SEASON ENDS AT THREE GROUNDS

Good Time Enjoyed by Kiddies at Last Day Sports

Excellent Display of Work is Made — Some Prize Win-

Closing exercises for three of the supervised playgrounds of the city were held yesterday afternoon and the children carried out excellent programmes, took part in races and exhibited with justifiable pride the handicraft work which had occupied them during the summer. There were many parents and friends as well as some of the members of the Playgrounds' Association in attendance. The closings for Centennial and East Saint John grounds were held jointly on the East End grounds, and the South End grounds closing was held in the S

IN EAST END. The Rast End closing was in charge of the teacher, Miss Beatrice Mooney assisted by Miss Bernice Mooney, who trained the children in singing. The programme consisted of the presentation of a charming fairy playlette entitled "Midsummer's Night" and some fancy tumbling by the boys under the direction of John Marr, their instructor. Two performances were given. The handleraft exhibited included millnery, handless, dresses, sweaters, embroidery, cardboard toys and dolls' cradles. The efficiency prize went to Edna Alward who has not missed one day at the grounds during the last day at the grounds during the last three years. Gertrude Britt, who took the leading part in the playlette at short notice won the prize for general deportment. Prizes were also presented to the five children who took the nexts of fairy forwars.

EXHIBITION. The work of the children of the Centennial grounds was exhibited in the morning in their own building and included rag dolls, handbags and cradles made from matchboxes as well as a variety of wooden toys. Miss Mildred McCutcheon was the teacher for Centennial grounds, and was assisted by Miss Mary O'Connor with Harold Barker in charge of the boys. The prizes for the children on the Centennial grounds were won as follows: Over ten years, first, Alice Joyce; second, Dorothy Joyce. Under ten years, first, Christina Evans, and second Audrey Leighton.

FOLK DANCES.

FOLK DANCES. The programme carried out on the East End grounds included folk dances songs, games and races. Miss Kathleen Lundy was the teacher for the East End grounds, and Miss Bernice Mooney was assistant. Sanford Goldman had charge of the boys and directed the races. Handicraft work exhibited included wooden toys, embroidery, dolls, hammocks and hammock stands, and many useful articles also. For the boys a baseball match was arranged between the children from Alexandra grounds under the direction of Mr. Langstroth, and the East End boys and the Alexandra team was announced as the winner. Volley ball was also played during the afternoon. The played during the afternoon. The prize winners were as follows: Girls over ten, Ruth Carmichael; girls under nine, Betty McIntyre and Anita Crawford.

FAGLE LAKE, Me., Aug. 21—
Trial Justice John M. Brown says that crime in this section of Northern Maine is getting too hot for him and he has decided to quit after 35 years of dispensing justice.
He has sent his resignation to Governor Baxter. With rum-rumers, bootleggers, drunken drivers and thrieving, which, he says, are on the increase, he has had enough.
The last straw was three cases in succession of stealing cattle from the pastures, skinning and cutting them up and selling them to meat peddlers. Justice Brown landed hard on the cattle thieves but as he is now 72 years old is willing some younger man should have the job.

Justice Brown was a civil engineer and a lumber scaler. He was postmaster for twenty years and has held many town offices. He has always been active in Republican politics.

ALL-CONQUERING.

The cars have forced their way through every difficulty that tropical nature could design to defeat them. Animals could not have withstood the diseases of the jungle. Carriers would have been much more difficult to handle and would have taken much longer. The tractor triumphed.

The expedition was a sequel to the successful journey made by a group of Citreen-Kegresse caterpillar cars across the Sahara to Timbuctoo in 1928. G. M. Haardt, formerly director-general of the Citreen factories, who was in charge, looked about for fresh fields to conquer. The cars had ably demonstrated their ability to cross the great desert in almost one-tenth the time taken by the camel caravans.

Sneak Thieves Steal $231 From North Bay Homes

NORTH BAY, Aug. 21—Sneak thieves last night entered four local houses and while the families were sleeping made a haul of $231. Although in three of the cases they made their haul in occupied bedrooms, the usual method of procedure being to steal the trousers in which the money was kept, they awakened none of the people.
