them, so were not thinking very seriously about our correspondence, but we would sure be pleased to answer immediately if they would write again. To change the subject, we have just arrived home from a delightful vacation at Minaki, to prepare for our return to college at the termination of a few more happy weeks. The scenery at Minaki is most picturesque, the air is very exhilarating, and the boating is charming, especially when the canoe capsize as it did with us one evening, but fortunately we are both good swimmers. Well, must say good-bye for the present, wishing editor, W.H.M. and all readers every success. We remain, as before.

Dear Editor:—I shall be pleased to join your happy circle. What a nice way this is of getting acquainted, and

All Would be Well

Georgetown, Fla., July 29, 1913.

Dear Editor:—Would the members of your happy circle welcome a lonely bachelor girl from the Southland? Long have I been a silent admirer of the W.H.M., and since becoming a subscriber I am asking space for a few words. The magazine is both delightful and instructive. I enjoy every page, but the letters of the correspondence club expressing the different views and opinions of the writers are highly interesting, for in them one catches a glimpse of the real character of the man or woman. There are it seems many subjects discussed, and problems are brought here to solve, among them that of a young girl, whose letter appears in the July number. I am indeed sorry for any young lady of twenty years who has marred her beautiful god-given character by receiving and telling untruthful things to a dear mother. I do think it is a grave mistake made by many what a power for good our influence may have on those who read. Let us do all the good we can to all the people we can. I have lived in the West for over twenty years, and only once in that time have I visited the place of my birth, that is, dear old Ontario. There is something very alluring and fascinating about the prairie life that calls us back to where life seems more free and open, and the great opportunities that are open to all energetic young men to get a start in life and win a home. Now I would like to introduce a new subject, and a very important one. What constitutes an ideal man or an ideal woman? I shall endeavor to give you a picture of my ideal woman. She will be a true Christian, active in Christian work; be healthy, have a good education, be musical, a good singer, a tidy housekeeper, dress plain but neat, height about 5ft. 6in., weight 136lbs., dark or golden hair, black or blue eyes, a clear fair complexion, good looking, pleasant, kind and sympathetic disposition, highly respected, a lover of children and a great respecter of old people, a lover of nature and outdoor life. Now girls, let us have a picture of an ideal man. Correspondence welcome.

parents to allow their children no freedom or pleasure in young people's society. Perhaps it does cause the downfall of many sweet young lives which with the right training, sympathy and love would now be bringing joy and helpfulness to the world. If "Young Sufferer" will come in closer touch with her mother, and strive with God's help to overcome those evil habits she has formed all will be well. With the request that some of those jolly bachelors who are not too young and frivolous, and young ladies as well if they are not too much interested in others to care to write, seek my address, and write once in a while to

Influence

Manitoba, August 13, 1913.

Dear Editor:—I have been a reader of your paper for several years, and enjoy it very much. I have read a great many letters in the correspondence columns, and I think of late they have been more interesting. For instance, Fern's letter in the May issue opens up a very broad subject, and one that a great many pass over too lightly, that is our influence—or, as spoken of in the
