

II

He-has surmounted all the obstacles he-met. A-boy has abstracted your watch. The doctor removed the abscess. The pulse is abnormal. I object to-that. His authority is absolute. They-are obdurate in-their decision. You-must observe absolute silence. They remove the obstructions from-the street. It-is obvious that-his intention are bad.

I-beleve that-they-will subscribe $10.00. How many will-you substract? He-is teaching subveasive doctrines. You-must use no substitute. The boat was almost submerged. The sub-déacon has-just arrived. The thief was subdned after a-long struggle. Let-me have-the substance of-the sermon.

The army will advance. He-was admitted in-the hall. Give-him a-good advice. The advocate lost his case. The bold old man is cold. Fold the sheet of paper. I-sold the mould. That boy is so-bold. The adverb is-not appropriate in-this sentenee.

III

This place is too-monotonous. The mutiny was suppressed. They-are chasing the boar. We-are going to-the matinee tomorrow. I-am studying anatomy. He-has always had-a-prejudice against him. His memory is prodigious. What method are-you teaching? They will reproduce the play next week. You-should retouch that stone. The locomotive covered ninety miles in-an hour. Your moustache is-too-long. I bought some fine cattle. Facing the house is-a high tree. The roses are fading. That air is-very melodious. His strength has redoubled.

We-have-a good opinion of-him. That boy is-very ingenious. The heliotrope is-a beautiful flower. He-has joined the militia. Can you-play the piano. No, but I-play the violin. He-was reengaged. The troops will reembark tomorrow. They will reexport that machine. Mix the creosote with-the sirup.