MEN—YOU NEED NERVE

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early indiscretions and excesses have ruined thousands of premature young men. Unnatural drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically, and sexually. How you feel, how you nervous and weak, dependent and inferior, speaks before the eyes with dark circles under the eyes, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, head, debilitated dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, nervous exhaustion, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, loose joints, hair loss, etc.

This is the condition our New Method Treatment is GUARANTEED TO CURE. We have treated Diseases of Men for over 20 years and do not have to experiment. Complete FREE OF CHARGE and we will tell you whether you are curable or not.

JULY ROD AND GUN

"Following the Fur Trails," a story of the fur trade of interest to every Canadian, opens the July number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont. In this story Mr. R. J. Fraser, who is engaged on the hydrographic survey, relates interesting incidents of the eight months staff of the party engaged in survey, work in the neighborhood of Hudson's Bay and tells of an attack upon the camp of polar bears. He gives particulars of a fine trapping in which the party engaged and the excellent results of this portion of their work. The strenuous outward journey from Fort Nelson to Winnipeg supplies excellent reading. There is much variety in the other stories, both fishermen and hunters receiving due attention and stories and experiences from the far east as well as from the far west are included.

A GRIM SPECTRE.

Disease is the Dread That Haunts Steamboat Captains.

Captain Mendus of R.M.S. Dominion realized more than anyone the other day that the anxieties of an emigrant liner's commander, do not end with the safe piloting of his ship through undreamt of perils across the Western Ocean.

There are three things the commander of a passenger liner has a wholesome dread of — fog, fire and disease. The former can be dealt with by slowing down and a frequent use of the ship's horn, and other precautions to minimize the risk of accident through the demon fog, and on no road of the seas is fog so relentlessly met with as making the Gulf, the Straits of Belle Isle and even in the Gulf itself.

Fire is a devastating terrifying agent, but with a good head of steam pumps and hose in good working order and the well drilled ship's fire brigade made compulsory on all passenger carrying liners nowadays a fire at sea is not so terrible a thing as it reads in cold and sensational print, and has taken place and been so effectively and promptly dealt with that the passengers have been in ignorance of its presence.

There is one thing every commander of a vessel, large or small, hopes and inwardly prays will never be his lot to contend with, and that is the grim spectre disease, and when its presence appears in so malignant and hideous a form as the dreaded scurvy, he and the company whose flag the ship proudly flies, are objects of deep and sincere sympathy.

There are no weapons fashioned to fight this insidious foe, time and isolation only can tell to what extent its ramifications have extended. To be almost within sight of Quebec—only forty miles away—and to be held up for days, possibly weeks—is cruel luck at sea, and the severity of which is accentuated when it is remembered that it is through no fault of Captain Mendus, or any relaxation of the company's stringent hygienic rules of health, that the serious and irksome detention has been caused, detention, which however, is vitally necessary for the safeguarding of Canada's health from an epidemic of this dread scourge.

An Editor's Irony.

Time and time again editors have taken a fling at the people who seem to think that filling an editorial chair is a mighty simple, easy matter. Probably the best bit of irony on the matter is the following by Bob Lowery, one of the best-known newspapermen in Western Canada:

"Very once in a while some cheerful individual remarks to me, 'Well, now that the paper is out, I suppose you can take it easy for three or four days.' Yes, how delightful it is that a country editor has nothing to do between press days. Business runs along automatically. When paper bills come due money drops on the press with which to pay them. Subscribers vie with each other to see who can pay the farthest in advance. Advertisers beg for additional space. And then the news hunts up the editor is also pleasant to contemplate."

There is something strange about the way the news hunts up the editor. When the news editor simply goes to his desk and looks back in his easy chair and looks wise and waits for next week's press day. The day before press day the people line up in front of the office door and then they file back and tell him all the news of the week. He writes it up in fifteen or twenty minutes, takes it back and hangs it on a hook. The compositor takes the copy and shakes it over the type cases, say, "typist, the worded type fits into place and after a few passes for the form is ready for the press again. And the editor goes down and deposits some more money in the bank. It is the greatest snap in the world. Now if the editor could only get away with press day his job would be complete."

"A prominent newspaperman has received the following communication from a French friend, which is evidently dealing in self-praise:

"A great many people have stamps who sleep in their archives in old correspondences or, have the easiness to obtain stamps in their relations."

THE MAISON M—solicit offers from every person who have stamps in their possession, because it is the firm who payed the highest the lots, collections and archives.

"STAMPS by 100, 1,000, 10,000 or more, and ALL TIME CASH."

"When doing offer, please, give samples and deals. Serious correspondents (for addressing stamps of the news issues as fast of their application) are wanted from all countries."

THE MAISON M—apply one's self of Commission an Exportation, and put herself on the disposition of her correspondents for get to them every goods they COULD WANT ON THE PLACE OF PARIS."—Canadian Courier.

The Three Rivals.

March building statistics for Winnipeg show a decrease in total of a million and a half dollars compared with the same month last year, says The Winnipeg Telegram. Vancouver, on the other hand, reported an increase of more than a million dollars for the same period. This non-asserting of improvements in the British Columbia city is responsible for this magnificent result. No other cause could have enabled Vancouver to outstrip Winnipeg, even at that the Manitoba city had done exceedingly well. But Calgary—well, her increase during the month of March last was greater than the total reported for the same month last year. An increase of nearly $600,000 is a handsome exhibit for the city which a few years ago was a cow town at the foot of the Canadian hills.
