LONDON, Sept. 23.

The feature of the British manoeuvres in the Midland counties was the destruction of an airship by a squadron of aeroplanes, which circled about in a manner which would enable them to do unlimited bombing in real warfare. An incident was the mutiny of a regiment of volunteer cavalry, whose members were disgruntled because they had received only three crackers and a chunk of cheese for breakfast. The men refused to march, but were afterwards placated by a double ration. King George will participate in the manoeuvres to-day. An Army airplane returning from Camp Hughly, fell from a height of 150 ft. The pilot had his collar bone broken, while a passenger received injuries about his head.

LONDON, Sept. 23.

Prospects of a compromise over Home Rule, are shadowed, according to the Unionist Pall Mall Gazette, which to-day, says that it is able to state that important communications have passed informally between British cabinet ministers and leaders of the opposition. Carson continues his campaign, and the liberal press asks whether he should not be regarded for sedition or deprived of his Privy Councillorship. The business part of the Ulster campaign was entered upon to-day when Ulster Unionist M.P.s were informed of Carson's civil and military plans. Labour leaders are warning the public that they are sending it harder to control those of their followers who favor physical violence, in the face of the threats of forcible resistance being made by Carson and his followers.

EDGARTOWN, Mass., Sept. 23.

The five-man schooner, the L. Urann, with coal from Newell's Point, ran on the dangerous shoal in the Muskrat Channel, yesterday. For several hours, Capt. Thomas and his crew of eight, together with the wives of the captain and steward, were forced to remain in their vessel during a southerly gale, until the dense fog of this afternoon disclosed their presence to those ashore. Captain Jackson, holder of the Carnegie Medal for life-saving exploits, dashed out of the harbour in his auxiliary fishing schooner, Priscilla, purchased by money from the Carnegie Hero Fund. He was unable to bring his little boat alongside the big coaster. Jumping into a dory, he was the first one aboard the Urann. Handling the oars himself,

Mother Eve.

With leaves of figs and barks and twigs Eve built herself a garment; "ah, this will check the rubberneck," she murmured, "dreadful garment!" With a little modest taste around her waist she tied the home made apron; she understood that was good and through the woods was paperin'. She had no looks on woman's looks, no fashion plates distressing; she was not dense—her own good sense inspired her in her dressing. And Adam gazed at her amazed, and cried: "God darn my galways! Without a crown to buy a gown, she's looking scrumptious always!" In modern times dames have the dimes to buy all kinds of dresses; they're anxious found to jog around in fifts but their tresses, transparent rags clothe withered hags and matrons young and tender; and jeers and sneers assail the ears of modesty's defender. Alas that we should toggle out by France's shameless rotters; we well may grieve that Mother Eve had more sense than her daughters. Some day the dame who shows her frame and every joint, by golly, will wonder why the gods on high allowed such crazy folly.

Girls? Thicken And Beautify Your Hair

Bring back its gloss, lustre, charm and get rid of dandruff. Try the moist cloth.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Dandoline.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of Knowlton's Dandoline now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Dandoline is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Dandoline and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

The Governor.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Sir,—I have read the letter, signed "Civis," which appeared in your issue of last night. I agree with everything your correspondent has said in respect to the recent appointments to the Legislative Council, and the Governor's ill-advised action. But the case is worse than your correspondent has put it, for the appointments are not "provisional" as he supposes. The Royal Gazette of the 18th inst., states that the King's Warrant has already issued. If the back files of the Gazette are turned up it will be found that "provisional" appointments are the rule, and the rule has been departed from in order to render a protest to the Colonial Office unavailing. His Excellency the Governor evidently does not realize the characters who sit around the Council table. They have either used him as a pawn on their political chess-board, or he has taken one or other horn of the dilemma: "He is in a bad fix, and he has played the country in a bad position, but, I have no doubt Sir Robert Bond will know how to deal with it." "He should go to the Secretary of State just to show up the disgraceful business."
Yours, CITIZEN.

What's the Matter With Coaker?

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—What's the matter with Coaker? At any rate he's the best advertised man in the country to-day. Is it because he's espoused the cause of the fishermen of the Colony, that he's being denounced as he is? One would think that he is Carson, by the way he's spoken of! Look here now: "the who runs may read." More depends on this election than most are aware of. Hon. J. A. R. editor of the Daily News, sees the Post Office slipping from him; although a few years ago he could denounce Morris! What I want to ask is this: Is Coaker inferior to Piccott or Morrison in character? At any rate Coaker has never advocated the destruction of our Crown Lands for his own benefit, and sent an appeal to the King's representative that "He Forget." Signs on it he's dubbed "Sir Donald Forget," and always will be. Any more allusions to Coaker's character will be answered by this pen which doesn't "forget" many things unsavory from Morrison down.
A LITTLE LASH.

The Tory Attacks on Mayor Ellis.

Editor The Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I have noticed several letters in the Daily News concerning Mayor Ellis and his connection with the Liberal Party. There is no better proof of the Mayor's popularity and his success at the Polls than this agitation to discount him by saying that he is a Coaker candidate.

Mayor Ellis is a candidate in the interest of his country and I thoroughly believe that his reasons for entering into political life is to save the country from disgrace. Every right thinking man knows the eventual outcome if the Morris Party is returned to power. The extravagance, waste and boodle of those in high places have set many a man thinking. When useless individuals are dumped in the different departments to give them employment and officials are made to hold their tongues and look on at the country being neglected of millions, it is time for Mayor Ellis and other right thinking citizens to get on the armour.
I am no politician, Mr. Editor, but I am not blind.
Yours truly,
NO POLITICIAN.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, 1913.
A gentle and luscious, yet effective and thorough, laxative. Its Syrup of Figs. One great feature about it is its value in the case of children. The small dose, the pleasant taste, the certain action, all render it one of the best laxatives and purgatives for the little ones. All mothers should keep it in the house, as of course it is useful for grown-ups as well as for children. Price 25 cts. a bottle.
Purthrum Insect Powder has been shown by experience to be the most effective, quickest and cleanest insect destroyer to be found in any form, and it is surprising how well and how rapidly it will clear your house of these unpleasant visitors. Try a tin. Price 10 and 15 cts. a tin.

Prospero Sails.

Remains Sent Home.

There passed away at the General Hospital last night, through pleurisy, James Barker, son of the late Robert Barker, of Conchman's Cove. Mr. W. M. Clapp, who is always interested in the welfare of his constituents of St. Barth's District, looked after the remains which went forward on the Prospero to-day to Conchman's Cove. The casket was accompanied by Mr. Bernard Barker, brother of the deceased.

Rossley Star Theatre.

There was another large attendance at the Rossley theatre last night, and all present certainly enjoyed themselves. The Marcus Co. are making good, and each night those who attend are well pleased with the show given. Last night Tommy Levene in the comedy farce, "Room 46," made everyone that could laugh, and had the appreciation of the audience. The Baby Queen in "Why did you Make Me Care?" was stormed with applause, as well as were the other players. There is the best kind of a show on for to-night and before making any appointments consider Rossley.
