Norwood were sold on the block at the Union Stock Yards Thursday at prices ranging all the way from $300 to $2900 for females, and 4400 for Hillcrest King Pontiac Ramond, the great prize bull. It was a wonderful sale all thru, and the fact that the whole 60 head, including some of the choicest strains of Holstein breeding in Canada were all sold at good prices demonstrates the growing favor with which the Hoistein breed is regarded in Canada.

In the early stages of the sale, while good average prices were being paid the dispersion was without special feature and it was not until "Hillcrest—May Echo Sevia Rannerd," a daughter of the great 20,000 pound cow Ranard was brought into the ring that the big crowd really woke up and began to take an interest. This helfer, calved Oct. 23, 1917, was started on a bid of $1000, and by $100 bids she ran up quickly to $2900, when she was knocked down to J. J. Bell of Pittsburg, U.S.A. A. C. Hardy of Brockville, and one of the greatest Holstein breeders in Canada, was Mr. Bell's competitor, and when the wealthy American had safely landed his prize Mr. competitor, and when the wealthy American had safely landed his prize, Mr. Hardy walked across the ring and warmly congratulated his competitor. The crowd cheered the action again and Another feature of the big sale was when Hil'cress: King Pont'ac Rannerd, calved May 25, 1913, with a record at three years, eight months and four days of 34 lbs. of butter in seven days, was put in the ring. Not satisfied with $100 bids they put on $200 at a time, and from a start of $1000 she ran in a few minutes up to $4400, said to be the highest price ever paid in Canada, when Mr. Hardy got her at that figure. As before, the competition was between Mr. Hardy and a few by A. W. Stewart, of Lyn, but all were of the highest type and many of them registered in both the Canadian and American herd books.

Great German Effort Shows Appearance of Exhausting Itself.

ENEMY LOSES GROUND

Allied Aviators Compel the Kaiser's Generals to Grope for Weak Points.

With the French Army in France, March 29 .- The great German effort appears to have exhausted itself. At many places along the front of attack the enemy is being driven back, and at others the French and British are offering firm resistance. Infantry fighting has begun to give place to artillery battles, and in the next few days the guns may be expected to speak loudly. In this respect the British and French have the advantage, inasmuch as the Germans have been unable to drag much artillery All records for high prices in Canada with them. They are engaged in establishing themselves in the positions to which they have advanced, but

At present the front is most uneven. During the first rush the Germans succeeded at some places in inden the lines so that here and there were formed pockets which sooner or later must be straightened out.
> Thirty-eight Against Eight.

Further details concerning the first part of the battle show that no fewer than 38 German divisions were thrown simultaneously against a front held by only eight British divisions, over-whelming them and forcing them back. Behind these British divisions were only three others in reserve, but the troops fought valiantly and de-layed the German advance for a con-

The fighting has been much more severe in the sectors of Von Below and Von Marwitz. It is evident the allies are gaining the upper hand and mastering the enemy with artillery.

Owing to the terrible casualties among his aviators, the enemy is compelled to feel almost blindly for weak spots in the allied lines, which he has been seeking constantly so as he has been seeking constantly so as to throw against them some of his dense masses. When it is remem-bered that the enemy has more than a division for every thousand yards of the front on which he attacked an idea may be gained of the difficulties with which the allies have been beset.

MARKS BATTLE LINES GEO. O. MERSON & CO.

Allies Now Not Only Hold Off Germans, But Shape Course of Fighting.

Paris, March 29.-The great battle is now raging over a front of more than seventy miles. This extension of than seventy miles. This extension of the line has increased the number of German reserves engaged. Altho thus far no decisive success has been obtained anywhere, there is increased confidence here. The impression in semi-official circles is that the allies have not only held off the Germans, but now are no longer compelled to permit the enemy by his manoeuvres to shape the course which the battle shall take.

The general feeling is that for Germany the battle is virtually lost, that for the allies the battle is about to begin.

The operations thus far are accepted as confirming the theory that Paris was not the main objective of the main objective objective of the main objective objective of the main objective obje the German offensive, but that the plan of the enemy was to break the British armies, in which he has failed. His main direct attack was westward toward the sea. The Germans see! portant railway centre of communi-cation with England. The loss of Amiens would be inconvenient,
