

ATHENS REPORTER
TUESDAY AFTERNOON
B. LOVERIN
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

SUBSCRIPTION
1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE...

ADVERTISING
Business notices in local or news column...

MINISTERS AT ORANGEVILLE.

The answer of the Conservative Government to the Conservative Government to the Conservative Government...

The present high tariff which took from the farmers an undue amount of taxation...

The Grand Rally. Owing to the threatening aspect of the weather the meeting intended to be held in the open...

Mr. J. F. Wood, M.P., Comptroller of Inland Revenue, defended the National Policy from the standpoint of his department...

THE SEAL QUESTION. Resumption of the Court and the Argument by Sir Charles Russell.

PARIS, May 31.—Before the Behring sea tribunal yesterday Sir Charles Russell continued his argument...

PARIS, May 30.—Sir Charles Russell continued his argument in behalf of the British case yesterday before the Behring sea tribunal of arbitration...

PARIS, May 29.—In his argument before the Behring sea tribunal yesterday Sir Charles Russell disputed the American contention...

PARIS, May 28.—The Behring sea tribunal resumed yesterday and Sir Charles Russell continued his argument...

A Mistake somewhere. Editor.—You have been told that the original Mr. Chestnut is a humorous writer...

We are both anxious to see the big Chicago fair. We are glad to see a "blatant" for the rights they should have...

SALLY DOWNS
AN AFTER-WAR ROMANCE
OF THE SOUTH
BY BRET HARTE

Copyright, 1892, by the Author.

A man's nerve in the web, but she knew I could do as well as stand by my folks...

With what was passing in Courtland's mind, the question seemed to him to be not about 'her'...

He leaned half anxiously forward, lowered his eyes slightly and dragged his chair nearer Courtland...

"I've lost my glove somewhere," she said, hurriedly. "I know I have no right to ask the question, but has Mr. Champney anything to do with your decision?"

"Then this sectional interference does not touch him," said Courtland, bitterly. "No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

ward girl she is. She didn't think he had about 'her' anything of the kind...

With what was passing in Courtland's mind, the question seemed to him to be not about 'her'...

He leaned half anxiously forward, lowered his eyes slightly and dragged his chair nearer Courtland...

"I've lost my glove somewhere," she said, hurriedly. "I know I have no right to ask the question, but has Mr. Champney anything to do with your decision?"

"Then this sectional interference does not touch him," said Courtland, bitterly. "No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

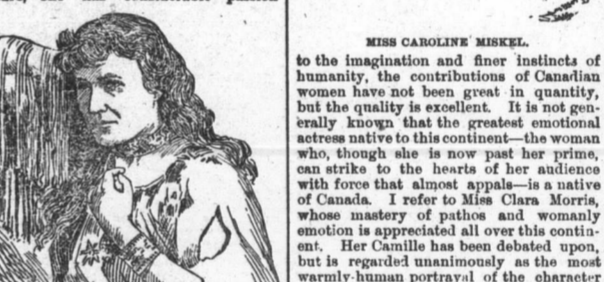

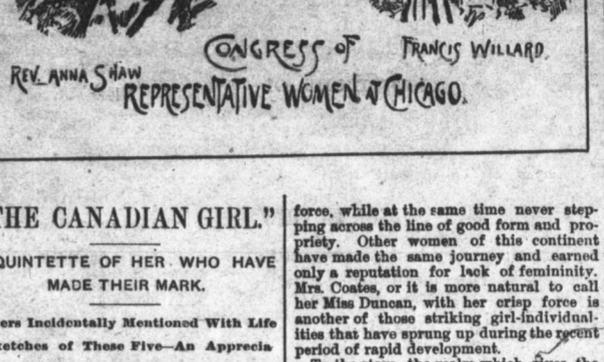

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

"No, he's an Englishman; his father was a known friend of the confederacy, and bought their cotton bonds. She stopped, gazing into Courtland's face with a pretty, but vague impatience and a slight pouting of her lip."

O'Donahoe Bros.
BUSY AS NAILERS
DRESS GOODS
are a study with us. We have the latest novelties at the lowest prices.

Window shades from 50c up, with rollers and all complete. Lace Curtains 50c per pair. Special bargains in Window Shades and Oil Cloths.

Stylish millinery at half price. Greatest bargains in ladies' parasols from 50c up. Good value for the price in every case.

O'Donahoe Bros.
Telephone 109. BROCKVILLE, ONT.

Lyn Woollen Mills

Have a good stock of genuine all-wool Yarn and Cloth, will be prepared to sell the same at moderate prices, and will as all times be prepared to pay the highest market price for wool in cash or trade.

GRAND CENTRAL BAZAAR
BIGG'S BLOCK

The Largest Emporium in Brockville CONSISTING OF.....

The Bradford Warehouse, Crystal Hall

The Fair.

Everything in Stock From a Needle to an Anchor
And at Prices that Defy Competition.

PUBLIC NOTICE
THE excellent value of our Presents on $25.00 Purchases, having given such complete satisfaction, we have determined to continue the gift enterprise for three months longer, therefore save all your Bills and we will redeem them when the aggregate reaches $25.00

E. A. BIGG & CO
P. S.—Quotations on leading lines next week.

MEMBRAY'S KIDNEY & LIVER CURE
A Preparation of Herbs and Roots of the Medical Properties of which are universally known.

THE CANADIAN GIRL
A QUINETTE OF HER WHO HAVE MADE THEIR MARK.

Others incidentally mentioned with Life Sketches of These Five—An Appreciative Estimate of Their Characters and Ability—Speculations as to Her Future.

Miss Pauline Johnson has a heritage of aboriginal characteristics which make her the most Canadian of Canadian girls.

Miss Caroline Miskel, to the imagination and instinct of her kind, the contributions of Canadian women have not been great in quantity, but the quality is excellent.

Miss Paula Johnson, of humanity, especially for French-Canadian humanity, with all its romance and simplicity.

Miss Julia Arthur, Ontario, who with a short stage experience has become the leading lady of A. M. Palmer's Stock Company in New York, is another instance.

Miss Edith Kingston, now wife of the possessor of the late Jay Gould's millions. She left the stage at the very dawn of her artistic development.

Miss Sarah Jeannette Duncan, the author of "A Social Departure" and "An American Girl in London." Her achievements are exactly typical of her nationality and training.

Miss Helen Merrill, of Pictou, a short lyric and "Sweet Wanda" written on the celebrated sand dunes of Prince Edward county, and published obscurely in a work on the exalted things that the Canadian girl has done, the writer's task would be indeed vast.

Miss Edith Kingston, now wife of the possessor of the late Jay Gould's millions. She left the stage at the very dawn of her artistic development.

Miss Sarah Jeannette Duncan, the author of "A Social Departure" and "An American Girl in London." Her achievements are exactly typical of her nationality and training.