FOUND EVERYTHING VERY SATISFACTORY

Water Commissioners Visited Horton Street Pumping Station.

The water commissioners inspected the new pumping station on Horton street Tuesday afternoon, and report that everything is very satisfactory.

The contractor, Mr. B. V. Hole, is now engaged on the stone work, and will have that completed within a few days.

The brick work will be commenced immediately on the completion of the stone work.

"We found everything very satisfactory," said Chairman McMahon.

"The work is progressing rapidly, and rapid progress should be made from this time on. We were well pleased with it."

Mr. Harry Tymill is acting as inspector of the brick work for Mr. Beck.

CHIEF WILLIAMS WANTS MORE MEN

Wants Big Strapping Fellows Who Are Good to Look at Anyway.

Chief Williams wants five or six fine husky young men, in good condition, 6 feet in height, 21 years old, and of good weight, to be policemen. Here is a chance for some of the young men in the country, as the chief is particularly favorable to them, and says they make the best policemen. All applicants should see the chief at his office as soon as possible.

DYSPEPSIA, GAS, HEARTBURN AND ALL MISERY FROM A BAD STOMACH VANISHES

A Little Diapiesin Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach, is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapiesin. If your stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs but a re-inforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapiesin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Farmer and High Prices.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Now that every newspaper is full of expressions of the cost of living, and the reason for and solution of the evil, it seems an opportune time to give publicity to a few facts that are plain, and ideas that have occurred to the writer.

The tendency for all things is to move along the lines of least resistance; and so with the farmer; since the country home is made more attractive for his boys than his home, in ways that are many, the native sons of the soil are ever migrating to the cities.

This will continue and labor for the farmer will be scarce, and prices for produce will mount even higher until the country home is made more attractive, both for the native sons and the emigrant who has labor to sell.

Experience has taught the writer that man raised on the farm is by far the most reliable, and if we are to get results from the fields it is to this class that we must pin our hopes. Therefore, the thing to be desired is—keep the young men on the farms.

But how are we to do it? Today the farmer is the most painstaking and hardest worker in the whole army of men. Why if he were paid for the brain-work and overtime of hard toil he would receive a greater salary than any city worker. But what does he get? Often and often bitter disappointment and a life of care and economy must be exercised to eke out a bare existence.

To my mind the farmer has never had a fair chance with the rest of humanity, and still in spite of this the sons of the soil have mounted to the highest positions in the land. To attain these exalted positions the farmer has had to be deserted and left far behind. But it was on the farm where true economy and the worth of things were learned: Lessons which usually stay with these men through life because the teacher was stern necessity.

If it were not that some or many poor are feeling the pinch of poverty through the high price of food, it would seem ridiculous to kick because the farmer happens to get a few cents more for his eggs or butter than of yore when we hesitate not to pay any old price to see a show that happens to come to town.

The real difference is that in the former case the money stops in the country and returns to the spender again, but in the latter goes into the pockets in most instances of some stocks or show concern that has no home or even country.

It is not that our farmer gets so much above what he did years ago when it is compared with the extra expense he is put to in the production, but it is the middle men who are getting the benefit of the present condition of affairs of the farmer is practically at the mercy of the merchant and the middle man, and this condition has been brought about by the disgraceful state of the highways.

At the seasons the farmer wishes to market his crops the roads are in such a condition that he cannot come to town with a load and he, therefore, railway and who sets the price to the consumer. Here, at least, are two profits tacked onto the price the farmer originally got for his produce. Better, the system is not satisfactory. People who buy would be better pleased if they knew where the stuff came from and how long it had been handed about before coming to them.

If someone is to get the extra price that city folks are kicking about, why should it not go where it belongs—to the farmer, who worked for and produced the necessary things we must have? Has he not a right to the full of what he has earned and produced? The farmer has been the slave for the rest of the world and when it comes to giving him a fair deal we all put up a royal kick. Until the mass of the people learn that it is to the interest of all to give the farmer facilities for trading direct with the townspeople, by giving him decent highways upon which to come to town, high prices will continue and the property will not go into the pocket of the farmer either; and until the people as a whole demand that adequate highways shall be constructed and maintained throughout the country, so long will the young farmer desert his home for the more attractive life in the city, and so long will there be neglected farms and high prices.

