MISCELLANEOUS.
ORGANS OF COMBATIVENESS.—During the Dorr war in Rhode Island, a bill was brought in to "organise the army." This aroused from sleep an old man in the corner, who represented a town in the western part of the State. "Mr. Speaker," says he, "I tell you I am decidedly opposed to organizing the army, as you call it. Our forefathers fit through the revolution with nothing but a drum and life, and come off first best too! I go agin organs. They'll be dreadful onhandy things in battle, now I tell you!" This was irresistible, and old "Auntie Rhody's army" remains unorganized to this day.

THE IMAGE OF HIS FATHER.—On the birth of the seventh son, all the women came rushing to see the infant, and congratulate the happy parents upon the event. Our friend anticipated the visit, and instead of having the child prepared for it, made the servant bring in a sucking pig, and dressed it up in swaddling clothes, and covering up its face, he laid it in the same place the real child should have occupied. The ladies were introduced to the apartment, and gently approaching the bed, the coverings were turned down, and a portion of the face of the little grunter was exposed. "Bless my soul!" said one of the ladies, "what a remarkable child!" "So very interesting!" said the second. "And so good natured!" observed the third, as she commenced toying with it. "And how very like his father!" remarked the fourth. They were all struck with the observation, and exclaimed:—"The very image of his father!" The flattered parent rushed out of the room convulsed with laughter, leaving the women to discover their mistake.

BREACH OF PROMISE.—A singular method of obtaining satisfaction for non-fulfilment of a marriage contract is delineated in a Mississippi paper. The disappointed swain has advertised the fair one, in order, as he says, to keep every honest man from being duped by her perfidy.

A HAPPY TURN.—"For what do you wink at me, sir?" said a beautiful young lady, angrily to a stranger, at a party, an evening or two since. "I beg your pardon, madam," replied the wit, "I winked as men do looking at the moon—your splendour dazzled my eyes."

What is the worst kind of fare for a man to live in?—Warfare.
The following question is now before the Tillietudlum Debating Society:—"Is it wrong to cheat a lawyer?" It is expected that the answer will be—"No! but impossible."

A dancing master, in renewing his solicitations for patronage, wishes to express his obligations for past favours, when the printer made him say, "Most respectfully offers his shanks."

Lord North, who was very corpulent before a severe sickness, said to his physician after it, "Sir, I am obliged to you for introducing me to some old acquaintances." "Who are they, my lord?" inquired the doctor. "My ribs," replied his lordship, "which I have not felt for many years until now."

"A young apprentice to the shoemaking business asked his master what answer he should make to the oft-repeated question, "Does your master warrant his shoes?" "Answer, Tom?" says the master; "tell them that I warrant them to prove good; and if they do not, that I will make them good for nothing."

TEACH your children by language and precept never to wound a person's feelings because he holds a humble station in life—because he is poorly clad—because he is awkward—or because the God of nature has bestowed upon him a darker skin than theirs.

AN EXPEDIENT.—A dashing and fashionable widow says, she thinks of suing some gentleman for a breach of promise, in order that the world may know she is in the market.

DELICATE INQUIRY.—"An' is O'Flager-ty your name?" said Paddy to a new-made acquaintance. "Sure, I knew two ould maids in Tipperary by that name—but they weren't yer mother at all, was they?"

A MODEL DUN.—A Pennsylvania Yankee publishes the following advertisement:—"To Money-lenders and Speculators.—I want to pay my debts, and as the only means I can devise to get money without suing, I have resolved to expose at public sale, at the Court-house, on Tuesday, the second week of court (when there will be a good many politicians about), a large number of unsettled book accounts, and the like number of notes of various dates and amounts. A full and complete printed catalogue of the names, dates, and amounts will be distributed on the day of sale. Conditions, cash.—R. THORNTON.—N. B. The above accounts will be open for settlement until the day of sale."

SAM SLICK AND THE LADIES.—"Cousin John, how did your wife hurt her back so? I declare it makes me feel awfully to see what a hump she's got." With that cousin John looked at her, larfed a little, and arter a minute said, "Hush, cousin, you must not talk so loud; it's true, Mary has put on rather too much bustle, but it's the fashion you see." I looked round and as true as you live, there warn't a gal in the room that hadn't her back sticking out jest the same way. Such a set of humpbacked critters I never did put my eyes on, and yit they all stood about a smiling and a talking to the fellers as if nothing ailed them, poor things! As for the men, I thought that I should have haw-hawed right out a larfin to see some of 'em; there was one chap talking to Miss Beebe with his hair parted from the top of his head down each side of his face, and it hung down behind all over his coat collar like a young gal's just before she begins to wear a comb; and there was two bunches of hair stuck out on his upper lip right under his nose, like a cat's whiskers when she begins to get her back up. Every time he spoke, the hair riz up end moved about till it was enough to make a feller crawl all over to look at him. Think, sez I, if it wouldn't be fun to see that varmint try to eat. If he didn't get his victuals tangled up in that bunch of hair he must know how to aim all-fired straight with his knife and fork.

Dr. Hugh, Bishop of Worcester, had a weather-glass which cost thirty guineas. His servant was ordered to bring it into the room, to show it to some company, who, in handing it to his lordship, let it fall, and it into pieces. The good old man desired they would not be uneasy at the accident. "I think," said he, "it is a lucky omen: we have had a long dry season; now I hope we shall have rain, for I don't remember ever to have seen the glass so low before."
