Trueman, chairman of the New Brunswick Board of Public Utilities commissioners. ENJOYS NEW BRUNSWICK

That the scenery of New Brunswick was unequalled by that of the Berkshire Mountains of Massachusetts, or many other well known tourist resorts, was the opinion expressed yesterday afternoon by E. G. Smith, general manager of the Chronicle-Telegraph, of Quebec city, who arrived in the city by motor. Mr. Smith is touring the province and is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Dorothy, and his two young sons, Thomas and Benson.

GREAT TIME WAS ENJOYED AT BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

St. Jude's Lads Won Their Badges in Various Tests

The St. Jude's Boy Scouts and Cubs, who returned from their annual camp at Long Island late last week, had a most enjoyable two weeks' outing. Rev. J. H. A. Holmes, who was camp chief, said that he had never taken a finer lot of boys to camp. There was not a single lad ill during the two weeks and all wanted to stay longer.

The residents of the island treated the boys splendidly. On Sunday, July 24, about 25 boys and residents paraded to the beach for a holy communion, service being conducted by Rev. Mr. Holmes at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fairweather. Another service was held later in the morning at the scout camp.

The camp was conducted on the Gillwell system. The quartermaster was Patrol Leader Hubert Crossley, with William Edwards as assistant scoutmaster. Scoutmaster T. Albert Linton was in attendance at the camp when he was his business permitted.

MARKS MADE

In the various tests the points were keenly contested and were worked out on a percentage basis. Scout Donald Bagnell led the scouts, with an average of 82 per cent, with Scout Eric Shepherd second.

In the cub points, Charles Delaney, who recently belonged to a pack in Montreal, where he passed his Tenderfoot, was leader. While at camp he passed his Tenderfoot and passed his first Star Badge, thus getting one of his cub eyes opened. If the camp had lasted another day he would have had his second Star Badge, also. His average was 88 per cent. Second Star Cub Donald Linton was second in the club points, with 77 per cent. Sixty Jack Moore came a close third, with 74 per cent. Cubmaster Douglas A. McLennan had charge of the Wolf Cubs.

SCOUTS WIN BADGES

The scout badges gained at camp were as follows: Tenderfoot—Donald Shepherd and Gerard Van Dorser. Second Class—Eric Shepherd, James Peters, George Woodland, McDarren Perry, Raymond Murphy and Walter Taylor.

First Class—Hubert Crossley, Murray Crossley and Donald Bagnell. Starman's Badge—Hubert Crossley. Ambulance—Donald Bagnell. Pioneer's Badge—Donald Bagnell and Frank Dashwood.

Swimmer's Badge—Donald Bagnell, Ronald Evans, Eric Shepherd, Frank Dashwood, Gerard Van Dorser. Tenderfoot—Charles Delaney, George Logan.

First Star—Charles Delaney, Lennox

LETTERS TELL OF BRITISH TOUR OF N. B. TEACHERS

Joseph Harrington Writes Home of Excellent Experience Being Enjoyed

Letters received by a friend from Joseph Harrington, principal of the Cliff street boys' school, give personal endorsement of the cabled reports of the glorious experience the Lord Beaverbrook guest party of New Brunswick school teachers have been enjoying in their tour of Great Britain.

The voyage across the Atlantic on the C. P. liner Montserrat was one of the most comfortable and there was not a case of seasickness in the whole ship's company.

The service rendered the party by the C. P. R. officers both on the trip to Montreal and on board the Montserrat was all that could be desired. Ireland was sighted on the morning of July 9, and the ship anchored off Greenock that night about 10 o'clock, but it was clear as twilight that the trip was much longer in the old country than in Canada.

LAND JOURNEYING

References made to the tour of the party on land are in line with the reports that have been received in the cabled accounts of the journeying and sightseeing, and the meeting of people and places of importance in the motherland. Mr. Harrington's letters were accompanied by newspaper clippings showing the attention that the British press has been giving to the visit of the New Brunswick teachers.

In the Daily Express was published a picture of the party on board the Montserrat, and later one showing the teachers visiting Dryburgh Abbey, Berwickshire, which contains the tomb of Sir Walter Scott.

