SO FAR NO SIGN OF GRAFT IN "LOBBY"

Senators Disclose Their Business Relations to Committee

WILSON'S STATEMENT RE TARIFF

Crowd Thins Out as Likelihood of Lively Evidence Disappears—Witnesses Say Less Personal Appeal on This Bill Than at Any Recent Tariff Revision

(Canadian Press) Washington, June 3.—The senate struck out boldly yesterday on the trail of the "insidious lobby" which President Wilson declared is operating to modify the tariff bill. At the rate of four senators an hour the colleagues of the five men on the investigating sub-committee stepped to the witness chair, and then told their stories of senatorial wealth or poverty, or moderate circumstances of business and professional connections, and of their interest or lack of it in the tariff measure. As senator after senator denied knowledge of the existence of an organized lobby, declared that improper influences had not been exerted upon him and that money to influence legislation had never appeared on the congressional horizon at the present session, the crowd of spectators who had gathered to witness the trial of the lobby slowly thinned out. The trail of the lobby was hard to find and spectators who looked for sensations went away empty-handed. The senators who had served in congress for many years repeatedly testified that they believed there was less personal appeal to members of the two houses now than at any tariff revision of recent years. Nearly a dozen and a half senators had been examined before the end of the night session, and while they disclosed freely their personal business affairs and the extent of their property investments, the committee found no evidence of the use of senatorial office outside influence to improperly affect tariff legislation.

SEEK TO CHECK FLOW OF EMIGRATION FROM THE STATES TO CANADA

Politicians From Colorado and Other Parts of West Urge Matter on President

Washington, D. C., June 3.—President Wilson has been strongly urged to adopt a more liberal policy toward settlers in Colorado and other western states if Americans are to be kept from going to Canada and taking up Canadian lands. The complaint as to the restrictions that have existed in preventing settlers taking up lands in the west and turning them toward Canada was made by Governor Ammons of Colorado, backed by Senator Thomas and Representative Taylor of that state. They told the president that the great bulk of land desirable for settlement had been withdrawn by the government in past years until there was comparatively little left. Besides this, they said, the policy of the interior department has been to hamper settlers in so many ways as seriously to handicap efforts to increase population by settlement. They declared that practically everything is done to prevent the acquisition of lands rather than to promote settlement by individual settlers.

There has been a decided advance in emigration to Australia this year, and the number of passengers who have booked with Scottish agencies to sail from English ports shows a larger increase than ever before. There has been a great demand for second-cabin accommodations throughout the year, indicating that the emigrants are of a prosperous class. The majority, it is judged, are the bookkeepers, favor the provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta being the most popular destinations. Less than 50 per cent of the emigrants are agricultural laborers. Emigration agencies acknowledge that it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain farm-lands, the supply having been so much depleted by the emigration of former years. There is a scarcity of agricultural labor in many parts of Scotland, and improved conditions are being offered to men who are content to stay in the country. Artisans engaged in the building and allied trades form a large portion of this year's emigrants, while miners have also been conspicuous.

GOD SAVE THE KING

This fine drawing by Matania in the London Sphere is the latest portrait of His Majesty, King George and his only daughter, Princess Mary, looking very charming in her riding costume at Aldershot during the opening days of last week. She accompanied her father from point to point on horseback during his inspection of the army. These are some talk of Princess Mary coming to Canada for a short visit with the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall if they return to Rideau Hall.

Was a Gloomy Day In London Stock Market

Monday Saw Greater Depression Than on Any Day Since Outbreak of Balkan War—C. P. R. Drop a Feature

(Canadian Press) London, June 3.—The London Times says: "Not since the autumn, when the outbreak of war in the Balkans seriously alarmed speculators in stocks and real estate, has the stock exchange been so depressed as it was yesterday, (Monday). All departments were affected and in many instances fell heavily. "Inter-bourse securities were the principal sufferers, the outstanding feature being a big fall in Canadian Pacific shares. A gloomy feeling prevailed throughout the day throughout the house, and as a rule prices leapt off with most the lowest point touched and left about 11.00 a share as compared with Saturday in many cases. "Pressure to sell came from various quarters, but New York, Montreal and Berlin were the chief sources of offers of securities in large quantities, partly from Berlin, where the weakness of the bourse is much increased by the unexpected fresh creation of German imperial and Prussian consols, but the selling came also on a considerable scale from the other side of the Atlantic. The depression was enhanced by the selling of new Canadian Pacific shares by the holders who do not wish to have to provide calls which mature later in the year."

FREDERICKTON BOY IS DROWNED

Son of Richard McDonald Was Playing in Motor Boat at Wharf—Orangemen to Join in Celebration of July 12

(Special To Times) Fredericton, N. B., June 3.—A seven year old boy named McDonald, son of Richard McDonald, was drowned in the river at the west end last evening. Along with some other boys of his own age he was playing in a motor boat moored to the wharf, when he lost his balance and fell overboard. His companions ran for help and when they returned a few moments later McDonald was nowhere to be seen. Men worked with grappling irons for the greater part of the night, but the body has not yet been recovered. The water is twelve feet deep there. The York county Orangemen last night decided to unite with their brethren of Northumberland in celebrating July 12. An excursion will be run from here to Chatham.

