A REAL FAN
Worcester police believe they have captured the world's most ardent baseball fan, who, armed with eight revolvers and $14 in cash, attempted, they claim, to borrow an expensive automobile early today from a darkened automobile sales room in order to reach the Yankee Stadium in time for the second game for the world series.
The young man who gave the name of Edmond Landry, told the police he planned to pawn the revolvers when he reached New York. He is charged with bringing into the building with intent to commit larceny.

Pete Bruneau See New Governor, Think He's Good Man For Canada

KINGSEY, P. Q., Oct. 8.—Peter Bruneau, proprietor of Kingsey's one hotel, is a satisfied man. He has seen the new governor-general of Canada and approves of him. Sitting on the steps of his hotel garbed in sober black as befitting the Sabbath and clutching a gargantuan pipe in his gnarled fist, he was ready to tell the story.
Peter is an old man, he has reached the time of life when affairs of state are a matter of personal interest, and he is gratified at finding Lord Willingdon a man to his liking.
"I think he's a good man for Canada," he says.
"Today when he's train come in I'm down there at the station and he sees me and says good morning, very friendly. He talk pretty good French so I tell him good morning; then he wants to know if I leave town here an' I say yes, 50 years.
"You must be proud to live in such a fine country," he say, "an' proud to be a French-Canadian too, eh." Then someone comes up an' he has to go away.
"He's very polite, that Lord Willingdon, an' by gar I think he's know something too."
Peter packs the dottle of his pipe, with a fireproof thumb and makes it belch clouds of smoke as strong as the hand that grips it.
"Course he's not born in Canada, like Lanier and don't know the country yet. Maybe this governor-general job won't be so easy for him as for Lanier, but I think he'll make a good one."
