WARM ROAST FOR LAURIER

English Press Condemns
His Cheap Demagogism
in Attacking the
G. O. C.

Lord Dunsford Will Not Resign—
Most Popular Commander Canadians Ever Had.

Ottawa, Cne, June 12.—It is understood that at Saturday's Cabinet council the Dunsford episode was under discussion, but whatever decision was come to, there was no announcement forthcoming when council broke up. It is the general impression among those politically interested that the Government has declined to force too far in Mr. Fisher's desire to resign at this stage, that there is nothing left but to ask for his recall, Lord Dunsford himself having, as his statement shows, declined to come to the relief of the minister by resigning. The probabilities are that the decision of the Government will not be made public for some days, and then by official announcement in the House. The delay, it is calculated, will give time for public excitement over the issue to subside.

"I have not resigned and I have no intention of resigning," was Lord Dunsford's reply to a correspondent Saturday evening.

LAURIER'S CHEAP DEMAGOGISM.
London, June 11.—The Globe says: Without entering into the unfortunate dispute of Lord Dunsford and the Canadian Government, it is certainly desirable to utter a protest against such language as Premier Laurier permitted himself to use. To say "He must learn that this is a responsible Government, and that in Canada they are not accustomed to being dragged down by the tail of a gross indiscretion, such as the late Sir John A. Macdonald would never have been guilty of. Premier Laurier may feel the necessity of conciliating certain interests in Canada, which he has better disregard, but he will not strengthen his position by attacking in an unmanly way the most popular commander the Canadian militia ever had."

The Daily Graphic says: "Mr. Fisher seems to be a curious mixture of ideas on the subject of political scandal. It is obvious that such a system prevailing makes Lord Dunsford's task an impossible one, and it is his right, indeed his duty, to protest in the strongest possible way. The fact, however, is to be regretted, but we can only imagine that he convinced himself that in no other way could the force he so ably commands be saved from the demoralizing influence of politicians."

EARL GREY

It is Announced That he Will Succeed
Lord Minto as Governor General.

London, June 11.—It is announced that Earl Grey, Lord Lieutenant of Northumberland, has been appointed to succeed the Earl of Minto as Governor-General of Canada.

Earl Grey is a brother-in-law of Lord Minto. The latter's term does not expire until October, so the official announcement of Earl Grey's appointment will not be made for some time.

Albert Henry George Grey is the fourth Earl, and a grandson of the Earl of Grey, who was prominent in the British political life of the century. He was born in 1813, is a son of Gen. Hon. Charles Grey, and brother of Lady Minto. He was elected to the Commons in 1880, and held a seat till 1886. He has been Lord Lieutenant of Northumberland since 1899, is a director of the British South Africa Company, and was administrator of Rhodesia 1896-7. Earl Grey was one of the executors and trustees under Cecil Rhodes' will. The Earl is the originator of the Public House Trust movement in Britain, having for its object the control of public houses, running them in such a way as to eliminate the element of private profit from the sale of intoxicating liquors and providing counter attractions to the bar in reading and recreation rooms. Earl Grey has an estate of seventeen thousand acres in Northumberland, and the Countess, a daughter of Robt. Hoiford, M. P., of Gloucestershire, is considered one of the most beautiful of English peeresses.

ROASTS THE STREET SHOW

But Says Children's Parade
Was an Inspiration and a Treat.

Rev. Mr. Hoyt Gives His Views of the Old Boys' Reunion—Some Pointed Comments.

"Some things I saw at the Old Boys' Reunion."

Such was the subject of Rev. J. W. Hoyt's discourse at William St. Baptist church last night to a large congregation.

The reverend gentleman selected his text from Proverbs 24 and the 32nd verse, "Then I saw and considered it well." "In thirty minutes it would be an utter impossibility to tell all I saw at the six days of the Reunion," began Mr. Hoyt. "Then were many things I might have never seen but didn't. It would have been infinitely better for the reputation and morality of our beautiful little city had many of the things not occurred. What we saw on King street was a disgrace to our town."

"None don't think that I speak against old boys' reunions. I have not a word to say against them. There is much to be said in their favor. There were many things that appealed to us all but why in the world for the sake of making old boys and girls to come home should degrading and disgraceful affairs, as we saw on our main street, be allowed."

"It is well nigh time good moral people had spoken out against it. I would like to have a better opinion of the old boys and girls of Chatham than to think that they took part in some of the things I saw. If they were old boys and girls then all I can say is may God have mercy on them and the houses. But it is my opinion that the foulest and worst were followers of the fair."

"Many business men spoke to me saying they were sick of such a disgrace in front of their places of business. There were many things I saw that I dare not mention. "What else? Was there anything that appealed to the aesthetic qualities, anything to inspire the soul? Yes, I answer quickly. Yes, the boys and girls. I saw a sight that I never want to forget. It was most inspiring and helpful to see 1500 school children with happy faces and waving flags led by the 48th Highlanders' Band. My heart stirred within me. I can tell them now there is nothing that stirs me more deeply than hopeful childhood."

