Perhaps this was your boy and you gave him a scolding. But it really wasn't his fault, he wouldn't be normal if he wasn't hard on stockings.

We knitted them from extra-long yarn made by ourselves to ensure uniform quality. Our employees have had years of special training in knitting Buster Brown quality into hosiery.

Dear Miss Grey: "Barkis is willin'" go please tell Grasshopper. I'll be looking for a letter soon. My address is with Cynthia.

Senna for Baby's Trouble.
Dear Miss Grey: I see where "Anxious Mother" was having trouble with her baby raising him on the bottle. I raised four that way. I don't think babies are so much worse than babies raised on the breast. For constipation buy senna. It costs a cent a day, what you can hold in two fingers, put in cup and fill cup with boiling water, let stand a few minutes and it is ready for use; give the baby one teaspoonful in his milk every day; if it is not enough give him more. You will have to use your own judgment; some require more. If there is anything else you would like to know, I will be glad to tell you. I would not advise giving castor oil. If you cannot wait you will have to keep it up; let us know how your baby gets along.
TIERED MOTHER.

Cherry's Warning.
Dear Miss Grey and all the Boxites—I have been a long while calling, but I see where Calamity Ann wanted to know a good hair tonic. If she will send me her address I can send her some soon. I've used for I tried it. It did my hair good. I don't think Spear Maiden is right in her estimation, but if she don't watch out here will be a quarrel in the Mail-Box yet over the farmers. I am just warning her. I am not a farmer, but I have been on farms before now, so watch out. Spear Maiden, I want all the farmers to get their rights. Face you well, CHERRY.

A Favorite Recipe.
Dear Cynthia Grey—Will you kindly send me the much-needed, sticking pattern? I take great pleasure in reading your page. Inclosed please find a recipe. I am an ADMIRER.
Drop cookies—One small cup of white sugar, two eggs, half cup of half teaspoon salt, 1½ cups flour, one cup of milk, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, four cups corn flakes, two tablespoons sweet milk.

No $4,000 in City.
Dear Miss Grey: I could not keep away longer after reading X. Y. Z.'s letter. If she is worth $4,000 after thirteen years' hard work she can pay out as much as she can. For she sure has done well. She would never save that much in the city. Farmers' wives are not that hard on money. I live in London, and I am married nineteen years ago, left a good home and had most everything a young girl needed when I got married. Well, you talk about work, I never knew what work was until I married. My John has worked in a foundry for twenty-four years, and he is a first-class mechanic. He never loses a minute of time, only when sick; if he loses a minute he loses his pay. He takes care of a church at night, has three to build. I do all the cleaning. Sometimes when there are socials, tea meetings or concerts on, we are after 1 o'clock getting home; then a hard day's work cleaning up again. We have a nice home and I have never had to get this. X. Y. Z. I wheeled a wheelbarrow and took all the dirt that came out of the cellar of the first home, and made our lawn with it; used to get up at daybreak so my neighbors would not see me. I have raised four children and buried one. I have made all the clothes my children and myself wear, and also sew for other people. I have done papering; have nursed the children through most all children's diseases, including diphtheria and scarlet fever. Have had lots of sickness, but we are so used that we have four of them today, and are as happy as the day is long. Money is not everything. I often wish we could all go on a holiday for a few days together. It is a pity you wish to count every penny. Sometimes we wonder if it is worth while spending the best part of our lives trying to get a home, and give the children a good education. I am quite sure X. Y. Z. that if we had everything paid for, we would not be worth anything like $4,000. If you have money to invest, invest in the city. You could make money, but it takes one all of their time buying and selling, and you never know what have made old things over so much it would be a treat to buy new material and be able to cut and make it as you want.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1919.
ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.
[By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.]
Prayer—Matthew vi, 5-15; Luke xiv, 1-14.

QUESTION FOR TODAY.
1. Verses 5-6.—What is the moral content of those who today act as if they were religious in such matters as going to church, but are not actually true to God?
2. Why does Jesus so strongly recommend private prayer, and what are its advantages?
3. Verse 7.—In what class would you put those private prayers which consist of reading or reciting set prayers and in repeating a form of words?

GOLDEN TEXT.—In nothing be anxious; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.—Phil. iv, 6.
IT IS WRONG TO BE ANXIOUS.
Our Scripture lesson for today is on the subject of prayer. Jesus gives us instructions as to our motives in prayer, and then he gives us a model prayer, and then what appears to be concrete examples of two prayers. There are two ways in which people endeavor to solve their problems, the one is to be anxious, fret and worry, and the other is to refer to our troubles to God, and with hearts full of thanksgiving, expect him to comfort our hearts, to steady our nerves and to turn our adversities into success and bane into blessing. Christ was a philosopher. He prescribed remedies which never fail. Everybody admits that anxiety generally multiplies the evils which we expect, while casting our burden on the Lord is a sure cure for our trouble.

MRS. NEWHALL ON VERGE OF DESPAIR

Oshawa Woman Says She Is Feeling Fine After Taking Tanlac.

"Tanlac was the only thing that gave me any relief, and I am convinced that it is the right medicine for people in the condition I was in," said Mrs. Elizabeth Newhall of Oshawa, Ont., recently. "I had been in a general rundown condition for over a year," she continued, "was extremely nervous, had no strength nor energy and the least little exertion would exhaust me and I would feel real faint. I ached all over and felt half dead all the time. I had no appetite and would skip meal after meal. Nervous, blind, headaches would almost drive me distracted; my nerves were shattered so that the least little thing would upset me and I'd get up in the morning feeling so miserable I could hardly keep on my feet. "After taking Tanlac a few days I began to feel better. My appetite is now splendid and nothing I eat hurts me at all. Those terrible headaches are all gone. I have more life and energy and my work is a real pleasure to me." Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug Limited, and by an established agency in every town.
