We shall return to this subject.— In the meantime, the following warning, from the Kingston News, is deserving the attention of the different Branches;

Let our contemporary of Toronto beware of this elective scheme—the first in the programme of Annexation. If he looks gramme of Annexation. If he looks around him a little, he will see the prospectus drawn out in this form:

Elective Council; Elective Governor: Elective Magistrates; Household, or Universal Suffrage;

Universal Suffrage;
Independence—for a day;
Annexation!
We fear not the open and manly attacks of the Annexationists, for these are already becoming "small by degrees, and beautifully less;" but we do fear for the peace and the prosperity of the country, if the spacious demagoguism which has lately been exhibited in quarters where its rely been exhibited in quarters where its pre-sence might have been least expect d, is nipped in the bud, and the energies of the people seriously devoted to questions bearing upon their material progress.

From the Pilot.

In our last we gave insertion to the Cir. cular Letter of dismissal to those Justices of the Peace who have identified them selves with the Annexation movement.— As a fair specimen of the kind of defence that these gentlemen set up for their misconduct, we subjoin the following detter of reply from Mr. Holmes to the Secretary of the Province. We scarcely think this morceau, which may fairly be ranked athe Province. We sairly be ranked a morecau, which may fairly be ranked a morecau, which may fairly be ranked a morecau, which may fairly be ranked as mongst the memorabilia connected with the ignation, will tend to elevate the real soning powers of our honorable Member in the opinions of his constituents; but it is the opinions of his constituents; but it is the opinions of his peace in Herald's Country to seek the welfare of our own collection of "the most extraordinary documents of the age."

Believing that a continuation of Colonial dependence is inconsistent with the well being of Canada, more especially under the wise and beneficial changes recently adopted by the Statesmen of England, for the advantage of the people of the United King dom, which cannot and will not be changed even to conciliate or encourage the Colonists of British North America, I have no excuse to offer, nor any regret to express for my lawing signed the Address to the People of Canada. Its representations I believe to be true; its objects I believe necessary for the welfare of the country; but I deeply regret to find that a full and free discussion of political questions, even though they may involve the inlimate severment of the 2 onnection of this Colony from the Parent State, is denied, and to be suppressed and punnished by the Provincial Ecca.

tinies of this Colony, a course which mast, of all others, tend to the more speedy acquiescence by the people of Canada, in the views, opinions and recommendations set forth in the Address. In conclusion, I beg to remind you that my name was inserted some nine years past in a commission for the construction and management of the Turnpike Roads leading from and into the City of Montreal. The duties of Chairman to that Trust has absorb ed no little portion of my time up to the date of the completion of the work, and ome trouble and anxiety since. Of course it would be improper in me any longer to hold an appointment of much more importance than a Justice of the Peace, and I therefore beg leave most respectfully to re-that happy to announce that they have completed arrangements with Mesers. Chambers, of Edinburgh, for the re-publication, in semimonthly rumbers, of Chambers Miscellant.

The design of the Miscellant is to supply the increasing demand for useful, instructive, and entertaining reading, and to bring all the side of literature to bear on the cultivation of the feelings of the people—to impress correct views on important moral and social questions—suppress every species of strife and savagery—cheer the lagging and desponding, by the relation of tales drawn from the imaginations of popular writers
