Irish Love-Song.

BY ALFRED PERCIVAL GRAVES

Ah! swan of tenderness, dove of tenderness, Jewel of joys, arise! The little red lark, like a rosy spark Of song, to his sunburst flies; But till you are risen earth is a prison, Full of my captive sighs; Then wake and discover to your fond lover The morn of your matchless eyes.

The dawn is dark to me; hark, Oh! hark to me,
Pulse of my heart, I pray,
And gently gliding out of thy hiding,
Dazzle me with thy day!
And Oh! I'll fly to thee, singing, and sigh to Passion so sweet and gay, The lark shall listen, and dew drops 'glisten, Laughing on every spray.

NEWS FROM IRELAND.

DUBLIN.

Dec. 9th, Mr. Parnell presiding. He stated that he had conferred with Mr. landlord people. stated that he had conferred with Mr. Shaw, M. P., with regard to the improvement of the National representation at the forthcoming general election. The result had been most satisfactory to him. Mr. Shaw, M. P., then addressing the council, confirming Mr. Parnell's statement, and expressed the pleasure he felt at the harmony developing in the interchange of opinions between Mr. Parnell and himself, and the prospect of valuable gains to the Irish National cause of the next election. Several speakers expressed their satisfaction at the statement, and it their satisfaction at the statement, and it was resolved to apply their united de-voted energies to the advancement of the Home Rule party both in the number of its representatives and those qualities which should be exerted by the representatives of the people in order to command or deserve success.

There is now residing in Dublin a family consisting of father and mother and twenty-two children all living and well. It consists of seven sons and fifteen daughters, none of whom are twins. The mother is well and hearty, and the father—just two years short of one hundred (98)—as hale and erect a man as one could wish to see; and they can boast of fifty-three grandchildren.

KILKENNY.

Chief Justice Morris presided on Dec. 10th in the County Court-house, Kilkenny, and resumed the business of the Leinster Winter Assizes. He was engaged a great part of the day in trying a charge of manslaughter against a young man named Daniel Ryan, who, it was alleged, fractured the skull of a man named Timothy Hickey, near the town of Tipperary. The case, which had some peculiar features, resulted in a verdict of not guilty. Some cases of lesser interest was also taid. were also tried.

CARLOW.

A priest, writing to the Dublin Freeman A priest, writing to the Dublin Freeman from Hacketstown, on Dec. 9th, says:—
"I fear it looks like the beginning of the end when we see, in one of the so-called model counties of Ireland, absolute distress already staring the people in the face. In the village of Hacketstown, county Carlow, as I write, there are crowds of able-bodied men standing shivering and hungry in the streets; and they are only the representatives of a larger crowd of women and children dispersed through the lanes of the village.

At the Winter Assizes in Dublin, on December 9, James Monaghan, a respect-able looking farmer from Meath, was tried for firing at a bailiff, named Brady, on the 24th November. The prisoner was under eviction for non-payment of rent, and it was alleged that the reason he fired at the prosecutor was because the latter had refused to say a good word for him to the landlord. The defence was that

KING'S COUNTY.

Reginald Digby, Geashill Castle, agent to Lord Digby, who owns the largest estate in the King's County, on Dec. 12th, informed the constabulary that he received an anonymous letter warning him, as he valued his life, not to press the tenantry for their rents. There has been some agitation on the estate. Lord Digby's reduction of 10, 15, and 20 per cent, according to the rental, not being cheerfully accepted, meetings were held, but no change in the abstements made. The rents were received, and out of nearly 600 tenants disclaim all knowledge of the matter. The police are making inquiries, but no arrests have been made.

CORK.

A meeting of the committee appointed at the distress meeting lately addressed by Mr. Shaw, M. P., at Bandon, was held on Dec. 8, at which it was announced that several landlords in the district were applying for loans to enable their tenants to carry out works on their estates. It was decided to write to all landlords in the district, calling their attention to the faili trict, calling their attention to the facili-ties now afforded for obtaining loans; and a resolution was passed calling the atten-tion of the Board of Guardians to the advisability of carrying out works under the Public Health Act. It was stated that the tenants hesitated about getting loans, fearing that when they had the lands improved the rent would in consequence be raised.