When a city's streets get vile and dangerous who raises the row? Is it the patient worker? No, it is the businessman and the man of pleasure. The former says, "My business suffers from bad streets," and the man of pleasure says, "The streets are positively dangerous."

Mount Stephen Donates Fund To Import Homeless Boys.

Montreal, March 2.—Lord Mount Stephen has again demonstrated his interest in Canadian affairs, in a practical way. Securities amounting to $300,000 in value, with a yearly earning power of $14,000, have been placed in the hands of a trust, which will administer the funds to foster desirable British immigration to Canada. The trustees are Mr. Robert Meighen, Mr. John Turnbull, and the Royal Trust Company.

Dr. Barnardo's Homes National Incorporated Association will be the medium through which this lordship's ideas will be carried out. The best class of homeless boys in the care of that institution will be sent to Canada, where so many opportunities await them.

GRAIN TRADE IS DULL

Canada Is Being Undersold in the British Market.

Toronto, March 2.—I have scarcely known such a dullness in the grain trade of Canada, or at least, in this portion of the country," said Mr. C. B. Watts, secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Millers' Association today.

"The demand is bad all over," continued Mr. Watts. "The price of export grain seems to be too high, for it is not in demand, and Canada is being undersold in the British market. Even in our own Province there is not the demand there should be."

Asked if the price was abnormally high for the time of the year, Mr. Watts replied, "No, I don't think so. If I remember rightly it was a little higher last year than it is this year. It is not quite so high as United States grain even then. We are just at present waiting to hear as to the stocks throughout the province. There are very few stocks at present, as confirmed by us, that frost has got at the crops in Essex and Kent Counties, and practically ruined them. If the crops of other parts, however, are equal to expectations they will offset this disaster."

Canadian Mining Institute Takes Exception to Some of His Statements.

Toronto, March 2.—At the opening session of the annual meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute this morning what was practically a vote of censure on Hon. Clifford Sifton, chairman of the conservation committee, was passed. It was moved by R. E. Riggstock, seconded by J. E. Hardman, of Montreal, and carried. "That the Canadian Mining Institute regrets that the chairman of the conservation committee, Hon. Clifford Sifton, has made statements reflecting on the mining and metallurgical practices of Canadian companies without being fully acquainted with the facts." The resolution followed the address of the president, Dr. Miller, provincial geologist for Ontario, who, in the course of his remarks, took exception to Hon. Clifford Sifton's statement at the meeting of the commission on conservation respecting the number of accidents in Canadian mines and responsibility therefor. It is expected Dr. Adams, of McGill University, Montreal, will be unanimously elected president of the institute.

NEW FEE SYSTEM

Windsor, March 2.—The board of education is considering a resolution to adopt the fee system for Windsor Collegiate, a graded scale of from $10 to $20 for each of the four years and a proposed, one-half the amount to be refunded students of the last two years who attain to a certain proficiency.

AFTER UNION DEPOT.

Port Huron, March 2.—Mr. Bell has gone to Montreal to confer with the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, relative to the union depot project. The mayor will make an effort to have the company join with the Pere Marquette in the construction of a union depot, and in addition he will submit plans of what the city would like to have done when the old depot at the tunnel (burned two weeks ago) is repaired.

THE COMPLEXION PROBLEM

rather a difficult one in this extreme, changeable, windy weather, is solved by using Campana's Italian Balm. A soothing, cleansing, purifying and healing skin food, not greasy or oily. It prevents chaps or roughness, keeps the skin soft, white and beautiful, and leaves no visible trace after application. See a bottle at your druggist's or from E. G. West & Co., Toronto.

There being only farmers and workers in the country, we have no champion to take up the burden of highways. The essential thing necessary to turn the faces of the people back to the soil and make farming and country life a gain to the masses.

It will work wonders in old Ontario, which for productive wealth is the gem of America.

The burden of good road maintenance should not fall wholly on the farmer, but on the community at large, and the main trunk roads should be under the care of a permanent commission.

Thanking you for this space in your valuable paper, I am, yours truly,

W. G. TRETHERWEY.
