NEW YORK HERALD.—“It is intended to deal in a vigorous and independent manner with educational and scientific questions; and with these aims in view, its appearance is timely.”

TORONTO GLOBE.—“It is highly creditable to its promoters. The type and general workmanship are excellent. The articles are numerous, and though short, are not without real value. Some of them, at least, certainly seem to possess the virtue of vigorous treatment.”

TORONTO WORLD.—“The editorials, contributions and selections, are excellent, and its typographical appearance equal to English and American publications of the same class.”

EVENING CANADIAN.—“The original portions of it are interesting and well written, and the selections seem to have been made with much taste and judgment.”

DAILY TRIBUNE (Hamilton).—“A first-class journal, devoted to the interests of higher education, and which bears every trace of intellectual vigor and editorial ability calculated to make it a permanent success.”

TORONTO EVENING TELEGRAM.—“The V. P. aims to be a monthly journal that shall deal vigorously with all matters affecting science and education. The first number gives ample assurance of a fulfilment of its object. Its contents are varied, well and judiciously written, and presented in admirable form.”

COBOURG WORLD.—“Both the appearance of the magazine and its contents are such as to recommend it to general favor, especially in the eyes of those of a scientific turn.”

EDUCATIONAL MONTHLY.—“It has a fine appearance, and is decidedly interesting.”

CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN.—“The magazine is neatly gotten up, and deserves hearty encouragement and support.”

THE V. P. JOURNAL is published monthly, in the interests of education and science. Only $1 per year. A few back numbers on hand.
