Also Preserve Canada's Hinterland as Animals' Sanctuary, Advises Officer.

Regina, Aug. 31.—The vast hinter-land of northern Canada should be preserved in its entirety as a sanctuary for wild animals, a trappers' and hunters' paradise, is the opinion of H. A. Conway, inspector of Indian agencies in the far north. Mr. Conway is in Regina today on his return from a trip thru the northwest territories, that took him 1900 miles north of Edmonton, or 1500 miles north of a railway. He will report to Ottawa on the condition of northern Indian tribes and the general conditions of the country traveled. Reports on Oil Outlook.

He has been making tours of the north land for twenty years. In speaking of oil prospects, Mr. Conway said that in his opinion the best outlook was at Fort Norman, where the Imperial Oil Company was spending vast sums. He stated they had drilled to the depth of 425 feet when he was there in July. He was shown samples of fine quality crude oil. The inspector did not feel inclined to talk on the quantity of oil already secured by the company. About forty miles of the river had been staked by prospectors. In addition to oil hunters, there was a continual stream of men searching for minerals. Our collection of autumn styles are most exclusive and embrace every novelty in trimming introduced for the coming season. We show a beautiful range of Satins at very moderate prices.

The bank president says that Pizzi had told him he had been invited by Ponzi to buy some shares in the J. R. He testified that later he learned that Pizzi did not use the note for that purpose.

Pizzi testified that he had invested the $20,000 in notes of Ponzi's Securities Exchange Company. He said he had allowed several employes of the bank to use his name as an agent for Ponzi.

Mr. McNary said the Hanover Trust Company was perfectly solvent. He knew nothing of Ponzi's financial condition, and had made no effort to determine his financial status. ## TO ARBITRATE SOON ON G. T. PURCHASE

All the Commissioners in Ottawa This Week-Will Fix Date for Inquiry.

-It is probable that the date of the ppening of the arbitration proceedings to fix the price the government will pay for the Grand Trunk Railway will be decided upon here this week. Sir Walter Cassels, chief justice of the ex-Thomas White, former minister of fin-Inited States, the other commissioners, will all be in the capital tomorrow, and it is expected that the three commissioners will get together and decide when it will be possible to open the formal inquiry for the taking of evidence.

Such good headway has been made with this part of the inquiry that it is thought possible that the formal hearing of evidence may be commenced about the middle of September. AT LAMBTON PARK
