Large Crowd Gathered at Dalhousie to Hear the Candidates and Others Speak. Great Interest Taken in Election.

Returning officer John C. McLean held his court on Thursday at Dalhousie Court House to receive nominations for candidates to represent the County of Restigouche in the next parliament.

Two nominations were made Mr. James Reid the former member and Mr. W. S. Montgomery.

Mr. Reid's paper was filed by Mr. A. E. G. McKenzie and was signed by the requisite number of electors, among whom were, Thos. Malcolm, F. M. Anderson, A. T. LeBlanc, Henry Savoie, Louis Ouellette, John Kerr, L. T. Joudry, Andrew Loggie, A. H. Hilyard, Chas. H. Labilloy, Alex. C. Levesque, Edward Bernard, Wm. E. Mann and others.

The nomination paper of Mr. W. S. Montgomery was filed by Mr. D. A. Stewart. On nominations being declared closed Mr. Daniel McDonald was chosen chairman, and took the chair before a crowded court house and as many being outside as inside.

Without any preliminaries Mr. McDonald called upon Mr. Jas. Reid as the first speaker, who amid loud applause spoke of the honor done him in being selected as the liberal standard bearer in Restigouche and the representative of the great Chief Laurier whom they all honored. Mr. Reid touched lightly on the progress of the County of Restigouche progress which no other County in New Brunswick could better and then said Reciprocity was THE issue in this election.

As in 1897 when Hon. Mr. Fielding introduced the British preference, so to day are the Conservatives resisting failure. As in 1897 so will they be in 1911. The arguments of the opponents are annexation and waving the old flag. These are poor arguments to use against a business proposition and all that the Liberal party ask for each elector to read the agreement for themselves and they will be satisfied. The government believe that further prosperity will follow Reciprocity and looking to the fact that all past premiers had tried for this agreement he felt sure that if the Conservatives were in power the very first thing they would try would be Reciprocity.

Mr. Reid spoke of his record of eleven years service and said if returned would do his duty to the county as in the past.

The Court house by this time was crowded out and Mr. Montgomery who was the next speaker chose to address the electors from the Court house steps. He said that the eyes of England were upon Canada, and that this question of Reciprocity was the most important issue since federation. Mr. Montgomery read extracts of various speeches of bygone days and said that all the U. S. wanted was to supply the great population which was pouring into our Western States. He brought up the usual annexation and loyalty cry which seems to be the only stock-in-trade of the Conservative politician, and moistened an otherwise dry speech with copious quotations of water.

Mr. A. J. LeBlanc was then called upon, and in a grand fighting speech demolished the loyalty cry of the Conservatives by recalling to memory several incidents in disloyalty which did not rebound to the credit of the party. Mr. LeBlanc was frequently interrupted, but was able for them all, adding as a last shot "what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander".

Mr. M. W. Doherty of St. John then took the stand in the interests of the Conservative Candidate. He spoke well and was given a courteous hearing, but the fact that Mr. Doherty is the manager of the Williams Manufacturing Co. of Toronto destroyed all chance of the electors of Restigouche taking any stock in the arguments of the manufacturers, we know only too well on which side they are on.

This closed the program of speeches but the crowds still lingered, and amid loud cries for McKenzie, Mr. A. E. G. McKenzie was forced to take the platform.

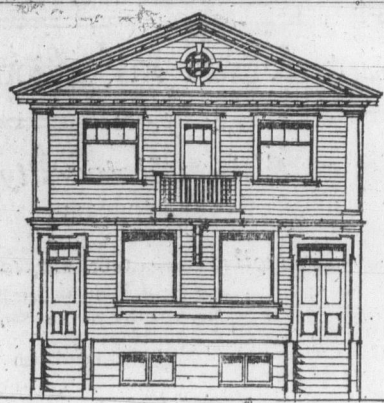

This was the tit bit of the day. McKenzie took off his gloves, and hammered the arguments of Doherty and Montgomery into a cocked hat. He showed up the nigger in the wood pile in Mr. Doherty masquerading as a business man who left Toronto, and sunk "his little all" in a business in St. John, while stamping all over the province in the interests of the manufacturers. Mr. McKenzie was frequently interrupted but was able for them all, and especially scored Montgomery in his statement regarding the action of the government at the time of the fire.

The proceedings were now somewhat noisy, and as the speaker drove each point home with sledge hammer blows it was no surprise when he called for "three cheers for Reid" that a triumphant shout was the answer which augurs well for the Liberal candidate on the 21st.

Conservative Meeting on Thursday Evening

Wild Statement made by Dr. Landry in his Address to the Electors

A meeting of the electors was held in the Opera House Thursday when Dr. Landry and Mr. M. W. Doherty of St. John spoke in the interests of the Conservative Candidates. There was a fairly large audience and both speakers received an attentive hearing. Dr. Landry spoke first in French and then in English. The greater part of his speech was taken up with the Navy question, speaking in a slighting manner of a Canadian Navy saying that the only country that Canada would be at war with would be the United States and what good would the Navy be against the whole American Navy. He further stated the Navy had not struck a rock on her recent accident but that she was leaking like a sieve, and the government put out the story that she struck a rock, as a statement to cover their blunder. He contradicted himself the next minute when he said it could cost the Government $500,000 to patch the hole. "THAT WAS PUNCHED IN THE NOSE'S BOTTOM". Such statements as these may suit other circumstances but they won't go down in Restigouche.

The above engraving will give our readers some idea of the building we propose erecting as the permanent home of the GRAPHIC, and for which the ground has been broken this week. The main building is 30x43 feet, and will be occupied exclusively by the GRAPHIC as office and work room. The basement, in which will be placed the heavy machinery, will be of concrete construction, the ceiling on ground floor will be of reinforced concrete thus making this part of the building entirely fireproof. The first and second stories will be built of fire proof material.

To provide funds to assist in the erection of this fine building and to install an up-to-date plant, we are making a special appeal to our subscribers to pay their subscriptions at least one full year in advance. In response to personal letters already mailed we have received many encouraging replies enclosing amounts ranging from $1 to $10 and we trust many more of our readers will remit the amounts of their subscription at an early date and thus lend us their assistance when we require it most. For the past year the GRAPHIC has been indifferently printed out of town, but we hope to have our own plant installed in our own building in a very short time. A good deal depends upon the prompt action of our readers.

CANADA'S GRAND OLD MAN.

HAZEN WAVES THE FLAG

Loyalty Cry and the Flag Used to Encourage to Win Votes.

The meeting in the Opera House Tuesday evening in the interests of the Conservative Candidate drew a full house, many having to stand. As usual the speakers received a fair hearing, but there was little enthusiasm.

W. S. Montgomery was the first speaker and his address was quite a speech, but with very few convincing points, and little applause greeted his efforts.

Hon. J. D. Hazen was the drawing card and gave a two hour address on what he said were the issues of the campaign. His remarks on reciprocity were wandering being directed more against free trade than the present agreement, which he characterized as the entering wedge for free trade. He endeavored to prove that the farmers would get less for their produce through American competition and that the workingman would have to pay more for produce because the farmers would ship all they had to the better American market. The flag was waved and the loyalty cry raised in a vain effort to stem the tide of Liberal victory.
