Emerson puts the point pithily. "If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon or make a better mouse trap than his neighbour, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beeline to his door."

E. D. C. PLAYGROUNDS NOW IN FULL SWING

Two More Subscriptions--Getting Ready for the Games--Large Attendance Yesterday

Only three subscriptions to the Every Day Club playground fund were received yesterday. If the work is to be carried out as it should be the response should be more general.

Previously acknowledged $42.30 T. H. Estabrooks 5.00 J. M. Humphrey & Co. 3.00 H. L. Coombs 2.00

Miss Joan Coster visited the grounds yesterday afternoon and selected the portions of the field to be used for ground hockey and basketball and left the arrangements with Supt. Sheppard. They will be ready for Tuesday morning.

Miss Fowles assumed charge as teacher yesterday morning and there was a large attendance of children all day. The awning was put up last evening, and Mr. Sheppard has made low benches and tables for use under it in the kindergarten work.

There is a great demand for balls and bats, and a croquet set would be much appreciated.

Manchester Robertson Allison Ltd., and Macaulay Bros. & Co. have kindly contributed samples of goods for the teacher to use in teaching the little girls to sew.

A number of mothers were on the grounds yesterday with their children. Citizens who have not visited the grounds should take occasion to do so and make a mental comparison between them and the public streets and back yards of the town. In many little ways they could help the playground cause.

A. M. Belding, Esq., care Times, City. Dear Mr. Belding--You will find enclosed herewith my mite ($2.00) to the fund you are raising in connection with the playgrounds. I feel sure that the efforts you and others have put forward for the benefit and enjoyment of the children are generally appreciated by those participating in same, and I trust that more recognition will be given by the proper authorities at no distant date for the financial support of this most worthy enterprise.

Sincerely yours, H. L. COOMBS.

MAGISTRATE HAD VERY BUSY DAY

Several Cases of More or Less Interest Before the Police Court This Morning--The Harney Saloon Case

At the resumption of the hearing against Michael Harney in the police court this morning of alleged refusal to permit Night Detective Lucas and Patrolmen Ross and Linton to enter his hotel bar on Sunday night, the night detective was examined. He stated that his attention was drawn to the saloon about 10 o'clock Sunday night by a noise. The noise was akin to that of the contact of bottles and emanated from the rear of the bar. He repaired to the street entrance of the bar and peering under the blinds on the door, which were a foot from the bottom, he was unable to perceive anybody in the bar, as the interior was in darkness. He added that he did not see a light inside, and said that it would be possible in view of the location of the bar, to have a light that would not be visible from the exterior. He said that he was not in possession of his flash light on Sunday night, but even the artificial light would enable him to survey only one portion of the bar. In continuing, he said he obtained policemen Linton and Ross, and stationed Linton at the Duke street entrance to the hotel, and Ross at the door that the prosecution claim leads from the rear of the saloon to the bar. He suggested that the defendant obtaining entry to the bar was his motive in visiting the hotel, but he was informed by Mr. Harney that it was impossible to accommodate the officer, as the bartender possessed the keys. The plain clothes man stated that he has never emphasized his determination to enter, and the defendant suggested that it would be a feasible proposition to break the door. However, Lucas demurred. With regard to the blinds, the night detective said they were drawn upward to such an extent on Sunday night that he could not gaze into the bar, and the blinds on the door were drawn downward to within a foot of the bottom. It was argued, owing to the absence of a witness for the defence, that the hearing would be adjourned until Monday afternoon.

Fannie McGonnell, aged 24, who was arrested in the rear of the High School, for lying and luring, stated that she resided with a young man. According to her evidence she reached St. John in May. She was sentenced to a term of two months in the Home of the Good Shepherd. Night Detective Lucas espied the couple between nine and ten o'clock, and was placed under arrest both struggled. The man was successful in evading the officer. Benjamin Fish pleaded not guilty to assaulting his wife on July 2, in their home, on Erin street. Mrs. Fish testified that four weeks ago she inquired if Fish would aid in maintaining the household. He blackened her eye for mentioning work to him. On July 2 he reached home more intoxicated than usual, and after condescending to while away a few minutes in the house, vanished again in the direction of a saloon and returned in an advanced state of inebriation. He approached her and struck her on the arm, and it was incapacitated for several days. She added that Fish has not worked since September 12, 1908, and obtains money to purchase tobacco from his twelve year old son, who, being compelled to seek work in the cotton mill, is deprived of the opportunity of securing an education. She stated that her husband was a burden to the family, as he had not contributed to their support since September. During that month he was placed on the interdict list for one year at his request, but she asserted that he has been intoxicated a practically every day since his name was added to the number of men who must legally be refused liquor. Inspector Jones vouches for the period for which Fish on the interdict list expired some months ago. However, the list at police headquarters shows that the termination of the period is not until September. Fish complained that his wife punished him with a broom over the back, and cast a cup of hot tea in his countenance. She was advised by his honor to obtain several more brooms, and distribute them among the family, so that he would receive a cordial reception when he reappeared at the house in two months. "You'd eat the bible," said Fish to his wife, as she concluded her testimony. He was remanded until Monday, as he is eager to secure his son and daughter as witnesses to substantiate his assertion that he was the injured member of the matrimonial alliance.

Simon Fanjoy, a cripple, who was discovered on Albert street, North End, last night, huddled under some cloth bags, will be returned to the Municipal Home. He is strenuously opposed returning to the institution. William Crowley, aged 49, who was arrested for lying and luring, was fined $50 or three months. He admitted that he was homeless and penniless, but did not relish the Municipal Home as a resting resort. A number of Jews, who were reported for neglecting to obtain pink buying licenses, were given until Monday to secure the licenses. The question arises in view of the fact that none of them have mastered the English language, if they are entitled to licenses.

SUNDAY'S MASS MEETING

The Four Section of the Junior Temple of Honor and Temperance, of Ouelton, will participate in Sunday afternoon's parade from the Temple Hall, Main street, to the great mass meeting on the Every Day Club grounds. The Every Day Club file and drum band will head the procession. An orchestra will lead the music at the grounds and Prof. Hoban of Chicago will speak.

MONDAY EVENING'S SPORTS

Cribbs and Watling of Chatham have entered for the Every Day Club's baseball cap sports on Monday evening. Moncton is also well represented. There is a large field of entries for each evening and these sports should attract a great crowd. They will begin at sharp 7 o'clock.
