MACHINERY IN MUCH DEMAND

Scarcity of Labor and Incres ed Production Some of the Reasons.

IN NEAR FUTURE

(McDOUGALL & COWAN.)

New York, March 23.—Owing to the growing and acute scarcity of farm labor it is reported from well informed channels that the demand for agricultural machinery is growing to large proportions in view of the efforts of the government to increase the output of crops. This is arousing a new inquiry for the agricultural machinery stocks which, like the equipments, may look forward to several years of great prosperity.

Chesapeake and Ohlo is forging to front, in the estimation of conservative sources, as one of the best managed railroads in the country. Since the taking over of the system from the Hawley interests, a scientific policy has been followed to a degree that C. and O. can easily divert from earnings to capital account a sum proportionately large.

The stock is being absorbed for investment account in steadily increasing volume. In some quarters of the street it is held that the hesitation in all markets has been due in part to an uncertainty as to what is going to be done with regard to the non-essentials, especially with regard to labor, and the conviction seems to be growing that they must face an uncertainty as the market has been due in part to an uncertainty as to what is going to be done with regard to labor, and the conviction seems to be growing that they must face an uncertainty as the market has been due in part to an uncertainty as to what is going to be done with regard to labor, and the conviction seems to be growing that they must face an uncertainty as the market has been due in part to an uncertainty as to what is going to be done with regard to labor, and the conviction seems to be growing that they must face an uncertainty as the market has been due in part to an uncertainty as to what is going to be done with regard to labor, and the conviction seems to be growing that they must face an uncertainty as the market has been due in part to an uncertainty as to what is going to be done with regard to the non-easentials, especially with regard to the non-easentials, especially with regard to the non-easentials. Since the facing and the can be an uncertainty as the market has been general can be put to the put to the non-easent proportion and the care and the c growing that they must face an un-usually drastic curtailment. It is ex-pected in investment channels of the first grade that bonds in many cases will decline sharply should investment institutions decide that third Liberty institutions decide that third Liberty loan interest in rate is discriminatory. There is a difference of opinion on the point as to whether or not stocks would participate in such recession. "If the policy of the government, as now seems to be the tendency, is to make the railroads self-supporting by raising freight rates, it will be looked upon in conservative banking channels
