tie that binds Canada to the Metropolitan feeble tie that binds Canada to the Metropolitan State. In this view, the question of Protection, raised by the League, has an importance which, at the first glance, it does not appear to possess.
