Robertson Praises Percheron Horse
Finest Animal In The West

The exhibit of horses at the fair was particularly strong. Admiring and critical throngs stood all the time before the sheds where the prize winners were displayed, studying the points of the big work horses and the playful colts, and later, the sleek-limbed race horses.

D. C. Robertson, of Edmonton, in judging, frequently took occasion to drop a few remarks of educational value to the horsemen, in a kindly way he would point out any defect in an animal exhibited and explained why one animal came nearer to the class type than another.

One animal he praised very highly. This was the 3 year old Percheron stallion "Leader" belonging to A. Pitcher. Mr Robertson commented upon its typical feet and legs, and straight action, and declared it was the finest animal of its breed in western Canada. This stallion was an easy winner in the 3 year old class, and also carried off the sweepstakes over all Percherons.

Primary Fair

The first stake Primary Fair of the Alberta Stake was held in the Cardston Assembly Hall on Friday last. It was successful from every point of view, and will be long remembered as one of the most beautiful displays ever seen in Alberta.

Each ward of the stake was represented by its special stand, which contained the different exhibits made by the Primary children.

Entering the hall, the first to greet your eyes were the beautiful booths, and the striking and artistic arrangements of the exhibits.

Mountain View and Leavitt, were represented in the southeast corner of the hall. The booth was tastefully decorated with white curtains and colored tissue paper, and contained exhibits of artificial flowers, watercolors, drawings, patchwork, sofa cushions, centre pieces, dressed dolls, etc.

Next came the beautiful decorated Candy Booth, in charge of which were Mrs. Laurie and Mrs. Carlson. These ladies were kept very busy throughout the day, supplying the demands of the children.

A little further along was the Cardston Booth. This was tastefully decorated with roses, evergreens, and colored tissue paper. The exhibits were along the same line as that of Mt. View and Leavitt, except there was considerably more fancy needle work.

In the southwest corner was the Curio Booth, which was decorated and covered with samoa cloth. The exhibits were very interesting most of them coming from the Pacific Islands. Two of its unique Principal J. W. Low (worn by him when he was a boy) and a basket of kittens exhibited by Miss Rebecca Brown. This young lady had been told, in connection with the other children to bring to the fair anything she had raised, and so she brought the kittens.

Across the hall, in the northwest corner was the Stake Booth. This was decorated with white curtains and made a striking appearance. The exhibits were made by the stake officers, and consisted chiefly of all kinds of needle work. This was the only booth in the hall which sold its exhibits, and the ladies were kept very busy disposing of them.

Next came the Kimbail and Aina booths. The first was decorated with red, white and blue streamers, trimmed with red bells, while the second was decorated with white curtains, and red and green tissue paper. The exhibits were along the same line as the other booths.

Following these was the exhibit of vegetables grown by the boys and a display of pastry and preserves made by the girls. Talk about vegetables? We found them in all their grandeur. Sweet cabbages, turnips, citrons, cucumbers, beans, potatoes, tomatoes, white carrots, red carrots, beets, cauliflower, and onions we have never seen before, and there were as fine and large and appetizing as anything the Dominion could boast of. The girls also showed their ability in the good display of butter, bread, cakes, fruits and preserves. It all "looked good enough to eat" and the judges passed upon this undoubtedly and not find it useful to go to London that day.

The Caldwell exhibit came next. White curtains constituted decorations on the booth. The display consisted of Wax fruit.