On December 9th, Dr. N. C. White, Mallow Union was held, On December 9th, Dr. N. C. White, Dublin, City Coroner, held an inquest on the body of Bridget Flanagan, aged 64 years, a domestic servant, who died at Stevens' Hospital. It appeared that on the 7th, in the evening, deceased was lighting a candle in the bedroom of the house where she was employed—namely, Mrs. Stone's residence, beyond the second lock of the Grand Canal. The curtains of one of the windows accidentally took fire, and in trying to extinguish the flames the clothes of the deceased were also set on fire. She received severe burns on the arms, legs, and body, and she was removed as quickly as possible to hospital, where she died as stated above. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death in accordance with the evidence.

There was a council meeting of the Guardians of the Mallow Union was held, on Dec. 9th, for the purpose of considering how relief can best be provided for the large number of unemployed laborers in the district. A large body of men from Buttevant were in attendance, and represented that they and their families were on the verge of starvation. They were not inclined to entea the workhouse, if it could at all be avoided. The Guadians came to the conclusion that they could do nothing for them, except to offer them admission to the workhouse. Lord Doneraile, Sir Denham Norreys, and other landowners in the union, took part in the proceedings, and from their statements it appeared that there is no prospect of private employment on any considerable scale being undertaken. The guardians resolved to carry out some death in accordance with the evidence.

There was a council meeting of the Home Rule League held in Dublin on Dec. 9th, Mr. Parnell presiding. He stated that he had conferred with Mr.

unrelieved. Referring to the State trials for sedition speeches on the land agitation, Mr. O'Shaughuessy declares the indict-ment unsustainable, and the authorities have been wrong, and had better honestly admit it, and drop the prosecution.

The weekly meeting of the Kilmallock Board of Guardians was held on Dec. 12th. About thirty able-bodied married men from Charieville attended to seek relief, from Charieville attended to seek relief, most of them stating that they had not had their breakfast that day. The Chairman informed them that outdoor relief could not be given, but that Lord Cork had applied to the Board of Works for a loan of £1,500 to commence drainage works on his property in and near Charieville, and that the other landlords would be applied to act in a like way. The men accepted the relief offered them in the workhouse. the relief offered them in the workhe About twenty-six men from Kilmallock also applied with the same result.

The deceased, who had formerly seen better days, was dependant on her neighbors for food and clothing. Doctor Gray deposed that death resulted from cold, and a verdict to that effect was returned.

The sufferings of the poor of Lurgan through the present severe season, have been most severe, perticularly for want of fuel and clothing, and no steps are yet being taken to get up a coal fund, as in former years. former years. DONEGAL.

On Dec. 12th, while numerous skaters were on the broad sheet of ice at Ballyalla were on the broad sheet of ice at Ballyalla Lake, two miles from Ennis, a young man named James Irwin, from Donegal, aged 17, was drowned. He was a pupil of the Erasmus Smith's School in Ennis, and it appears that when skating over a spring, which many were cautioned against going near, he suddenly went down. One young gentleman, Mr. Griffin, attempted to rescue him, but failed.

GALWAY.

On Dec. 6th, a young man named Kerin Murray, land bailiff to William Cotter Kyle, Esq., Dublin, was attacked by some twenty or thirty of Mr. Kyle's tenants when he was serving them with ejectments at Clonfad, three miles from Ballinasloe. A week or two before, the tenants on Mr. Kyle's property, parish of Moore, petitioned their landlord for a reduction of rent, which request was ac-ceded to by the offer of an abatement of 20 per cent. on the year's rent due to the 1st of November last. This was refused by the tenants, who demanded an abatement of 25 per cent. and a further re-duction to Griffith's valuation. Mr. Kyle refused this demand, and hence the refused this demand, and hence the serving of the ejectments. When the bailiff (Murray) had served Mr. W. E. Duffy, P. L. G., and a few other tenants, he was met by a score or so of the tenantry, who threw missiles at him, tore the ejectment of presented by a serving any ments, and prevented his serving any more on the tenants. The police of the Clonfad barracks witnessed the attack, but made no arrests.

On Dec. 10th a farmer named Laurence Carty, while returning home from Loughrea, was attacked by four men at Cottage, near Loughrea. It appears the assailants were aware Carty had some money in his possession, and when he arrived at Cottage one of the attacking party struck him in the breast with a barof iron, and the other three robbed him of £17. After Carty had recovered from the attack he was taken to Loughrea, but was unable to identify any of the men. No arrests have been made. Carty lies in a very precarious state. Another far-mer named Michael Murphy was robbed of a large sum of money while returning home on the same evening from Loughrea. He states that while crossing a field some
