The time has come when Great Britain and her colonies must unite and thrive as the most powerful empire on the earth, or divide and be scattered to the four winds. True there is a fervent feeling or spirit of loyalty to the mother country in the colonies, but how long may it continue? Is Injurious to fruit trees Saturday night there was a slight fall of snow, which softened the crust, but gave the trees a greater burden to bear. On Sunday great limbs might be seen crashing to the ground. The oldest inhabitant does not remember seeing such an ice storm. The time may come, unless there is a closer union than that which now exists between us, when colonial loyalty will dwindle down to historical love, a kind of loyalty or affection not always to be relied on. Men have been thrown to withdraw their drawnoot form Acadia College. (SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SUN.) On Wednesday of last week, the day of prayer for leges was observed at Wolfville, three services being held, one at eleven in the college, conducted by known to withdraw their support from wealthy and well paying partnerships, de-stroy the concern, and forfeit a handsome President Sawyer, one in the vitlage at three, led by Dr. Higgins, and one at the college in the evening conducted by the students The attendance at all these meetings were good and an earnest desire was manifested that spiritual endowment might be given to those who are to be the intellectual leaders of the ome and fortune, simply because their names were not allowed to appear in public. If the constitution of the whole empire be thure. On Friday evening, the 29th ult, Jonathan F. Par-sons, B. A., of Halifax, lectured before Acadia Athe-naeum on "Opportunities Met or Made." Mr. Parsons is a very entertaining speaker and on this occasion he managed to give the students a good deal of sound advice in a very agreeable way. The attendance at Wolfville is at present very en-couraging, over 200 in all being at the institutions. not changed very soon our high spirited colonial statesmen may some of these days advocate independence of the colonies. If such event ever comes about the fate of the empire will be doomed. There are opposed to Imperial Federation two schools of political philosophers—the independent school who go in for independ-ence of the colonies, and the let-alone school who go in for remaining as we now are. To Upper Maugerville. A correspondent writing on the 29th ult. says : my mind the philosophy of the independent school is suicidal, that of the let-alone school non-remedial. At first thought the indehail storm has been in progress here for the last 36 hours. Over six inches has fallen, which is almost non-remedial. At first thought the inde-pendent philosophy seems plausible, but after a second thought its plausibility verges itself into an incoasistent dream. It is a most delusive fallacy to compare a colony entering, today, upon its national infant-hood with 5,000,000 of scattered people, to England in the dark ages. At that time England, although she had but a few mil-lion people, was in a better condition than any of her foreign fivals.
