FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1886.

Hudson Bay shares and Northwest Land in London remain unchanged.

The Queen City Paper and Penitentiary Company, No. 30 King Street West, has received a large consignment of choice "name" and are selling at wholesale prices.

Davidson & Kiley, 68 Sherbourne street, are prepared to fill orders for carpenter work and general repairs. They can make and repair any good material and execute all exterior painting.

The newly-opened grocery department of the Oaklands Jersey Dairy, Yonge street, will be fully described as a perfect gem. The decoration throughout has been in the hands of Mr. Macmillan, who has given it a unique and artistic taste in every part of the work, the result being a most inviting and comfortable room for the preparation of the famous products of this dairy. Other furnishings, such as tables, chairs, etc., are also to be had, to be added to the appointments of the ice cream parlor, which will soon be second to none in the city.

The new building has the marks notocut to interrupt it.

The creditors of the estate of James Lantz, the late proprietor of the Royal Hotel, have been presented by E. R. Clark, the assignee, with a balance of $20,000, with nominal interest, to be paid over in monthly instalments of $1,000. A few cheques have still been sent.
