Development

We are becoming accustomed to statistics of development. When you speak of a Canadian industry, you speak of progress. Only a few years ago many journals were foretelling that the cement industry in this country had no future before it. Time has proved how incorrect was this prophecy. Since 1901, the Canadian production of cement has increased from 317,066 barrels to 2,119,764 barrels, or 568 per cent. In the past twelve months alone, the Canadian production increased 57 per cent. The cement plants of Canada have orders for the coming season's output booked already.

Whether you consider the cement industry from the view point of the capitalist or of one interested in the general welfare of the country, it behoves you to know something about an industry which has made such vast strides in so short a time. There is only one journal in Canada devoted to the subject. This is the Canadian Cement and Concrete Review. It deals with cement and concrete construction in every branch. It is printed on fine art paper, and is profusely illustrated. It is edited in such a way that it is alike interesting to the builder, the contractor, the engineer and the general reader.

The eighth number, now ready, contains, amongst others, the following articles:

The Cement Industry of Ontario.

New Grain Elevator at Goderich.

Montreal and its Fire Losses.

Some Systems of Reinforcement.

Cement and Concrete in the West.

News and Notes of the Industry Throughout the Dominion.