"I considered them and the thought came, where will they end? Where shall they know their destiny? In ten years half the boys and girls of that parade will be holding the positions of the world to-day. What influences will they wield and how will their powers be turned? There is girls, if put in the right direction, to turn the world upside down."

The speaker instanced the work of many great men and women who had started when children and showed that the influence of the home and the parents has with an occasional exception, all to do with the destinies of the boys and girls.

"The boys and girls think," continued the reverend speaker, "that just whatever their papa and mamma do is right. The children can be taught patriotism in the schools but morality and religion must be taught in the homes."

Rev. Mr. Hoyt spoke of the desecration of the Sabbath and the effect on the boys and girls. He said that the Sabbath was being desecrated more and more every day. He spoke of the trust God has put in us to bring the children up in the right way and said, "Just as the influence is, so will the result be."

The choir, under the direction of Miss Blanche Baxter, rendered excellent music.

MUST CARRY LIGHT

Relative to the recent accidents which have been threatened on the river in the evening by boats not carrying lights, the following enactment speaks for itself.—
Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, May 15th, 1904.

Circular.—Owners, masters or persons in charge of small vessels, such as pleasure yachts, steam, gasoline, naphtha, electric and other motor launches or row-boats, under way or at anchor, in all waters frequented by other vessels, are hereby notified that they must comply with the rules imposed by Chap. 79, Revised Statutes of Canada, entitled "An Act respecting navigation of Canadian waters for preventing collisions," especially as regards the lights to be shown. Attention is also directed to the penalty which the master, owner or person in charge, if in fault, shall incur, viz., "A sum not exceeding $200 and not less than $20, which penalty will be enforced if conviction is secured. Cases of violation of the rules, brought to the notice of the department, will be prosecuted according to law."

D. M. of M. & F.

BE SOLDIERS IN LIFE'S BATTLE

Rev. Mr. McGillivray's Fine
Address to the Men of 24th Regiment.

Splendid Service at the First Presbyterian Church—Excellent Music Provided.

The soldiers of the 24th Kent Regiment paraded yesterday morning and attended divine worship at the First Presbyterian Church. There was a good turnout and the Regiment made a splendid showing with their two bands, officers and men. Rev. A. H. McGillivray chose as his text "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." He said that life was often spoken of as a battle and that everyone at some time or other knew the price of that metaphor as applied to life. Those who were living in real earnest, knew that life was no mere parade or show but a sharp struggle. Where there was true life there was bound to be a struggle and the famous men who knew what it was to climb also knew what it was to fall.

Continuing, Mr. McGillivray pointed out some of the causes of the battles of life. He said that there never would be true temperance until the meaning of true temperance was recognized and that was self-control. Zeal for temperance was often in itself intemperance. Many defeats would be exacted by those who took part in the battles of life, unless they first subdued their will and brought it into subjection to the Master.

The soldiers present might not be called upon to serve their country, but God was calling them every day to obey his orders. Christ needed soldiers and never did he need soldiers more than to-day. Special music was rendered by the choir and Miss Edna Martin rendered the splendid cantata solo, "Beat in the Lord." E. B. Arthur, the talented organist of the First Presbyterian Church, presided over the musical program and during the offertory, rendered an excellent organ solo.

On the return of the soldiers to the drill shed, Lt.-Col. Rankin, K. C., addressed his men and said that the trip to Wallaceburg had been arranged and wouldn't cost the members of the Regiment anything. He also said that an effort would be made to have Colonel Peters make his inspection on that day.

ONE YEAR

Faubert Receives Sentence for Perjury—May Secure Ticket of Leave.

John Faubert was sentenced to one year in the Central Prison this morning on a charge of perjury. There was also a suspended sentence against the prisoner. Judge Houston remarked that people pay little attention to suspended sentences and once they are released never bother about having the sentence removed. Then when they come up on another charge the suspended sentence is still registered against them.

The Crown Attorney asked that leniency be shown the prisoner. W. G. Richards also made an appeal for the prisoner. The prisoner's counsel painted in glowing colors the bright June morning and the spirit of kindness it should instill of man towards man.

Judge Houston said that he would like to deal more leniently with the prisoner than it was in his power to do. He had inflicted the smallest possible sentence that he could in accordance with the crime. If proper representations were made he thought that Faubert could get out on ticket of leave. Faubert got into his present trouble in an effort to get his brother and brother-in-law clear of a charge of attempting to break into James Jenkins' clothing store. He broke down completely, however, when he received his sentence and wept bitterly. He declared that he didn't care anything for himself, but his wife and two children were left without a home.

DIED AT ST. CATHARINES

The death occurred in St. Catharines of Mr. Gilleland, brother of James Gilleland, a former Chatham young man and vocalist. Deceased was a lawyer and had just completed his course and was starting up in business when he was taken ill. He was forced to take a trip for his health and he died before he returned. This is the third death which has occurred in this family during the past year, the father and a sister having preceded the present one. Deceased was working hard to take up his father's law practice in St. Catharines and it is supposed that his death was brought on by over-study. James is at present travelling with a surveying party in the Northwest. The family are greatly respected in St. Catharines, where they have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.
