One paper however, says that Mr. Borden discussed it with marked politeness. But the whole tenor of the speeches was that the railway commission could cure express grievances. NOT ONE SPEAKER REFER-RED TO THE MAIN POINT RAIS-ED BY MR. Not one of the professed admirers of Adam Beck and Sir James Whitney said a word in that direction. What so great a testimony to Sir James in this his week of trial that Conservatives at Ottawa intended to imitate his example? Frank Cochrane missed the chance of saying what he thought of state competition in Ontario. He contented himself by saying if any had a grievance against the express companies he'd look into it.

In the meantime The World invites the business community to say if they have any grievances in regard to express charges. Where are the fruit growers and the protest they put in some months ago? And where are the people of modern Canada in regard to freight, express, telegraph and other

Pastor Russell's Sermon

BROOKLYN, Dec. 3.—The public was ence in our city to-day. No notices text was, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved."—Jeremiah viii, 20.

The pastor seemed specially to enjoy the semi-privacy of this meeting with the tabernacle congregation. As is generally known, he is about to start on a tour of the world in company with a committee of six gentlemen of affairs, of which he is the chosen chairman. The committee was appointed some months ago by the International Bible Students' Association to visit heathen lands and investigate conditions there and report to the associa-

Discussing his text the pastor declared that as there was a harvest time, a reaping time in the end of the Jewish age, so also there is to be a harvesting in the end of the gospel age. The fruitage of this age will be gathered into the heavenly garner by the glorious change of the "first resurrection." The Lord's words were. "The harvest is the end of the age." By mistranslation His words were rendered, "The harvest is the end of the world," and thus many have been misled into a fear that the second coming of Jesus, will mean the end of all things for all except the saintly few.

(6) What hope is there for the conversion of the world in this generation as proposed by the Laymen's Missionary Movement with its thirty-million-dollar endowment?

(7) To what extent do the moneys donated benefit the heathen and could any improvement along this line be suggested?

The report of this committee will be awaited with great interest by many. Pastor Russell will visit classes of Bible Students en route and will address the public next Sunday in 10 Angeles, Cal. Arrangements are perfected whereby we will be in touch with him thruout his journey. His addresses will be reported from Japan, China, Manila, Travancore, Madras, Calcutta, Cairo and Corinth.

The text points out a lesson. Not all who have professed to be followers of Christ will be amongst the blessed ones of the harvest and be transported by the "first, resurrection" to glory, honor citizens' Christ and immortality. The words of Jesus here cited in corroboration of this are: mas stamp committee in Toronto, a few days ago, the Christ and in Thy name cast out devils, and done many wonderful works?" Many who thus hope will be disappointed will be shut out of the kingdom class. Another of the Redeemer's parables, the pastor said, pictures the consecrated saints of God in this havest time as virgins. But some were wise and some country.

for the crown. An application to quash a conviction made on Oct. 7, 1911, by the police magistrate for the Porcupine mining division, in the district of Sudbury, against E. Demetrio, for keeping a disorderly house.

Judgment: I am of opinion that there was ample evidence to warrant the conviction. It was argued that no place was shown where the offence charged was shown to have been committed. The evidence is clear that the place in question was the house of the accused, called and known as the Nugget Saloon. Under section 1124 of the criminal code there are wide powers of amendment on appeal from the conviction. I have power under this section, I think, to rectify this error, if it is one, and as I think the evidence fully warrants me in so doing, I order and direct that the conviction be amended by inserting after the word "Whitney' therein the 104 lowing words: "at his house there known as the Nugget House." Judgment: On an examination of the somewhat voluminous material, it appears that the real question in all these actions is only one, and that of a simple character. It is plain that eight actions cannot be allowed to proceed when the real point at issue can be dispused of by one trial. After con-sideration the best disposition in the interests of all parties would seem to interests of all parties would seem to be as follows: Let such one of the directors' actions preceed as they may arrange among themselves, they agreeing to be bound by the result of that case. Then the defendants can defend and counter claim as they proposed to do in their reply to the statement of defence delivered in the actions of the International Assets against the directors. If Mr. Clarkson is thought to be necessary party, the order will give a necessary party, the order will give leave to amend to that effect. As this order is made on the directors' appli-cation, and for their benefit, it would seem a proper term that all should be liable for the costs of the action which goes on both as between themselves as substantially joint plaintiffs and also to the defendants in case of their success. They are thereby subjected to no greater liability than they would be under if their four actions were consolidated, as they might have been if they all had the same solicitors. 1933P. 1934P and 1935P. The appeals were all argued.

Judgment: We reserved the question as to the meaning of the words used in the Mining Act, which provides that the recorded holder of a mining claim shall perform work thereon, during the three months immediately following the much swollen by recent rains.

It is thought probable that the Marquis fell in the water accidentally. Mining a perform work thereon, a perform work thereon, a perform work thereon, a per months immediately following, are synonymous with "next after," referring (in the words of the act later used), to a period of time and not to the creation of a term.

We think that the commissioner was right, and the appeals should be dismissed. As we have dismissed the cross appeal it will be to let each party bear his own costs.
