VIENNA, Nov. 2.—It is stated that the interview between the czar and emperor of Austria was postponed because the czar's "holy court," a new, self-constituted body-guard, represented the journey to the frontier as exceedingly perilous. It is said the cohort is continually scaring the emper-or with 'the discovery of nihilist plots. They have a strong ally in the empress, who is so nervous that the czar cannot move out of her sight without bringing tears to her eyes.

in St. James school-house in the evening. The meeting brought together the represen-tatives and members of both sections of the church, and was one of thorough and deep missionary enthusiasism. The house was crowded to the doors, and the speeches were eloquent and stirring. A more united and sympathetic gathering probably never before assembled there, and it is antici-pated that its results will be largely increased aid and greater interest in the Church's missionary work. NEWARK, N. J. Nov. 2.-It is reported that large number of notes held by the failed bank against Nugent are outlawed by the state limitations. It is also reported that Baldwin lost $80,000 in Wall street in one day. Baldwin says the directors when making the examination counted the money carefully, but accepted the balances written in the books as gospel truth. Bank Ex aminer Shelly said, as far as he had gone the deficiencies amounted to $2,236,000. There is no doubt the amount may materially increase, as many false entries and irregularities had come to light.

The bank examiner says the deficiency in the account of the Mechanics' bank will cer-tainly reach two-and-a-half millions From present indications he believes the depositors will lose $900,000.
