

proposed hardware or software for compatibility with COSICS and with existing informatics technology.

As technology evolves, the standards and hardware configurations set in this document will be updated. You can expect to receive periodic issues of the Standards and Procurement Guide for Microcomputer hardware and software.