MISS MARY E. HENDERSON Hanging to Ceiling In Her Bay Shore Home

The pathetic end of an unfortunate woman's life was revealed last evening when the inanimate body of Miss Mary E. Henderson was discovered hanging in her cottage in Sea street, near Bay Shore, West End. The tragedy was discovered when her neighbors became uneasy about her account of not seeing her around. As far as is known she had not been seen for a week and an examination of the body showed that she had been dead for at least several days. Miss Henderson was forty-seven years of age and during the last twenty-seven years she had, from time to time, been in the Provincial Hospital, Lancaster. Her attacks continued for only two or three months each year and during the rest of the time she was quite sane and was able to earn her own living. Through her industry as a solicitor for magazine subscriptions and by the sale of fancy work which she made she had been able to maintain herself, and last year she managed to buy the little cottage in Sea street in which to spend her declining years. It is several months since she had last been in the hospital and up to the time of her death she had appeared to be in her usual condition of mind. There was nothing to indicate whether her action was due to a return of her mental trouble or whether it was the act of a peculiar woman who had found life, with her peculiar trouble, too hard to bear, and had decided to take the shortest way out. The fact that she was missing was noticed by N. McKeller, from whom she had purchased her little home, and when he learned of the matter he reported it at once to the authorities in the hospital. Attendants were sent to make an investigation and, when no response was made to their knocks at the door, they peered through the window to see if she was inside. The shocking sight of the woman's body suspended from the ceiling by a rope met their eyes and from its appearance they could see that life was extinct. The police were notified and they, in turn, sent word to Coroner F. L. Kenney, who proceeded to the place and, after inquiry into the circumstances, gave orders regarding the disposal of the body. A survey of the premises gave room for no other theory than that of suicide as nothing was disturbed and there was quite a large sum of money in the house. Miss Henderson formerly belonged to Northumberland County. She is survived by her father and a sister.

GERMANS AND THE NEW UNITED STATES TARIFF

Berlin, June 3.—Two important meetings were held here yesterday to consider the question of German participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition, but neither led to a definite decision. Quite apart from the fact that the iron and steel manufacturers are strongly opposed to exhibiting, these present agreed that all should wait to see whether the new American tariff measure and methods of execution were favorable to Germany, and also whether the other leading powers decided to participate at San Francisco. From remarks of members of the Permanent Exposition Commission and the industrial representatives, it was learned that the most bitter objection to the proposed tariff is on account of the requirement that Germans must submit their books for inspection by the American consuls as a condition precedent to exporting to the United States.

NEW EVIDENCE IN ANTI-WHITE PLANT

Prosecution Seeks to Close Gaps in Its Case

(Canadian Press) Boston, June 3.—Evidence intended to close the gaps in the prosecution's case by connecting President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen Co., and Frederick E. Atteaus directly with the alleged plot to "plant" dynamite in the houses of the textile workers at Lawrence was introduced by the state yesterday. When the trial of Wood, Atteaus and Dennis J. Collins was resumed District Attorney Pelletier called a witness who was discovered only on last Saturday. This was Arthur Pira, a taxi cab chauffeur, who testified that on the evening of January 19, 1912, the date upon which the dynamite was "planted" he drove a man resembling Atteaus from the Boston residence of President Wood to the corner of Franklin and Washington streets, thence to a saloon in Court street, back again to Franklin street, then to the club house of the Boston Athletic Association. Earlier in the trial Collins, who turned state's evidence, told of assisting John J. Breen in placing the explosives. Breen, who also confessed complicity, said that Atteaus had paid him $700 to do the work and that Ernest W. Pitt had furnished the dynamite. Breen's story of Pittman's part in the affair was corroborated by Wm. B. Rice, a quarryman who testified that Pittman had obtained the explosive from Breen and that he had seen the contractor deliver the explosive to a man resembling Breen at the corner of Franklin and Washington streets. Evidence is Surprised Pira's testimony came as a surprise to a crowded court room. It agreed in essential points with a portion of Breen's testimony. Breen had held of two meetings on January 18, with Atteaus at the corner of Washington and Franklin streets, at the second of which Atteaus had dropped a package containing $800, the first installment in payment for the "planting". Pira said that his passenger made two trips to Franklin and Washington streets on the same evening, meeting a tall man each time. The witness was unable positively to identify Atteaus as his passenger or Breen as the person who met, although Pira testified that he was quite positive that no package was dropped by his passenger, or picked up by the man keeping the appointment. Pira's story tended to corroborate the testimony of Orell A. Redding, a chauffeur formerly in Wood's employ, who has testified that on that night he took Atteaus in an automobile from the Boston Athletic Association club house to Wood's Anderson home. Pira's story placed the passenger at the Boston Athletic Association a little before the hour at which Hedding took Atteaus from the club house to Anderson.

THIRTEENTH WEEK OF PATERSON STRIKE IS OPENED WITH SUICIDE

Pateron, N. J., June 3.—The Pateron silk strike yesterday unmarked by any general break in the ranks of idle operatives. A few stragglers returned. There was no attempt to interfere with them. Abraham Elman, a weaver, committed suicide when the broad silk weavers did not return to their looms. His wife went to New York to visit their five children, who were recently taken there by the Industrial Workers of the World, and are being taken care of by charitable persons. She returned to find Elman dead in the bathroom. He had inhaled gas. Alexander Scott, editor of the Passaic Weekly, was placed on trial under an indictment charging him with publishing inflammatory statements and cartoons regarding the manner in which the Pateron police have dealt with the strike situation. The jury was completed and the trial adjourned until today. An explosion last night wrecked part of the house of Mrs. Marie Bestana, a broad silk weaver, who refused to strike because she needed wages to care for an invalid husband. Strikers and sympathizers had threatened her with "trouble" she told the police.