The teachers are now on the way home from Queenstown, Ireland, on the S.S. Melita.

A farewell banquet given in Killarney to the teachers, Lady Beaverbrook was presented with a massive solid silver casket bearing on its cover the Beaverbrook coat-of-arms. On the inside of the casket was the following inscription:

"To Lord and Lady Beaverbrook from the High School teachers of New Brunswick, who were their guests in the memorable tour of Great Britain and Ireland, July-August, 1926. A token of appreciation and affection."

HOSTESS LAUDED

A number of the visitors, including Justice Oswald S. Crockett, of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, delivered short addresses, stressing in the main the gracious and generous way in which Lady Beaverbrook conducted them during every hour of their extended visit. They were their guests in the main the gracious and generous way in which Lady Beaverbrook conducted them during every hour of their extended visit.

HEALY PAYS HOMAGE

Governor-General Healy in a brief farewell speech paid tribute to Lord Beaverbrook, who were their guests in the main the gracious and generous way in which Lady Beaverbrook conducted them during every hour of their extended visit.

He believed that from out of the tour would come much good to the British Empire. It was their pleasure to him and to the Irish people that the Irish Free State had been included in the itinerary of the Canadianists and he hoped that the educationists would not soon forget some of the glorious scenery through which they had passed among the hills of southern Ireland.

Viscount Castlereagh, also host to the overseas visitors during their stay in Ireland, was the Vancouver country seat near Killarney, which the teachers visited, is one of the most beautiful spots in the country.

BATHURST WOMAN FATALLY INJURED

Jumps From Wagon as Horse Bolts and Fractures Skull

BATHURST, Aug. 27.—Mrs. William Weale was the victim of a distressing fatality in West Bathurst on Saturday morning. She was driving through the suburb when her horse was frightened by a dog and ran away. With the horse and vehicle traveling at a great rate of speed Mrs. Weale jumped to save herself but she lost her balance and struck the ground on her head and the wheel of the wagon passed over her. She sustained a fractured skull from which she died in hospital an hour later without regaining consciousness.

The unfortunate woman came here from Fredericton only about a month ago with her husband to manage the large property, known as the Model Farm, owned by the Gloucester Lunatic and Trading Company. She was on her way to the depot en route to Chatham when the accident occurred.

Dr. R. G. Duncan, coroner, viewed the remains and decided an inquest unnecessary.

TRUCK DRIVER FOOLS TRIO OF N. Y. BAUDITS

Shoots Two Before Robbers Are Able to Seize Alcohol

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A plucky truck driver frustrated a daring day-long attempt to seize his truck-load of 20 barrels of alcohol at 171st street and Webster avenue, the Bronx, by shooting two of the three hold-up men, drawing from them a trail of blood by which the trio were easily traced to their hiding place and captured without a struggle. Two are in Fordham Hospital. The third was not wounded. All are charged with felonious assault and robbery. The alcohol was being legally delivered.

The wounded men and their companion had taken refuge in the third floor apartment of Mrs. Solomon Schacter, in the Bronx, where they had found only Mrs. Schacter's two daughters, Anne, 15 years old, and Bertha, 12 years old. Anne fainted and was rescued by her younger sister. The thieves offered to pay the girls money to hide them, made the frightened sisters bring the wounded men water, and used bed linen and even the girls' dresses to staunch the flow of blood from their wounds.

Neither the police nor officials of the Arrow Service Corporation, which owned the truck, would reveal the identity of the courageous and quick-shooting truck driver. Detectives told newspaper men to call him Sam Markowitz, saying that to publish his name and address would mean that he would be "bumped off before morning" by friends of the hold-up men, whom he identified after their capture.

FIRE WITHOUT DELAY

According to the truck driver, at 171st street and Webster avenue a car with three men drove up and forced him to the curb. The three men leaped out, and with their hands in their pockets, ordered him off his truck. But "Markowitz" expecting such an order, began firing at once. There was a small panic in the street as women and children ran for cover. The hold-up men ran also.

Markowitz' left his truck and gave chase, reloading his gun. He emptied it a second time, but lost sight of the fleeing men and gave up the pursuit.
