The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

I recently went into the home of a young girl I have always rather admired to spend a few days. I came away, I am sorry to say, with an admiration sadly diminished.

And not because of anything she said or did, either.

It was just her mother's attitude towards her that opened my eyes.

For the little mother was altogether too anxious to please her daughter.

It was—

"I hope, dear, you won't mind our having lamb for dinner to-morrow. I know we had it last Sunday but there are so few meats your father can eat that it really seemed the only thing."

Or—

"I didn't change my waist this afternoon. I was so tired. You don't mind, do you, dear?"

Or—

"I am awfully sorry, dear, but the laundry didn't come. Would you like to have me press out one of those waists in your wardrobe for you?"

If she made any statement that Grace didn't agree with she was apt to change it with suspicious alacrity.

Grace's attitude towards the family during my stay was perfect. She was deference itself towards the little mother.

But you can't teach a dog you've kicked not to cringe simply by ceasing that kicking for a few days.

There is just one thing that alacrity to please, like that little mother's, spells—and spells so plainly that an A B C student in the lore of character reading couldn't misunderstand it—and that is that the person towards whom this attitude is assumed, is disposed to be a pretty exacting and hard-to-get-along-with person.

Does your mother ever treat you even the least bit in that way?

If she does it's time to do some thinking.

Want to know how to lay up a store of happiness for a future date? Well, it's quite easy.

When you are picking up those winter garments and preparing to put them in the chest for their summer vacation, suppose instead of saying, "I'll leave that cleaning and mending and sewing on of buttons until fall" you "do it now?"

Dirt that has been left in a garment for some time is just about twice as hard to remove.

And next November when you go to that chest and take out your winter things, it's going to be just like having money left you to find some garments all clean and whole and properly supplied with buttons—in fact, all ready to pass an iron over and put on.

Of course that seems like a bother when you have all that summer sewing to do.

But the wise people in this world are those who can appreciate a future blessing enough to make a present sacrifice to obtain it.

"I have done one better thing Than all the worthies did, And yet a better thence doth spring Which is, to keep that hid."

—John Donne.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

R.V. Pierce, M.D.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Fads and Fashions.

Hand embroidery, in combination with cluny lace, will give a note of distinction to many a smart tailored linen suit this summer.

A handsome wood button in green and tan colorings in which is a bronze dragon or reptilian design, is among the buttons shown.

Linens so closely resembling the time-tasted whipcords that they are deceptive at first glance, are admirably suited to tailor made suits.

The natural rough-woven Shantung and Tussah will be worn this spring; long travelling coats of this material will be especially smart.

Silk crepes with most stunning borders are among the new dress stuffs; of these borders with bird or floral designs are the most stylish and unusual.

The long hip effect is present in the spring models almost without exception. In fact, this seems to be the feature up-to-date corset design.

Some of the new parasols are of a solid color, veiled with a net embroidered in a thread the same color of the silk or contrasting strongly with it.

Most of the new wraps and hats show a hint of shining metal somewhere about it in clasps or buttons or buckles or beautiful metallic braids or bands.

Lovely is a new scarf of gold and silver wrought tulle, entirely covered with sheerest black mousseline de soie. A softly plaited silk ruche trims all the edges.

It is difficult to say what will be the greatest favorite the coming summer:—foulard or pongee. Both foulards and pongees are shown in many attractive varieties.

There are indications from Paris of a lowering of the bust line. Many of the higher priced domestic models are showing the same trend, and there seems to be a tendency in this direction.

One of the new shower proof foulards is most suggestive in its design of the present rage for chanticler effects. The curious swirls of color cannot but bring to mind the plumage of the rooster.

The only thing in the way of lining in costumes of drap de sole, cashmere de sole, liberty satin, etc., is the lining of liberty satin or meteor. Linging must be as soft and lou as they can be clinging.

Many of the bandeaux, whether of metal tissue or of velvet, are fastened with a jewel buckle. In addition some such ornament as a sheaf of wheat, a dull ora dainty feather is fastened with the buckle.

There is a note of the barbaric in some of the high novelties and buttons to be worn on the new Russian suits. Beautifully carved wood and artistically developed metals, in hundreds of combinations, make up the "barbaric" lines.

Clarence J. Brown, an American lawyer, recently argued a case before Chief Falconbridge, at Toronto. The question at issue was the construction of a will, and the Chief Justice allowed the Yankee to present his case, as a "friend of the court." No one but an Ontario lawyer has the right to aigue in Ontario Courts.

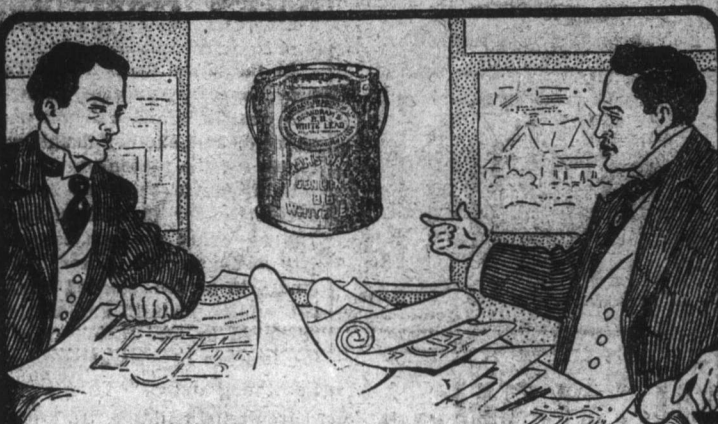

Childrens Chest Troubles.

Nurse Carrington Says Her Long Experience Proves the Safest Remedy is to RUB ON NERVILINE !

Every mother knows how difficult it is to get a child to take a cough mixture. Seldom will one help unless given in large doses, and the result is to completely upset the stomach and make the child sick.

Speaking of the promptest cure for chest troubles and children's colds, Nurse Carrington says: "In all my experience in nursing I haven't met any preparation so dependable as Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment. Every drop you rub on is absorbed quickly, sinks through the pores to the congested muscles, eases, relieves, and cures quickly. Especially for chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache, toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating minor ills of children Nerviline has no equal. I think Nerviline should be in every home."

A million bottles of Nerviline used every year—this is itself a burden of proof that it is the ideal liniment for the home. Refuse anything your dealer may offer instead of Nerviline. Large bottles 25c., five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, and by the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.
