by the Prime Minister

THE moment you adopt a policy which puts your industry at a disadvantage compared with a bigger industry that competes beside it, that has a bigger market beside it, a wider labour area beside it, you turn the faces of your industries over there because they can do better over there, and once they do that and begin to move, the first man that suffers is the labouring man of this country. He finds that he has to sell his home. He finds that his earnings of years put into that home are gone. He suffers first, and

An essential factor in achieving success in a retail business is ADVER-TISING---telling the buyers of your community what you have for them.

One doesn't need to be exceptionally olever or a genius to be a success, but one must have an aim, and pursue it resolutely and intelligently.

The businesses that are prospering and expanding are those that purposefully seek out new customers and place before both old and new customers the news of their service, in the form of Newspaper Advertising.

The influence of the beautiful, clever and strong-minded crown princess upon her husband has been wholly hostile to Germany. For she shared with her parents, King Fred-erick and Queen Marie, the abomin-able treatment to which they were subjected when the former kalser's armies invaded Roumania, plunder-ing the royal palaces and putting nearly the whole country to the fire and the sword. The humiliations to nearly the whole country to the fire and the sword. The humiliations to which Queen Marie and her daugh-ters were then subjected by Field Marshal' von Mackensen, and by Prince William of Hohenzollern, who commanded one of the German divi-sions, were of a nature never to be forgotten or forgiven by high-spirited women Neither are the relations between Queen Sophia and her brother very cordial any longer. For when she and her husband were driven out of Greece, and into Swiss internment, in of 1917, for having esponsed the cause of Germany in the great war and found themselves in monetary diffi-culty, the former kaiser is known to have turned a deaf ear to her appeals for pecuniary assistance, and to have bitterly criticized Constantine and herself for having failed to re-tain the upper hand in his behalf at Athens.
