British Cruiser Fired Upon While at Anchor and at a Disadvantage—Carmania Sunk a German Cruiser and German Ships Were Captured.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—H. M. S. Pegasus has been completely disabled in Zanzibar harbor by the German battleship Koenigsburg. Out of a crew of 234, 25 have been killed and 80 wounded.

The admiralty report says that since the outbreak of the war, the British light cruiser Pegasus, under command of John A. Inglis, has been working from Zanzibar and had rendered very useful services including the destruction of Dar-es-Salaam (a seaport in German East Africa) the sinking of the German gunboat Mowe and a floating drydock.

Taken at Disadvantage.
Early this morning, continues the statement, she was attacked by the Koenigsburg while anchored in Zanzibar harbor cleaning, oiling and repairing machinery. The Pegasus, thus taken at a disadvantage and somewhat outraged by the newer four inch guns of the Koenigsburg, was completely disabled after suffering loss, unofficially announced at 25 killed and 60 wounded. This is a high proportion out of a crew of 234.

Captured Six British Ships.
On September 10 the German cruiser Emden from the China station, after being completely lost for six weeks, suddenly appeared in the Bay of Bengal, and during the period including September 10 to September 14, captured six British ships as follows: The Indus, Lovat, Killim, Diplomat, Frabcock and Katinga, of which five were sunk and the sixth was sent to Calcutta with the crews of the others.

Carmania in Action.
The British auxiliary cruiser Carmania, Captain Noel Grant, R.N., went into action September 14 off the east coast of South America with a German armed merchant cruiser, supposed to be the Cap Trafalgar of Berlin, mounting eight 4-inch guns and pom-poms. The action lasted one hour and 45 minutes, when the German ship captured and sank her survivors being rescued by an enemy collier.

Dwarf Was Rammed.
On the night of the 18th the Dwarf was purposely rammed by the Nashitigall a German merchant ship. The Dwarf was slightly damaged, but sustained no casualties. The Nashitigall was wrecked. The enemy lost four white men and ten colored men and eight white men and fourteen colored men are missing.

Nearly Married Tonight.
The British battleship is proceeding to the coast of Selwyn's force. The engagement tonight at the "marsh past" is the head of the British position, is at the head of the company.

Japs Making Headway German Railway Seized

Cavalry Land at Lungkow and Proceed to Tsingtau, Which They Will Invest—Shantung Railway Seized—Germans Defeated Near Kiaochow.

Special Direct Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World.
PEKIN, Sept. 20.—The Japanese cavalry have landed at Lungkow and are proceeding by forced marches toward Tsingtau, which they intend to invest while waiting for the siege artillery to be brought up to the front. Heavy rains have delayed the progress of the big guns. The Japanese cavalry have advanced as far as the Kiaochow station of the Shantung railway, across the bay from Tsingtau, and have made a prisoner of the president of the railway. The Shantung railroad is German owned, and was opened in 1904. The first German officer, so far as known, to fall in the hands of the Japanese, was the secretary of the German legation at Peking before he went to Kiaochow. He fell in an advance guard engagement at Liatung on September 16.

CANADA'S FORCES FINALLY INSPECTED 25,000 MEN IN LINE

Duke of Connaught, Premier Borden and Other Notables Present—March Past Greatest Military Spectacle in Country's History—Expeditionary Force Practically Ready.

Canadian Press Despatch.
VALCARTIER CAMP, Sept. 20.—On a grassy plain hedged in by the Laurentian mountains about 25,000 Canadian soldiers were reviewed today for the third and last time before they leave for England, by the Duke of Connaught, in a splendid day for the greatest military ceremonial parade which has ever taken place in Canada, and thousands of visitors lined the enclosure. Practically every man in the ranks wore a service uniform, barring of course, the brigade of Highlanders, and carried a rifle across his shoulder, which indicates that the work of equipping the expeditionary force is practically completed, and it will not be long before camp in Valcartier is broken.

When about 17,000 men attended the church service in the morning there was an impressive ceremony. Rev. Canon Scott conducted the services. In the audience were the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, Sir Robert and Lady Borden, Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. Robert Rogers, Sir Henry and Lady Egan, American Consul-General Foster, and a number of prominent people from various Canadian cities.

Today we are called upon to enter the most glorious campaign which a nation has ever been called on to wage," said Rev. Canon Scott.

