USE OF NETTLES.—In Scotland they use the common nettle, boiled, for the pigs. It is both nourishing and cooling, especially when mixed with fattening food, such as sharps.

Birkes And Scalds.—Mix lime waterard olive oil in equal parts; if you have it at hand, dissolve as much of exthonate of soda as possible in it; soak a piece of lint or rag in the mixture, and cover the injured part entirely with it, that it may be kept from the air. Another plan is to make a thick pare of whitening and spread it over the burn.

TO MAKE MEAT TENDER.—Heat can be made tender, it is said, by softening the fibres with vinegar. A steak turned over four or five times in a couple of hours on a plate containing a little vinegar, salad oil, and pepper, will become tenderer and be far better than if battered with a rolling-pia or cleaver, which forces all the juices out of it.

or cleaver, which forces all the juices out of it.

If All's "Journal of Health" says: "Winter or summer, nothing better can be won next the skin than a loose, red, woonen finned shirt; red, for white flannel fulls up, mats together, and becomes tight, heavy and impervious; woollen, not cotton, because that merely absorbs the moisture from the surface, while (woollen) flannel donveys it transmestain and deposits it had done on the outside of the shirt, where it is soon dried without injury to the body.

RICK CARE.—Take a quarter-pound of ground rice, half a pound of flour, a quarter-pound of butter, half pound of currants, half pound of sugar, three eggs, and a little numer. Work the butter to a cream, then mix it with rice, flour, sugar, and numeg, and having well frothed the three eggs, out them in and beat the whole thoroughly for ten minutes. This is a very wholesome and delicate cake, much approved by invalids, and not very expensive.

Shat it up by replacing the round, and tie it in cleth. Put it into fast boiling water, and let it boil three or four hours, according to the size. Those who are fond of the beef kidney, will find it cook very nicely in this manner.

CHEAPER LUNCHES.—One of the great questions of the hour to men who work down town and cannot get home to dinner is that of lunch. Where can they get a good one at a reasonable figure? We are afraid there are few places in this city at which a good satisfying lunch can be had for fifteen cents. Why should not a merchant or clerk be able to get a bowl of soup for five cents and a cat of roast beef for ten, with bread thrown in? We are certain a good profit would remain to the restaurante provided he had a large cutom. And why should not a cup of tea or coffee, with two rolls or sandwiches, be had for ten cents? They can be had in other cities, and it is high time the restaurants in this city lowered prices and increased their allowances.

SICK HEADACHE, This complaint is the result of eating too much and exercising too little. Nine times in ten the cause is in the fact that the stomach was not able to digest the food last introduced into it, either from its having been unsuitable, or excessive in quantity. A diet of bread and butter, with ripe fruit or berries, with moderate and continuous exercise in the open air sufficient to keep up a gentle perspiration, would cure almost every case in a short time. Two texpoonfuls of powdered charcoal in a half glass of water, and drank, often gives instant relief. Sick headache, with some persons comes at regular intervals, and is the signal of distress which the stomach puts out to inform us that there is an over-alkaline condition of its fluids; that it needs a natural addito restore the battery to its normal working tion of its fluids; that it needs a natural adto restore the battery to its normal working condition. When the first symptoms of headache appear, take a table-spoonful of lemos juice clear, fifteen minutes before each meal and the same dose at bedtime. Follow this up until all symptoms are passed, taking no other remedies, and you will soon be able to go free from this unwelcome nuisance. Many will object to this because the remedy is too simple; but many cures have been effected in this way.