"It is a glorious campaign because we are fighting not only for ourselves, but for the empire, but for a greater and loftier cause, the cause of liberty. We fight for England because the British flag stands for human liberty." In conclusion, he said: "The eyes of Canada are on you, be courageous—I need not say that—keep ever before you the lofty cause that brings you here. In the ring line keep it before you at all times, but remember that the we God the cause of human liberty must not be lost. Others must take our places and go until the fight is won. It took nearly two hours for the great mass of soldiers to line up on the parade grounds to get in readiness for the "march past." The Duke of Connaught appeared on his charger followed by a number

ROME, Sept. 20.—The Tribune's correspondent at Petrograd says that 150,000 Austrians commanded by General Dankl, have been completely enveloped by 300,000 Russians between the Rivers San and Vistula. All efforts at extraction from this plight, it is reported, have proved unavailing.

GERMAN GUNS CAPTURED.

LONDON, Sept. 20, via London, 12:50 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the Russian legation here today: "The offensive movement of the Germans in East Prussia has been checked by Gen. Rennenkampf. On the line between Breslau and

All Attempts by the Enemy To Break the Allies' Front Between Craonne and Rheims Have Failed, Their Left Wing Has Been Driven Back, Von Kluk's Flank is Threatened and a General Retirement to the Belgian Frontier Is Believed To Have Commenced—General Von Hausen Relieved of Command—Huge Line of German Fortifications Is Constructed To Facilitate Retreat—Rheims Cathedral Destroyed With Other Historical Buildings—300,000 Austrian Troops Watch the Italian Border—Men Are Fighting Waist Deep in Water.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—(By way of London, 10.20 p.m.)—The Echo de Paris states that according to the latest despatches received from Rome, it appears that the German army has begun retreating movements towards the Belgian frontier. This, in the opinion of the paper, would explain the diminution in the intensity of the battle recently noted.

ALLIES SLOWLY WINNING.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Advices received at the British embassy tonight declared the allies were slowly advancing in the face of a fearful onslaught by the Germans all along the far-flung battle line in northern France. All over the country attacks by the Germans, the despatch said, were being repulsed. The message was very brief, and the embassy did not make public the text.

PREPARE FOR STRONG STAND.
PETROGRAD, Sept. 20.—The Austro-German army is preparing to make a strong stand on a line of which Przemysl is the centre. All the villages about this strongly fortified position have been ordered evacuated, and strong entrenchments are being dug all along the Austrian front. The fortress garrison of 60,000 men at Przemysl has been provisioned for two years. The Austrian line now has a 150-mile front, and it has become clear the allies of the kaiser are not going to allow the Russian forces to force it without a strong resistance.

ALLIES' HOPES REALIZED.
PARIS, Sept. 20.—The following communique was issued this afternoon from Bordeaux: "On our left wing we have realized our hopes of driving back the enemy; on the right bank of the River Oise our troops also have made at least some progress in repulsing the Germans' onslaught."

"The honor of the French success lies with a division of the Algerian troops, who have captured a standard. "All attempts by the German forces, supported by numerous heavy guns, to break our front between Craonne and Rheims, have been successfully thwarted.

RELIEVED OF COMMAND.
"At Tergau, the Saxon army was broken up, and its leader, General Von Hausen, has been relieved of his command. The cavalry division, which had been fighting in Lorraine since the beginning of the campaign, went toward Russia and participated in the Austrian army's rout. It is reported that they suffered considerable loss in the end. "The German left wing retiring, has evacuated the territory around Arricourt, in the Vosges Mountains. The enemy was repulsed in its attempt to take the offensive near St. Die. The progress of our attacks is slow on that side because of the difficulty of travel. We have

ROUMANIANS READY TO FIGHT GERMANY

Importance Attached to Resignation of Cabinet and Sending of Mission to Italy—Bulgaria Begins to Show Sympathy With Triple Entente—Italian Public Opinion Strongly Favors War on Austria.

Special Direct Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World.
PORTOFRANCO, Sept. 20.—There is a possibility today of Roumania entering into the conflict and taking sides with the allies. The greatest importance is attached by the French Government to the resignation of the Roumanian cabinet, especially as it is coincident with the sending of a mission from that country to confer with the Italian Government. This belief is held by the possibility that Roumania is only awaiting a favorable opportunity to join with the allies against Germany and Austria-Hungary.

Roumania's attitude is best explained by Mr. Diamandy, one of the Roumanian delegates, who is in Rome. Speaking for the majority of the citizens of his country, Mr. Diamandy is reported to have said, that while Roumania is not in trouble at present, the Roumanians cannot permit any opportunity to pass whereby they may be able to attain their national independence.

Hour for Action Comes.
Mr. Diamandy said that this is the time for his country to act, and that should the powers of the triple entente be victorious in the present struggle the map of Europe will be redrawn in accordance with national lines, rather than as it is at present, while Roumania would be sure to suffer should Germany and Austria be the victors.

Bulgaria is beginning to show signs of sympathy with Russia, and a desire to go to war. This is shown by
